WASHINGTON.

Census of New York to be retaken.

WASHINGTON, 30.—An executive order was received yesterday, at the department of the interior, to retake the census of the city of New York. The re-enumeration will only extend to a count of the population, and only such particulars as are necessary to the verification of the work, which will begin immediately after the election of next week, to be pushed to a conclusion within a few days.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Boston, 31.—A fire at one o'clock this morning destroyed the livery stable of R. C. Merg, Nashua St., with twenty-five horses, and a number of carriages. Several adjoining buildings, variously occupied, were also burned, and at one time the Boston theatre and the Adams House were in great danger.

FLORIDA.

Terrific hurricane.

LAKE CITY, 31.—Advice from Candelaria, says the loss of life in that city by the hurricane is quite small, but the destruction of property very great, all the warehouses have been destroyed, and the majority of the vessels in port, at the time, were damaged and wrecked. The loss will reach a million dollars, as far as known.

LOUISIANA.

New Orleans, 31.—J. S. Hyland's office and home, 130 Camp St., burned. Loss, $35,000.

A. B. Long, District Attorney, was found dead in his office this morning, with his throat cut; supposed suicide.

NEW YORK.

A terrible gale.

BUFFALO.—A terrible gale has prevailed here since last night. The water of the lake is higher than at any time this season. Two tugs foundered just outside the harbor. The crews were saved. A schooner is ashore near Windmill Point; the crew can be seen clinging to the rigging. A life boat has gone to their relief.

FOREIGN NEWS.

FRANCE.

A proclamation from the Provisional government.

CHAMONT, 20.—A balloon which left Paris this morning landed here today in safety. It brings good news from Paris. The messengers leave for Tours with their dispatches.

AMIENS, 31.—Gen Bonaparte arrived here yesterday, and was greeted with great enthusiasm. He intimates his intention to form flying armies with material to be taken from the captured places, and will take the field at the head of the force. Vigorous preparations for defense are being made on all sides.

TOURS, 30.—A government council was held last night, and lasted until a late hour. The following proclamation was issued this morning: "The French Republic, liberty, equality, fraternity; proclamation to France; Frenchmen, raise your spirits and feel resolution to the fearful height of the perils which have come on the country. It still depends on us to mount above misfortune and show to the world how great a people may be who are resolved not to perish, and whose courage in the midst of calamity, Metz has capitulated. A general upon whom France counted, even after Metz, has just taken away from the country in its danger more than a hundred thousand of its defenders. Marshal Bazaine has betrayed us. He has made himself the agent of the Man of Sedan, and the accomplice of the invaders; and regardless of the honor of the army of which he had charge, he has surrendered, without even making a last effort, a hundred and twenty thousand fighting men, and twenty thousand wounded, guns, cannon, colors and the strongest citadel of France, Metz, virgin but for him to the contamination of this traitor. Such a crime is above even the punishment of justice. Meanwhile, Frenchmen, measure the depths of the abyss in which the Empire has precipitated you. For twenty years France submitted to this corrupting power, which extinguished in their springs the greatness of life. The army of France, stripped of its national character, remains without knowing it, an instrument of tyranny, and swallowed up, in spite of the heroism of the soldiers, by the treason of their chiefs, in the disasters of the country. In less than two months two hundred and fifty thousand men have been delivered over to the enemy since the sequel of the coup de main of September 4th. The time for us to reassess ourselves, citizens, under the Republic which we have determined not to allow to capitulate within or without, to seek in the extremity even of our misfortune the renovation of our politics, sociality and manhood. However tried by disaster, let us not be found panic-stricken nor demoralized. Let it be seen that we are ready for the last sacrifice; and in the face of enemies whom everything favors, let us swear never to give up as long as there remains an inch of sacred soil under the soles of our feet. Let us hold firmly the glorious banner of the French Revolution. Our cause is that of justice and of right. Europe sees it; Europe feels it; in the presence of so many unmerited misfortunes, spontaneously, receiving from us neither invitation nor encouragement, she is moved and she begins to act. No illusion is now left us longer let us languish and grovel, but let us prove by our acts that we can ourselves maintain liberty, independence and integrity—all that makes a country proud and free. Long live the Republic! Signed, Cremer, Luxemburg, 31.—A detachment of 6,000 troops, from the army of Prince Frederick Charles, has gone to Belgium Longwy, near the Belgian border.

MEXICO. Fire. GALVESTON, 30.—A fire at Calvert, Texas, last night, destroyed twenty-five buildings and a hundred bales of cotton. The principal merchants are the sufferers.

BELGIUM. LUXEMBOURG, 31.—A detachment of 6,000 troops, from the army of Prince Frederick Charles, has gone to Belgium Longwy, near the Belgian border.

VERSAILLES.—Invitations have been sent to the rulers of the various States of South Germany, to come forward to witness the bombardment of Paris.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Granville wants fair play—Hard times in Paris—More of the late capitulation.

LONDON, 30.—Lord Granville, in a note to Bernstorff, the Prussian minister, reaffirms the fairness of British neutrality, refers to the course of the United States in the present war, and asks why reproaches are sent here and home to America.

News from Paris, received by way of the Prussian headquarters before that city, is quite serious. French prisoners recently captured, report that the troops behind the fortifications receive only a half pound of meat twice a week. Many of the French women and children from Paris approach the Prussian lines and though they are warned they will be shot if they attempt to come nearer, they rather court instant death than starvation in the city. The rule to exclude all strangers from Paris and to prevent the escape of citizens is rigidly enforced.

Four thousand French officers, taken prisoners at Metz, have asked permission of the Prussian military authorities, through Prince Frederick Charles, to keep their swords.

A special correspondent at Metz telegraphs to-day as follows: My telegram of the 26th left the capitulation unfinished. On the evening before the German chief of staff had left France, very much discouraged, scarcely hoping for any agreement, as the French appeared intractable and obstinate. Nevertheless I knew from private sources that Metz could not hold out. At noon Bazaine sent Prince Frederick Charles an autograph letter, asking another conference; and, accordingly, the Germans sent General Sticker, Chief of staff of the second army, and Count Wartenberg, Chief of Staff of the first army, to Frascotte once more. The interview lasted three hours. It was stormy at first on the part of the French commanders, but resulted in their conversion to the main points of the German terms. The first difficulty was concerning the officers keeping their side arms, on which Bazaine insisted. The point was finally referred to the King and conceded by him, in a dispatch received at 3 o'clock on the 27th. By agreement the conference was resumed early the next morning, and lasted till 3 o'clock in the evening, when the capitulation was signed for the absolute surrender of Metz and all the fortifications, stores and munitions, the same as the surrender of Sedan. On the 28th, Major Landwehr, Chief of Engineers of the second corps, was to enter by stipulation, at 2 o'clock to withdraw the mine from under the forts, preparatory to the safe entry of the corps, which will remain to guard the city and prisoners, while the remainder of the first army departs immediately for Paris and the south with Prince Frederick Charles. At 3 o'clock the French army was to lay down their arms. All this has been postponed 24 hours, in consequence of the unreasonableness of the French authorities, owing to internal disorder. At 10 o'clock the 29th, the forts were taken possession of by the artillery of the 5th army corps. At 2 o'clock the guard imperial marched out of Metz with their arms, which they deposited, passing in review before the Prince. This honor was accorded them. At one, the rest, having deposited their arms in the Metz arsenals, marched to their cantonment outside the town, there to await transportation. The guards imperial, were received by the Prussian troops with respectful dignity, not a jeering syllable was heard, nor an excited look seen. At four in the afternoon the French companies were still mooting guard at the various gates of the city and at the depots and arsenals. They were relieved by ten regiments of Prussian infantry and one of cavalry. Having entered the town, the appointed military governor, Gen. Von Zastrow, commander of the army corps, took possession of the government of the city and fortress, where he told me he expects to find a traitor of one of his ancestors, who was at some early period also a military governor of Metz. The tragedy was complete, but its saddest side still remains to be reviewed. According to the statement of General Von Zastrow, who held the Bois de Vaux on the morning of the 19th August, Bazaine could then have avoided being enclosed in Metz. He could after he was there, according to the Metz statement, have readily made a sortie and regained McMahon, could even have joined him after most of his cavalry and artillery horses had been eaten, when it of course, was more difficult still. His movements are said to have lacked determination, and even to have been frivolous in the last two sorties. This is charged to a plot in behalf of the regency, according to which this army was to try and remain in statu quo until the conclusion of the war in western France, and then to become available with Prussian consent for the Bonapartist purposes. Bazaine himself in that case was to be virtual Regent. Nearly all Metz seems to believe this; their most influential people have avowed such belief to me.
