

way in which the Almighty had blessed the Latter-day Saints, temporally as well as spiritually. He also alluded to the harmonizing tendencies of the prin-ciples and spirit of the gospel, as seen in the 'gathering together and uniting in the strongest bonds of brotherhood so many people from various nations as were represented among the Baints in the valleys of Utah. The speaker con-tinued for some time, dwelling particu-larly upon the necessity of the people performing duties pertaining to the present in order to lay an immovable foundation for future happiness and glory. He also bore testimony that Joseph Smith and Brigham Young were prophets of the living God. Brother and sister R. L. Fishburn and Brother George Gilbert sang "The Mountain hore of the sang "The

The main portion of his dis-course was devoted to explaining the pesceful nature of the mission of the Savior, and in showing that the mis-sion of the servants of God in this age was of a similar character. He also apoke of the saving and happifying agencies of the gospel of Christ, as made manifest in the satisfactory con-dition of the Latter-day Saints. The fears of those who entertained the opin-ion that the Saints were evil disposed ELDER ERASTUS SNOW was the next fears of those who entertained the opin-ion that the Saints were evil disposed and inclined to wrong their fellows were entirely groundless. Their mis-sion, like the Savior's, was one of peace and good will to mankind. They were desirous of saving all people from the tide of corruption with which the world was flooded, as well as from pov-erty and distress. President Young, under the blessing of God, had done more in this direction than any other man living. Numbers of people had been brought from the midst of poverty in the countries of Europe and were now enjoying a competency of the comforts of life in these valleys. ELDER ERASTUS SNOW addressed the assemblage. He stated that the Lord had said that Zion consisted of the pure in heart. The nations had corrupted their ways and the Saints had therefore been commanded to come out of the various nations of the world, out of the various nations of the world, and they had been called Zion. The Baints had been separated from the world by the preaching of the gospel. They should also separate themselves from the corruptions and errors of the wicked, that they might carry forward the work of regenerating the human race. The gospel was sent for the sal-vation of all who would be obedient to it, for Christ died for all. There was nothing in the constitution or princi-ples of the gospel calculated to inflict injury on anybody, but they were de-signed for the peace and happiness of mankind. nankind. In the course of his remarks Elder Snow treated upon the necessity of com-pliance with the law of tithing, the pliance with the law of tithing, the word of wisdom, attending to secret and family prayer and other practical duties. If the Latter-day Saints would thus live in purity and holiness, reproving wickedness of every kind, they woud soon become a terror to evil doors for the arm of fact reversed. they would seen become a terror to evil doers, for the arm of flesh was powerlees when raised against a people who were pleasing in the sight of God. The Baints opposed not their enemies with carnal wespons, but by faith. He con-cluded by bearing testimony to the truth of the gcspel.
