COUNTY WATER COMMISSIONERS.

County Board Has About Concluded Not to Appoint Them—Of Little Value.

WATER TROUBLES SOLUTION.

Can be Effected Only by the Building of Reservoirs to Store Flood Waters.

Ogden, Jan. 24.—The board of county commissioners, through its chairman, Joseph Stanford, has sent a lengthy communication to State Engineer Tanner, in reply to his suggestion respecting the appointment of water commissioners and defining their duties under the new law. The letter to Mr. Tanner states that as "the waterusers in Weber county have been led in their exaltations that but little or no benefits have been derived from the services of these water commissioners, the board of county commissioners has about concluded to make no appointments for the year 1906. The commissioners incline to the opinion that they do not legally possess the right or power to spend public funds—the taxpayers' money—in purchasing and placing the weirs referred to by the state engineer in the water streams, canals, etc., or to pay for the time necessary which said water commissioners are advised to spend to acquire information for records.

"Many laws have been enacted by the Legislature to aid in the solution of this vexatious irrigation question. In the judgment of the board, shared in largely by the public, the only solution of the water problem is to store the

PAISLEY WENT BACK TO BUTTE.

His Attorneys Quickly Give up the Fight When They Learn of Money Being Gone.

WIFE THINKS HIM INNOCENT.

Says She Was Married to Him in Salt Lake and That He Can Account For Getting Cough.

The requisition papers in the case of William Paisley, the alleged Butte hold-up, have been honored by Gov. Cutler, and Detective McGarvey and his prisoner will reach Butte tonight.

The smooth trick played by the detectives and Chief of Police Sheets, in sending the $1,182 back to Butte, changed entirely the complexion of the case in so far as the defense was concerned.

Attorneys Weber, McGurkin & Newton were extremely anxious about the case, and were determined to fight the matter to the bitter end, but they were also determined to get hold of the money. Newton stated to the "News" that they had an order for the money from Paisley. Then Newton made a statement that assures for him a great reputation as a jokester.

Said he: "Of course we don't want the money. All we want to do is to get possession of it, and then turn it over to Paisley's wife. She needs the money." Then Newton laughed. But the joke was even too much for him and he was forced to give vent to his feelings by a hearty laugh that was joined in by all who heard his exuberantly funny statement.

But the fact is that when the attorneys learned that the money had been shipped to Butte they were not nearly so anxious to defend the man as before.

Mrs. Paisley, wife of the suspected man, declares her firm belief in the innocence of her husband. She says that he left the house about three months before we went to Montana.

While Mrs. Paisley stated she was not prepared now to state where her husband had gone, she was certain that he could prove he did not steal it. She further stated that she could prove where Paisley was on the night of the hold-up. She admitted that he left the house at 6 o'clock in the evening, and says he went to talk to the superintendent of a mine with reference to securing a position.

"If people he met on his way home, he can prove where he was on the exact time of the robbery," said the woman.

Paisley is a printer by trade, but has led a rather wild career. He was sentenced to two terms in the Cannon city prison for robbery. The first sentence was for from 7 to 10 years, and the second for 14 years. In view of the fact that he is not yet 30 years old, it is quite certain that he secured a pardon from the prison.

According to the Butte papers, the officials of that city are firm in the belief that McGarvey has captured the right man. They do not say that the case against him is complete, but that they are confident of making a strong case and of securing his conviction.

If he is convicted a reward of $5,000 will be forthcoming. If paid the McGarvey will be cut up between McGarvey and Detectives Burt and Chase.

DR. HUNTINGTON HAS NO USE FOR BIGELOW.

New York, Jan. 24.—A dispatch to the Herald from Boston quotes Dr. Huntington, president of Boston university in comment upon the action ofPOSIT-ive Bigelow whose resignation it was special lecturer on international law at the university has been sent to Dean Bigelow now at Ann Arbor, Mich. The dispatch says:

"Dr. Huntington said last night: 'I had not been informed of the formal resignation but I knew that it was coming. I received a letter from Dean Bigelow within the week in which he implied that he was exasperated with Mr. Bigelow's indiscretions and eccentricities, and that he would resign to him that he better resign. I hardly agree with the dean. Mr. Bigelow has done and said eccentric things long enough. He called himself a professor of Boston university when, as a matter of fact, he was not. He was merely a lecturer. His habit of making wild statements and then bringing the name of the university into the question is displeasing to say the least. It is better for the university and all concerned that Mr. Bigelow's resignation be accepted.'

PROF. BOLTWOOD DEAD.

Chicago, Jan. 24.—Henry L. Boltwood, principal of the Evanston township high school, died suddenly of heart disease at the Evanston city hospital yesterday.

When the civil war broke out he entered the service of the United States sanitary commission where he remained until the close of the war. Prof. Boltwood was widely known as the author of a new system of orthography, and his advanced spelling book is used in many of the western high schools.

This book introduced spelling as an exact science, and under what has become known as "The Boltwood system."

COLLISION ON SANTA FE.

Fourteen Persons Injured But Almost Miraculously None Were Killed.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 24.—Fourteen persons were slightly injured in the collision yesterday at Glendora between the Santa Fe limited westbound train and a local train. All the injured were passengers on the local. The limited train was in motion when the crash came. The conductor of the local saw the limited coming down the grade as his own train stood at the depot. Recognizing the certainty of a collision he gave his engineer the signal to go ahead and the train pulled into the path of the limited. The collision was a head-on one, and the result was a terrible crash. The limited train was thrown off its track and the local train was derailed. Fourteen persons were injured, but miraculously none were killed.
