A Riverdale Burglary-Robbed a Dead Man - John Boe Charged with Stealing a Check.

Late yesterday afternoon Officer Burke arrested a man who gave his name as Fred Meyers on the charge of attempted rape. The same man was arrested the day before on the charge of drunkenness, when he gave the name of George Douglas and forfeited his bail. Meyers, it is charged by Mrs. Engles, who resides at 2259 Adams avenue went to their home Thursday afternoor while she was attending to some busi-ness in town. He kuocked at the door and the little 11-year-old girl, who was left in the house to care for the baby, responded. He asked if her father or mother were at home, to which the lit-tle girl responded. No; he then opened the screen door and walked in the house. The little girl fearing that he would harm the baby followed him tawould harm the baby followed him in-to the bedroom, where he grabbed her and tore part of her clothing from her back in his endeavor to overpower her. She screamed loudly attracting the attention of a near neighbor, who quickly ran to the house, but the brutal assailant having been seen, he ran away. The police were called but were unable to locate him. Yesterday morning about 11 o'clock Meyers again appea Yesterday morning at ed at the Engles house, but quickly took his departure on finding the mother at home. The police again re-sponded, but could not find him. Mathew Gillis took the little girl in town yesterday afternoon, and while walking along Washington gyenue near the Z. C. M. I., she saw her as sallant and peinted him out to Mr. Gil eailant and pointed him out to Mr. Gil-lis, who immediately got Officer Robert Burke, who followed Meyers into the Atlas saloon, where he tried to escape through the backdoor, which was locked, and the officer placed him under arrest. He has been charged with as-sault with intent to commit rape. HOUSE BURGLARIZED.

The home of Richard Dye at Riverdale was burglarized at about 5 o'clock last evening and two suits of clothes, two checks and a small amount of money were taken. Mrs. Dye was in the garden only a short distance from the house busily engaged in picking some fruit; on returning to the house she found every thing ransacked, the beds turned up down, making the house look like a cyclone had struck it. Mrs. Dye real ized immediately what had happened, and on examining to see what was missing, she found that a new suit of black clay worsted cloths and a suit tha had been worn a short time were
