

OGDEN.

OGDEN, UTAH, JULY 30, 1894.

Ten Days—and Then—

U. F. Brown, the individual arrested near the depot by Officer Ferguson last week, and who had in his possession violent powder and other explosives, was before Judge Bagley on Saturday last, was found guilty of vagrancy and sentenced to ten days in the city jail. At the expiration of this term it is expected that he will be released on an indictment found by the special grand jury, in which he will most likely be charged with carrying explosive materials about his person for illegal purposes.

Notes.

Heavily traveled amounted to $2,000 Saturday.

There were seventeen yags and three drunks lodged in jail last night.

During the past two weeks Judge Bagley tried in cases—23 delinquents and 11 over-tickets.

The Ogden brass band will take an excursion to Salt on Wednesday next.

Curley Johnson plead guilty to a charge of housebreaking and was sentenced to eighteen months in the Utah penitentiary.

An unknown individual, well equipped at pocket picking, relieved a Mr. Brown of his watch on Friday last while at the Diamond saloon.

Marion, the man who beat his aged mother in so brutal a manner, a week or two ago, still remains in jail awaiting the action of the grand jury.

The charge against W. Kirkwood and M. Alexander, who were arrested last Friday for forgery, have been withdrawn and the parties who have been trying together for some time past and to whom about three weeks ago a check was born, are now married. The girl is but sixteen years of age.

PROVO.

PROVO, UTAH, JULY 30, 1894.

Drowned in the Provo River.

Carl Marshall, son of Joseph Marshall, of Provo valley, was drowned in the Provo river on Thursday evening last. On that evening he went to the river, near William Wright's place, for the purpose of catching some fish. As he did not return a search was instituted on Friday morning, and his body was found lodged in the stream. How the accident occurred is a mystery, as under ordinary circumstances he would have had no trouble in getting out of the stream. It is possible that he fatigued and fell in the water.

Notes.

George Hilday, of this city, has a badly eroded foot. It was run over by a trucking machine.

Samuel Strand, of Albia, while showing his horse a couple of days since, had his knee cap dislocated.

Charles De Mole and wife have been making a number of surveys on the shores of Lake Utah, in connection with the proposed dam to be built on the lake.

GARFIELD COUNTY NOTES.

Fangulth State and Lake.—Report of a Resident.

Panguitch, July 29.—The dry weather has shortened the hay crop of this district and the showers keep it wet to gather the horses hay; yet all the ranchmen are in their busy season.

The people of this county are quite extensive stock-raisers. J. W. Crosby Jr., and others have just raised a dead in horse stock, dipping of something over four hundred head.

This place some cash in general circulation, and relieve many of the present wants of the people.

Crowsville has been short of water this year than ever before since Crowsville has been settled, yet the showers are increasing the supply and hopes are entertained that a good harvest will grow the bumper crop.

A number of good houses have been erected, among them an excellent residence by L. D. Morrell; others are projected and a general air of thrift is to be seen.

Fangulth, the capital of Garfield county, the money and intelligence and fine residences for a new country and one so far removed from the railroad, it is the business center of this portion of Utah, and the head of the stock interest for a great scope of country.

To the southwest of Fangulth, eighteen miles over, located rolling hills covered with verdure, situated with cedar and pine, the Fangulth lake, the most beautiful and picturesque of all our mountain lakes, situated over seven thousand feet above the sea.

level, in what appears to be an extinct volcanic crater, surrounded with hills of volcanic rock covered with pine that cast their shadows in the softness of the snow, deep water, it makes an impressive picture on the mind. The lake is about two miles long by one wide, and is filled with mountain trout. It is a great resort for summer fishing, and is a great resort for winter fishing. There are many small islands in the lake, and a small island in the center of the lake is a great resort for winter fishing. The lake is a great resort for winter fishing. The lake is a great resort for winter fishing.
