

MUCH INTEREST IN NEXT FIGHT.

Young Corbett and Eddie Hanlon Will Draw a Big House.

WILL BE A TOUGH BATTLE.

Champion Knows He is Going Up Against a Tough Proposition —Coast Boy is Confident.

A dispatch from San Francisco says: Now that the echoes of the Pittsborough-Gardner mill are fast dying away, the local sporting men are turning their attention to the forthcoming championship battle between Young Corbett and Eddie Hanlon, which is scheduled to take place in this city on Dec. 28.

Few fights have ever been pulled off on the coast that have given promise of such an interesting battle as the one between these rival featherweights.

The mill will bring together, without a doubt, two of the greatest little men in their class, and the question as to which one is the best will go unanswered until the little demons of the squared circle have fought it out.

It is a fight in which the Californians are particularly interested, as Hanlon is a product of the Golden West, and he has followers by the score, who look for him to down the champion. This section has produced previous champions, and it is the hope of the local sports that Hanlon will come out the winner.

While the followers of the game are doing considerable speculation regarding the outcome of the contest, the little fighters are working away in their respective camps getting themselves in shape for the fray that will mean so much to the winner.

Hanlon, always in good condition, is working harder than he has ever worked before. He realizes that he has the chance of his career before him, and he will make the hardest fight of his life.
Hanlon believes that he knows Corbett's style, and he is practicing the champion's movements at the camp every afternoon. Hanlon should know something about Corbett's tactics. He has already fought him twenty rounds to a draw. At that time Hanlon was little known and he was satisfied with staying the limit.

"When I fought Corbett last winter," said Hanlon today, "I heard he was such a great fighter that I was taking no chances. I fought a cautious battle. But it will be different this time. I have learned a few things since that fight. I have improved my style, and when I face Corbett he will find an even harder game than he was up against last winter.

Corbett is having the trouble in getting into condition, although he still has several pounds of weight to take off. Still he has plenty of time to get into condition, although he still has sev-
dition, although he still has several pounds of weight to take off.

DO IT SO POLITELY.

Jack O'Brien Explains How He Asked

"We are growing so extremely polite in this boxing business," says Jack O'Brien, who was in Chicago the other day, "that nute. Last night, learning that Bob Fitzsimmons was in town, I went to see him, this: 'My dear Mr. Fitzsimmons, Pardon me if I intrude, but it has long been my desire to arrange a contest with you, either for the middleweight championship at

SOME LIVELY BASKETBALL.

Next Month the Season Opens With Inter-State League.

The basketball season for the Interstate league opens next month and before the championship of the state is decided, there will be some of the liveliest games ever seen in this part of the country. There will be some keen rivalry before the important question is asked as to it is an honor that each team will strive strenuously for. The league is composed of teams at Logan, Ogden, Salt Lake and Provo, and they will all be in good shape when the games begin.

For several years the U. S. S. U. team has had everything its own way, but from present indications the "Varsity" boys will have to go some this season to carry off the honors. That they will have a team equal in all respects to last year's team and to challenge them can be no doubt, but the other teams will work hard to get in proper form. It will be the task of the league to see that the prize will know that it has been playing some pretty fast basketball.

other advertised cough medicines we have School. I find it the most effective and absolutely harmless." Sold by Johnson-

Colored Parents' Real Problem.

New York, Dec. 11.—Booker T. Washington, in a speech here before the colored branch of the Y. M. C. A., declared the real problem for the colored parents in the north is not of getting his son and daughter educated, but of finding a job for them after they receive their diploma.

"If a white boy gets a place in an office and does his job and is assured advancement," said the speaker, "but the black boy has got to work twice as hard to get there. Any one black or white who has learned to do something better than his fellows, has solved his problem."
"In some parts of the country, fear we are getting the reputation of being willing to part with our votes for a price. We should let the world understand that the individual who offers to buy our votes insults the manhood of the race."

Like the Coastwise Laws.

Manila, Dec. 11.—The Philippine commission recommends that no interference take place with the coastwise laws until enough American vessels ask for some action thereon. The same recommendation is made in regard to the ocean carrying trade with the United States.

Says He Took No Illegal Fees.

Manila, Dec. 11.—Carl Johnson, vice consul at Amoy, charged with aiding the conspiracy to smuggle opium from China into the Philippines, disclaimed as merchants, denies that he has received any fees except those authorized by law to sign Chinese certificates. He also declares that he refused bribes.

Hemp from Alba Province.

Manila, Dec. 11.—The exports of hemp from the province of Alba during November last are said to be the greatest in the history of the district.

A Timely Topic.

At this season of coughs and colds it is well to know that Foley's Honey and Tar is the greatest throat and lung remedy. It cures quickly and prevents serious results from a cold. Sold by Johnson-Pratt

MONEY MADE THE PRIZE RING.

Present Day Pugs Are More Careful of Their Bank Accounts.

MANY WEALTHY BOXERS NOW.

Charley Mitchell is supposed to be the Richest, With Jeffries Next and Tommy Ryan Third.

That pugilism is a profitable profession for the successful boxer is shown by the fat bank accounts possessed by many of the great fighters of the present day. Not that boxing is more profitable now than it was years ago, but the modern fighters have apparently become wiser to the fact that it is necessary to put away one's earnings for a rainy day.

With this idea in view, many of the prominent pugilistic stars whose names are known the world over by their achievements in the ring have acquired small fortunes that will take care of them when they are no longer able to defend their laurels.

Unlike the fighters of years ago these savvy individuals. The spendthrift of the prize ring has gradually disappeared from among the ranks of the pugilists, and in their stead are individuals who are good business men as well as good fighters.

Probably no fighter who ever donned the mitts has won more money than the great John L. Sullivan. Still, the former heavyweight champion is penniless. Sullivan went through many fortunes and is estimated that he has squandered in the neighborhood of $1,000,000 in the past twenty years.

George Dixon was another one of the great fighters, and the famous little colored boxer is said to have won a fortune of $200,000. When he lost the championship Dixon was down and out, and he journeyed to the States and attempted to regain a part of his fortune.

Young Griffo went through all the money that he made from his battles in an incredible space of time. Jack McAuliffe, Kid Lavigne and others went the same way. Immediately after a winning battle they could be found in a nearby saloon throwing their money over the counter and creating all that were in sight.

Such fights as these are unknown among the prominent fighters now holding titles. Of those who are actively engaged in the profession today, probably James J. Jeffries, the present heavyweight champion of the world, is the wealthiest. The champion has made money fast during the last five years, and he has put it away in a safe place.
His fortune is estimated to be over $100, 000.

Jeffries is not a spending man, yet he is liberal with those who come in contact with him. He lives an enjoyable life, yet spends little money foolishly, and were he to lose the championship tomorrow he would be able to cause no worry.

Next to Jeffries former champion James J. Corbett is considered to possess a compensation. He has a handsome home at Bayside, L. I., where he and his wife live. Corbett has a fortune of $75,000.
Corbett owns a handsome home at Bayside, L. I., where he and his wife live.
Corbett has a fortune of $75,000.

Robert Fitzsimmons has gone through considerable money on the stage. His wealthy wife, Miss Corbett, leads a luxurious life; still, he is careful, and does not throw his money away.

Thomas Sharkey always has had the reputation of being close. No one has ever accused the sailor pugilist of throwing his money into the hands of holders. As a result, Sharkey owns a $50,000 cafe and has about $25,000 in bank.
Robert Fitzsimmons has gone through considerable money. Still, the former champion has a $25,000 home at Benson-hurst, and is estimated to have $25,000 in addition.

Terry McGovern can be figured among the money kings of the prize ring. The former featherweight champion has admitted that he is worth $20,000. McGovern lives in the city, and has a home in Brooklyn with his family, and in addition owns race horses and is interested in several other ventures. McGovern made his money fast, and, propping by the dowry of those who preceded him, he saved his money into the hands of his champion hip he was independent of the prize ring for a living.

Frank Erne, the former lightweight champion of the world, has been a "big money winner, and should not possess a cent less than $25,000.

champion, was always thrifty, and, save for his actual matches and little or no connection with the ring. He owns his own house in Buffalo, and is known to have considerable money in the bank.

The following figures show the estimated fortunes of today's prominent boxers. While Mitchell is not a leading pugilist in the fighting sense, he is supposed to be the most wealthy man in the profession.

| Charlie Mitchell | $250,000 |

ANTI-SLAVERY PROCLAMATION

Maj. Gen. Wood Issues One in Moroland.

Manila, Dec. 11.—Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood has issued a proclamation against slavery law, passed in October last by the legislative council of the Moro provinces.
Upon the promise of the Sultan and his nobles to abide with his conditions, Gen.
Wood has suggested to Gov. Taft the establishment of the rule of the Moro government, which will be assigned to them by the Sultan and dattos at a rate of valuation of the land. The latter have a moderate income from the rentals. He believes they will accept a proposition of the kind.

Fewer Outlaw Disturbances.

Manila, Dec. 11.—Disturbances from outlaws are dying out throughout the interior provinces and less lawlessness is reported than ever before.

ON THE BABY

Coffee Even the Babies Thrive On.

The little daughter of a College President was saved by the use of Postum Food Coffee at a time when she could not take any solid food.

Baby's aunt says: "My sister and her husband, who is President of a College in Georgia, visited me last Christmas and their little baby two months old was very sick. I thought it was properly nourished so I began feeding it on Postum which I have used in my own home for years with such grand results.

"You would be surprised to know how that little thing improved. Sister had been feeding it on artificial food that did not agree with it. The baby continued to get stronger all the time we were feeding her on Postum and when she was four months old she was a great feeder. She feels certain that with Postum to feed the baby on she is sure of good healthy nourishing food drink." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Postum is made of the purest cereals with absolutely no medication whatever and when boiled according to directions it is heavy with food value and a great nourisher and builder as well as a delicious drink. It is also a specific for all of the dozens of different diseases caused by coffee. Trial proves this.

14 East 129th St., New York City, Oct. 15, 1903.

Dear Sir:

"I had been suffering severely from kidney trouble. All symptoms were on hand; my former strength and power had left me; I could hardly drag myself along. Even my mental capacity was giving out, and often I wished to die.
It was then I saw an advertisement of your Swamp-Root in a New York paper, but would not have paid any attention to it, had it not promised a sworn guarantee with every bottle of your medicine, asserting that your Swamp-Root is purely vegetable, and does not contain any harmful drugs. I am seventy years and four months old, and with a good conscience I can recommend Swamp-Root to all sufferers from kidney troubles.
Four members of my family have been using Swamp-Root for four different kidney diseases, with the same good results."

With many thanks to you, I remain, Very truly yours,
ROBERT BERNER.
