BRIGHAM CITY.

Immense Fruit Crop and How it is Handled—Local Improvements.

Special Correspondence.

Brigham City, Boxelder County, Sept. 21.—Beautiful Brigham City is in the height of its immense fruit crop, and it is so abundant that many tons are lost to waste. Peaches, pears, plums, apples and all kinds of fruit are being shipped by train loads. Main street is lined with the wagons of fruit vendors from all parts, who come to buy fruit and then carry it off to the Snake River and the more make good wages, as they ask and get fancy prices from the grangers who cannot raise fruit in these high altitudes.

Hon. A. H. Snow, son of President Snow, has a large orchard of thirty-five acres, one of the finest thirty-five people picking and packing fruit daily. Mr. Snow has shipped five car loads of beautiful peaches and is now putting and shipping 1,000 cases daily. His Hungarian prunes are of the finest quality, and his immense crop is being dried on an evaporator.

Knudsen, Horsley & Sons, and R. L. Plathurst & Sons are also heavy shippers of all kinds of fruit, and the whole town has one sweet odor of fruit.

Many nice improvements are being made in the town. The city fathers have erected on the square east of the public library one of the finest music stands in the State of Utah; besides being substantial, it is a gem of the carpenter and painter's art.

A. W. Compton, photographer, has removed his kind building on Main street, and is erecting one of the handsomest business blocks in Brigham City. It is built of brick with massive stone and iron pillars and zinc facings. The stone pillars support a balcony which is the main entrance weighs nearly three tons. This beautiful stone work is from John H. Bott & Sons, stone and marble workers of this city.

The contributors to the Deseret News in this city are all watching that 20,000 mark, and the energetic agent, Mr. John H. Horsley, is increasing its number every week.

CAMPAGNS ON IN EARNST NOW

British Parliament Certain to be Heavily for the Conservatives.

BIG CHAMBERLAIN SCANDAL

Complaints at Britain's Baggage System—Profits by Death—A Bachelor Worried.

London, Sept. 22.—(Special London cable letter, Copyright, 1930, by the Associated Press).—The political campaign has commenced in earnest. Only another week remains before the polling begins and it will be only a little over five weeks before the new parliament assembles. That it will be a conservative body is a foregone conclusion. Mr. Herbert Gladstone admits that it is quite impossible for the liberals to win over the 160 seats necessary to give them a victory.

Thus from the outset the election loses its interest, practically resolving itself into an opportunity for politicians on both sides to air their views and to discuss the momentous issues of the last year, untroubled by the conventionalities of St. Stephens.

This outbreak of oratory, judged from the initial stage, promises to develop no new startling facts. The conservatives confine their energies to a defense of the status quo, and the liberals attempt to ignore it, concentrating their attacks upon the failure of the conservatives to fulfill their promises of beneficial home legislation.

LIBERALS DIVIDED.

Though this is officially the liberals' main plank, the division of their ranks over the war is so great that it is quite impossible to keep all the candidates in line. Thus, while Sir Edward Grey and the Right Hon. H. R. Asquith and others are telling the voters that it is useless to discuss the war, and that the annexation of the Boer republics as the only logical outcome, Mr. Morley and other well known members of the party are telling them that the war was unnecessary and that the republics should be given independence.

PRACTICAL DISFRANCHISEMENT.

One one point, however, the liberals all unite and that point is the unfairness of Lord Salisbury in bringing about a dissolution at the present moment when the register of 1885 is expiring, so that thus all who were not registered over two years ago are disfranchised.

The new register comes into force in February. Thousands are affected, and the liberals maintain that Lord Salisbury's action is not only without precedent, but is unconstitutional.

On the other hand the conservatives claim that Lord Salisbury acted fairly, as he had waited until after February, he would have the undoubted advantage of the vote of soldiers returning from South Africa.

BUSINESS MEN FURIOUS.

In their wrath that the election was precipitated with so little warning the liberals are not alone. Business men regardless of party, are furious over the disintegration of trade which always accompanies election contests.

Businessmen are not alone. The new register comes into force in February. Thousands are affected, and the liberals maintain that Lord Salisbury's action is not only without precedent, but is unconstitutional.

On the other hand the conservatives claim that Lord Salisbury acted fairly, as he had waited until after February, he would have the undoubted advantage of the vote of soldiers returning from South Africa.

HOME RULE AT REST.

The question of home rule, except in Ireland, is scarcely mentioned. Mr. Herbert Gladstone, who represents West Leeds, advises his constituents to let the matter rest; but the earl of Sandwich, who represents the county of Lincoln, is not so ready to let the matter rest, and is denouncing his adherence to the government and returning to the ranks of the liberals, because "home rule" is dead.

CHAMBERLAIN'S MONEY MAKING.

A miniature bomb has been thrown into the conservative camp by the liberal Morning Leader, which publishes a lengthy story showing that the wife, son and daughter of the late general Chamberlain hold almost all the shares of the firm of Hoskins Sons, contractors to the admiralty. Among the sons holding large amounts of the stock is Mr. J. A. Chamberlain, the late general's son who is a civil lord of the admiralty.

To put a worse complexion on the matter it is pointed out that there are no Hoskins now connected with the business, which is practically a family concern, and apparently prosperous. The only answer so far vouchsafed to the accusations is a letter from Mr. Chamberlain's secretary saying the minister is not disposed to "notice the cowardly insinuation contained in an indirect charge."

Rumors assign the war ministry to Mr. Chamberlain's next cabinet, the supposition being that the marquis of Lansdowne will retire and also that Mr. Chamberlain will then have Lord Roberts as commander-in-chief and Lord Kitchener as adjutant general. Earl Halsbury, the Lord High Chancellor, Earl Cadogan, the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, Viscount Cross, the lord of the privy seal, and Mr. William Court, the speaker of the house of commons, are all said to be likely to retire.

BRITAIN'S BAGGAGE SYSTEM.

The controversy on the relative merits of the British and American baggage systems has been revived by the complaints of trans-Atlantic visitors who have lost trunks in England. These in turn have called forth protests against the adoption of the check system. An Englishman who has visited America writes to the Pall Mall Gazette giving details of the trouble which he experienced through the loss of his checks, the delay and the alleged impossibility of obtaining compensation, declaring the Americans tolerate any system, however complicated, so long as it has the appearance of being businesslike. Most of the detractors of the check system miss a point by devoting their arguments against the delay in delivering baggage after its arrival. It is possible that the correspondence may accelerate the adoption of some form of American system, for partly through ignorance and partly through the defects of the English system, no end of trouble and expense is undergone by the thousands who yearly cross the Atlantic through loss of baggage.

Another American innovation will shortly appear in London in the shape of 250 laundries run by American employees and with American machinery.

DEAD AND LIVING.

How greatly the British government profits by death can be judged by the returns of the estate duties for 1899-1900, just issued. They show that nearly $14,000,000 were added to the exchequer from this cause. The total sum bequeathed by 25,433 persons amounted to over $292,000,000, or half the national debt. Twelve million accounts paid tolls to the amount of $12,000,000.

Lord Lansdowne is ailing a curious ailment. The advertisement columns recently contained the announcement of the birth of a child to Countess Lansdowne. As Lord Lansdowne is a bachelor, the child was born in 1898 and was home secretary from 1898 to 1902. Yesterday he appeared at police headquarters attired in overalls and jumper, his hands calloused from hard work, and asked to have his wife comforted with and sold of his child. He complained of nothing since the Fourth of July, which he spent in New York, until he suddenly realized while strolling along the streets of New York that he was in a strange city. He attributes his lapse of excessive use of patent bitters prescribed by a physician as a tonic.
