Treasurer William Shaw of the Unitd Societies of Christian Enedavor, at ston, Mass., conducted a series of etings yesterday, in the East Side aptist church. The first meeting was mrise prayer meeting, which was well ended; and at 10 o'clock the visitor oke on "First Things First." Ho led attention to the importance of beginning a Christian life early and entinuing in the work without cessacontinuing in the work without cessa-tion. He said, Seek first the kingdom of God, and other things necessary to the spiritnal happiness will then be added, while peace and happiness will be denied those who do not heed the command. The true Christian is the appy man in life, ever ready, and pre-ared for death.

FUTURE IS BRIGHT.

"Twenty-five years ago it was not nsidered that Christian Endeavor had y possibilities. Twenty years ago up religious leaders said that the ety was a fad, and ten years would viege to rehearse the history of the set of the provided to the history of the privilege to rehearse the history of the past twenty-five years, with its ever-esthening chain of societies, now hav-ing nearly 63,000 links, girdling the globe, and binding nearly four million globe, and binding nearly four million poung people with its golden chain of restimony, prayer and service, to the terme of God. Christian Endeavor there are made. During the past time of God. Christian Endeavor iss born, not made. During the past menty-five years the attitude of the durches toward the children has been revelationized and the fellowship of the Christians of different denominations revelationized and the result denominations (Aristians of different denominations has been made a real and vital thing. Christian Endeavor has had no small part in securing these results; but I am here not to look at the past, but at the future. Christian endeavor is not like some families of whom John B. Gough said, they were like a hill of potatoes, the best part of them being under the ground. The best days of Christian Endeavor are in the future. "It is among the Christian Endeavor possibilities that every church will some day appreciate the supreme im-portance of training the children in religious life and service. Christian is the day appreciate the software in portance of training the children in religious life and service. Christian Endeavor makes possible this training sing scientific and common-sense hes. All through the centuries the durches have been facing the problem of how to do the work committed to the testimony of pastors has been prac-rially unanimous that the work of the barche is done by about ten per cent of the membership. The only way to correct this condition is to begin with the children. Without a primary and mamar school there can be no high shoel, college or university; without the appendice there can be no master workman without the training school in the darch there can be no workmen that medath to be ashamed.' The BEDROCK PRINCIPLE.

"It is among the Christian Endeavor ing of the young people in all the world, through all the coming years, so that the vision of these possibilities shall become to all our young people spien-did realities." There was a large attendance in the evening, when Dr. Shaw spoke on the work of the Holy Spirit, in which he emphasized the necessity of prayer in the home, and the Christ life in the family circle. The speaker left by the night train for Pocatello.

MISS EMMA LUCY GATES.

ONIGHT, Miss Gates' friends and in the world as she has done. "The sev eral years training she has had both at New York and in Europe, has been admirers will have a final opportunity to hear her in a recital almost entirely obtained through he of her own before she leaves for wn efforts. Her appearance in concer nd opera at home during the summe Europe. The tabernacle has been chosand fall have brought her the means with which to pursue her studies during en as the place for the entertainmnt. as the young singer always feels that the winter, and her efforts are now be-ing centered on obtaining the funds for a last season under teachers both here she can do her best in the grand auditorium, and especially because she de and in Europe, with a view to making her debut abroad in the spring. She has ever "hitched her chariot to the sires the organ accompaniment to her rendering of the immortal "Angels Ever tars" and has again and again de-lined offers to enter the profession as Bright and Fair." She will give other songs to plano accompaniment, Prof. clined offers to enter the profession as a singer in light opera, though delight-ing in that work at home for the stage experience it gave. She received an of-fer of $200 a week from Savage to go on the road, and it was only the last few weeks during the production of "The Wedding Day" that a traveling meaneer sent hor offer of a New McClellan presiding at both instruments, and will besides be aided by the full choir of 400 voices under Prof. Stephens, which will render one number and by Mr. Ensign, baritone, who will York engagement if she would go into comic opera. All her study, however has been with eye single to operatic work on the higher plane, and she has sing two songs, and also give the famous duet from "Rigoletto" with Miss Gates. This will be the first time these two rare voices have been heard in conwork on the higher plane, and she has perfected and is perfecting herself in such roles as Mimi in "LaBoheme," (Blda in "Rigoletto," "Martha," "La Traviata," and Marguerite in "Faust." The best authorities who have listened to her assure her that she will be able to compete successfully with the sing-ers now before the public in these es-necial roles Emma Lucy Gates is the sort of home artist whom home people should take a pride in supporting. It is rarely indeed that we see an instance of a young girl possessed of both talent and pluck sufficient to enable her to win her way | pecial roles.
