PECULIAR COURT PROCEEDINGS.

THE proceedings in progress in the Third District Court present a curious spectacle. It is doubtful if they ever had a parallel in the history of jurisprudence. A question of a strictly local character is supposed to be on trial. It is the validity of a special school tax levied in the Seventh District of this city. It will be seen that the question and locality are both quite limited, but a perusal of the proceedings in court give them a remarkable scope.

A mass of evidence is being admitted that has no relation whatever to the question supposed to be on trial. Indeed the proceedings in the case show plainly that its title is a misnomer. The "Mormon" Church is brought to the bar of the Court and there placed on trial. In this respect the case is not dissimilar to the situation as defined by the late Justice McKean, an anti-"Mormon" missionary judge of the most fanatical type, when the late President Brigham Young was before him upon a trumped up charge. Judge McKean frankly stated on that occasion: "The case at bar is not the People, etc., vs. Brigham Young, but the People, etc., vs. Polygamy Theology." The case now proceeding in the District Court is not a trial of the validity of a special school tax levied in the Seventh District of this city, but a trial of the "Mormon" Church, and for this purpose the tools of the prosecution are thrust out in every direction, and every scrap of evidence that is supposed to be damaging is seized with avidity and utilized, the amount of waste and extravagance in the court in its admissions. Great extremes are resorted to, including the "stuffing" of little children for the occasion, but one at least of these little chaps went back on the program to which he had been evidently trained, and declared in Court what he had admitted to the prosecution behind the scenes.

The present status of affairs affords only a narrow field for this proposed exposure of the "Mormon" Church, this poverty of immediate matter being exhibited by the fact that not only is the territorial scope of evidence rendered boundless except by the geographical lines of Utah, but the industrious prosecutors must burrow into the misty pages of the past for materials to further their ends.

The purpose of this license by the Court in allowing the trial of a purely local case to go far beyond its legitimate bounds is unmistakable. The accumulation of every scrap of testimony that can be raked in from any quarter and construed, twisted and discolored so as to increase popular antipathy abroad toward the "Mormon" Church, is intended to form a bulwark behind which the crusading process can be conducted. An objective point of the anti-"Mormon" crusaders is to manufacture a popular excuse for overriding the Constitution, equity, justice, and the rights of man in the effort to obliterate a law abiding community.

Modern times have not furnished a more striking fidelity to the doctrine of hate and misrepresentation than has been exhibited, especially of late, by the anti-"Mormon" crusaders, from whose faces the mask of hypocrisy will be torn in due time.

THE COUNTY LIQUOR QUESTION.

Is another part of to-day's issue will be found a petition to the County Court which will soon be in circulation for signatures. There is no doubt that the movement is popular, and the evidence will be forthcoming in the overwhelming numbers who will attach their names to the document, else we are greatly mistaken in relation to the temper of the people upon this important question.

Public attention has been lately directed more forcibly to the necessity of a strong step in relation to the liquor traffic throughout the county by the recent violent death of young Henry Gardner, and if the agitation thus stirred up accomplishes its aim, that lamentable tragedy, sad as it was, will not be wholly an evil, because of a public good resulting probably sooner than it otherwise would.

We believe that the district end will be attained. Let the license, as prayed, be put up to the highest figure allowed under the law, and not only will there be a diminution in the number of drinking saloons in the county, but those that remain will in all likelihood not be of so low and respectable a character as the majority of those now in existence.

NEW ORLEANS, 4.—A special to the Tribune from New Orleans, Miss. says it is reported that two negro desperadoes, one of whom committed a murder in the city of New Orleans, were taken to the Louisiana State Prison, and there they were kept in a cell for some time, and then they were released.

Ordinary judgment ought to suggest to the questioner that no answer could be given to cover every case, as the action would depend upon its nature. If the desired result is to be attained, the subject, he should consult the laws of the State and the laws of the Nation, which are very clear on the subject, and advise with the local Church authorities. These are the proper sources of information upon such matters.

MURDER AS A REFORMATORY AGENT.

The dispatch in which the sentiments of Chicago socialists are portrayed, furnishes reading of a very character. Death and destruction are treated and advocated as the very best and most effective means of placing the social structure upon an equitable basis. These ferocious fellows and females are evidently "crazy for the fray," and are ready to sacrifice to a chance to obliterate from earth existence a few scores or hundreds of bloated bondholders or mercenary monopolists. Delightful characters these are. It looks as if it were about time holy Chicago to get up another anti-"Mormon" meeting, pass resolutions and organized to clean the Utah moral platter in order to divert its attention from its own nog-pen. Hypocrites.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The burglar who gave as a reason for surrendering himself in Hartford that the times are hard must have a keen sense of the ludicrous.

It is said that during last year 5,377 persons have met their death in this country at the hands of their fellow-men, against 1,674 in 1883.

The depression in the shipbuilding interest in England was never so great as at the present time. There is nothing doing in any of the shipyards, and fully 10,000 shipbuilders are idle, and this means half a million of suffering people. England may rule the sea, but starvation rules the land.

If it is true, as reported from Shanghai, that 80,000 troops are massed at Peking under Li Hung Chang, a terrific struggle may be expected if the French regard upon an attack. Li Hung Chang, it should be remembered, is not regarded by Gen. Grant as one of the four ablest men he saw during his trip around the world.

The completion of the Washington Monument will be celebrated with unusual pomp in the city of Washington, on the 21st of February next. The monument is 555 feet high. It is a plain, white, four-sided shaft, tapering from the base to the top, and is the tallest structure of its sort in the world.

A novel exhibition is to be opened in London in May, 1885, its object being the representation of American life for the benefit of Englishmen who have never crossed the Atlantic ocean. It is proposed to have a complete display of all the products of the United States, manufactured and natural, and an immense panorama is to be provided for the presentation of American scenery.

Julian Hawthorne expatiates upon the value of the royal family in their capacity of leaders of fashion, and the great amount of worry and trouble they save the nation by deciding what should be worn, and by setting numerous other matters of etiquette.

"The royal family," he says, "are the great saviors of the world, by their saving of social wear and tear, and time, and temper which they effect."

It is reported that the ladies of Marseille, France, have adopted a curious precaution against cholera by wearing what are called "sanitary moustaches."

Some boys have even adopted false whiskers for the same purpose.

An ingenious device has been invented to guard Cleveland against the horde of hungry office-seekers, who, it is expected, will swoop down on him before he has fairly warmed the Presidential seat. The Senators and Congressmen of each section are going to act as body-guard to the President. They will receive all applicants and decide on those who are to be favored. In this way they will spare Cleveland much labor and trouble and have a nice opportunity to strengthen their own influence. It is a beautiful scheme, but the trouble is that Cleveland is not fond of having his selections made by other hands.

The depressing times are having a marked influence in repressing travel. At Kansas City trains which usually arrive there in the morning with 4,000 to 5,000 passengers, do not now average more than 300 per day. Similar reports come from Chicago and St. Louis. At Indianapolis fifteen roads carried less passengers in November, 1884, than in the corresponding month of 1883, and the earnings of the last two weeks of November fell off, as compared with last year, $1,500 to $3,500 per week with nearly all the lines. Not only is through, but local business as well, affected. Presidents and General Managers are waiting to learn what is the matter, and passenger men know not what to answer.

One of the most terrible cases of cruelty recently brought to light is reported from Baltimore. Capt. John Williams, of an oysterboat, found one of his crew so sick that he could not work. In the presence of the other members of the crew he was kept in a system of torture such as standing on the sick man's throat, tying him above deck by his thumbs, swinging him up by his feet, and pouring cold water over his body, and finally throwing him on a black shore, leaving him there unattended to die. In relation to this case the Chicago News says: "Not only should Williams be hanged quick and high, but the able-bodied men who were heartless enough to stand by and allow the sick man to be tortured, should be hanged as accessories to one of the most brutal and unprovoked murders in the history of all time."
