THE LAUNCHING OF THE NEW SHAMROCK.
With the floating of Sir Thomas Lipton's new cup challenger, Shamrock II, the international yacht racing season may be considered as formally opened. Cup challenges are often launched with great secrecy, but Sir Thomas Lipton has made the floating of his new boat an event of much ceremony. Besides the Marchioness of Dufferin, who christened the yacht, many other distinguished guests were present.

by agreement or by Mr. Harman and perhaps other Union Pacific directors going into the Northern Pacific board. These are matters which, necessarily, are still unsettled, but Kuhn, Lieb & Company now have the power to determine whether Northern Pacific will secure the Burlington, and with assurance given that their Union Pacific interests will be fully protected it appeared today that they would not push their advantage so far as to stop the merger proposed by Mr. Hill.

Leavenworth, Kan., May 8.—Ethel Bonnie, the 18-year-old daughter of George W. Berlin, May 8.—The Frankfurter Zeitung, an organ friendly to the United States and an authority in the financial affairs, discussing Wall street affairs, regards the situation as dangerous, since outsiders are now speculating on credit. It admits that the business situation is excellent except as regards textiles, but finds no justification for the present madness.

END OF WAR NOT IN SIGHT.
Lord Kitchener's Long Dispatch Shows This to be the Case.

New York, May 8.—Lord Kitchener's long dispatch dated March 8, describing in detail his futile endeavors to catch Dewet, apportioning neither blame nor praise to any commanding officer of the British troops, says the Tribune's London correspondent. A careful perusal of the dispatch does not impress one with the idea that hostilities in South Africa are rapidly nearing a conclusion.

BROWN GIVEN
SIXTY DAYS.
MARTINELLI'S
RED BERETTA.

Protests His Innocence to the Court to the Very Last.

A VERY DRAMATIC SCENE.

His Wife Became Hysterical When the Sentence Was Pronounced by Judge Timmony.

In Judge Timmony's court this afternoon, the motion for a new trial in the case of Charles Brown, convicted of murdering little girls, was overruled, and the court sentenced Brown to be confined in the city jail for sixty days. When the case came up, Prosecutor Diehl asked that the affidavit of Juror Greenback be received by the court on the ground that it was not lawful to receive an affidavit from a juror for the purpose of impeaching his verdict. Attorney Hamilton contended that he was warranted by law in presenting Greenback's affidavit.

"You need not argue any further, gentlemen," interposed Judge Timmony. "I have looked up the law in this case, and the motion of counsel for the city will be sustained."

Hamilton then proceeded to argue for a new trial on the ground that only one of the witnesses for the prosecution positively identified the defendant as the man who committed the crime. Hamilton prefaced his remarks by an attempt to take a fall out of the newspapers. Raising his right hand and shaking it violently, he charged that Brown had already been convicted before the case came in court, that he had had a trial by the papers.

He did not contend that any of the newspaper men had been selected jurors. Prosecutor Diehl then reviewed the evidence of the trial, and called the attention of the court to the fact that two witnesses, two brothers of the girls who were assaulted, testified most positively that they saw Brown. "In this case," said the court, "a jury has passed upon it and have rendered a verdict which I believe to be just and right, and the motion for a new trial will be denied."

When sentence was passed Brown's wife almost broke down with grief and sobbed hysterically. Brown jumped to his feet and raising aloft his right hand said: "Judge, I want to say one thing. I swear I am unjustly convicted of this crime although my attorney has done all in his power for me. I hope that if ever another man is brought here for a crime like this he will not be unjustly convicted."

ANOTHER WATER CASE.
Trial of It Begun Before Judge Hall This Morning.

Trial was commenced before Judge Hall this morning the case brought by the Draper Irrigation company and a number of individual plaintiffs to restrain the Draper Irrigation company from using half of the flow of North Creek all the year round. The plaintiffs claim eleven-twelfths of the flow of the creek except between July 26th and October 1st of each year, when they claim one-half, and ask the court to enjoin the Draper company from using more than one-twelfth of the water, except between these dates.

The Draper company claims that its grantors diverted one-half of the flow of Dry Creek in 1860 and ever since then they or the defendant company have diverted one-half of the flow each year up to July 26th, and two-thirds of the water between then and October, to irrigate the lands of the Draper project. The plaintiffs are represented by Attorney William A. Lee and George M. Sullivan, and the defendants by Zane & Rogers.

Non-Suited.
In the damage suit brought by Axel Olson against the Union Pacific Railroad company, which was resumed before Judge Morse today, defendants' motion to strike out the testimony of Thomas Riddell was agreed to by the plaintiff and so ordered by the court.

Neil Houston and Archa Olson were examined on behalf of the plaintiff, and the transcript of the testimony for Lee plaintiff of Mrs. Lulu Hamilton and H. M. Hadley was read, after which Attorneys Smith and Wilson rested their case and the defense made its opening statement. The defendants moved for a non-suit and the jury was excused during the arguments which were interrupted at a quarter of 1 o'clock for a lunch recess and resumed again at 2 o'clock. The case was non-suited at 2 o'clock.

Letters Revoked.
Upon the statement of Attorneys Young & Moyle, that there is no property in the State belonging to the estate of Caroline McGillion, deceased, Judge Hall this morning revoked the letters of administration issued to Stephen L. Moyle and released his bondsmen from further liability.

MARTINELLI'S
RED BERETTA.

He Received it at the Hands of Cardinal Gibbons.

CEREMONY IN CATHEDRAL.

Marked by All the Pomp and Brilliance Usually Attendant Upon Such Occasions in the Roman Church.

Baltimore, Md., May 8.—Sebastian Martinelli, titular archbishop of Ephesus and cardinal-elect of the church of Rome, today received at the hands of Cardinal Gibbons, the red beretta and donned the robes which will hereafter mark his rank. The ceremony, which is the second step in his elevation to his new position, was marked by all the pomp and brilliancy usually attendant upon such occasions. It was held in the venerable cathedral, the first edifice of its kind erected upon American soil and in which the first American cardinal priest and the first American bishop were ordained. Among those who witnessed it were men and women prominent in every walk of life, diplomats, legislators, educators, journalists and ecclesiastics, the latter including half a score of archbishops, half a hundred bishops, priests, monks and seminarians.

His initial step in the ceremony took place in the palace of the cardinal and consisted in the transmission of the beretta to Cardinal Gibbons by Mr. Martinelli, the papal legate. Brief addresses were made by both the participants in this affair. While this was in progress, a procession was formed in front of Calvert hall a block away, in which were the cardinal, the archbishops, the bishops and the members of the faculty of the Catholic university in Washington, all in their vestments and finally the archbishops, the purple and some of their rich vestments adding brilliancy to the scene. At 10 o'clock they moved through Cathedral to Charles street, passing the palace of the cardinal, where the cardinal-elect, Sebastian Martinelli, took his place last in the line. Thence the procession moved to the main entrance of the cathedral. The cardinal-elect, Sebastian Martinelli, was seated in the front of the procession, and through a rear door and advanced to meet the procession at the altar rail. The cardinal and the cardinal-elect sat in the front of the procession, and each sought the throne provided for him. That for Cardinal Gibbons occupied the gospel side of the altar, while that for the cardinal-elect was placed upon the epistle side. When the cardinal-elect seated himself, the papal brief to Cardinal Gibbons and Cardinal-elect Martinelli were read as follows:

PAPAL BRIEF TO CARDINAL GIBBONS.
Leo XIII, pope, to our beloved son, James Gibbons, cardinal priest of the Baltimore; our beloved son, health and apostolic blessing.
Having this day created cardinal of the Holy Roman church, our venerable brother, Sebastian Martinelli, titular archbishop of Ephesus, we have committed to our beloved son, Francis Marchetti, of this house, priest, chamberlain, the duty of presenting to you the red beretta, the second mark of his new dignity. Monsignor Marchetti, and diligently assists Cardinal Martinelli in the apostolic delegation. He will present himself to your eminence in the performance of his office and will bring you our greetings. We have entrusted him, entrusted with the honorable duty of presenting to you, to your kindness and beg you to receive him with consideration and as a sign of our good will, we send you most lovingly the apostolic benediction.

Given at St. Peter's, Rome, under the Fisherman's seal, on the fifteenth day of April, A. D. 1901, and in the twenty-fourth year of our pontificate.
(Signed.) ALEXANDER VOLTINI, PAPAL BRIEF TO MONSIEUR MARTINELLI.

Our beloved son, health and apostolic benediction.
Although unworthy, being constituted by divine mercy in the sublimity of the apostolic see, and by virtue of office having care of the welfare of the Catholic church, among our chief solicitude is that the college of our venerable brothers, the cardinals of the Holy Roman church, should be kept brilliant by most distinguished men as the dignity of that most splendid order demands. For this reason we have determined to inscribe you in their number for your piety, your learning, your zeal for the Catholic faith and your other qualities and gifts of mind, which leads us to hope that your ministry will be of great use and benefit to the church of God.

Since, however, our beloved son, Reginald Mus de Raymond, to whom we had entrusted the honorable duty of apostolic delegate, has declined it, we accepted his refusal and resolved to commit it to Francis Marchetti, auditor of the apostolic delegation in the United States of North America, who will present to you, created by us a cardinal of the Holy Roman church, one of the members of this sublime dignity, the red beretta, so that when it shall have been conferred on you, it shall have been conferred to the cardinalate dignity, must ever stand fearless and invincible against all dangers to the church of God, even to the shedding of your blood, precious in the sight of the Lord. We wish, however, that before you receive the red beretta you will by all means take the oath to be given to you by the said Francis Marchetti, and that signed by you, you send it to us either through him or through some other person.

For this reason we have determined to inscribe you in their number for your piety, your learning, your zeal for the Catholic faith and your other qualities and gifts of mind, which leads us to hope that your ministry will be of great use and benefit to the church of God. Since, however, our beloved son, Reginald Mus de Raymond, to whom we had entrusted the honorable duty of apostolic delegate, has declined it, we accepted his refusal and resolved to commit it to Francis Marchetti, auditor of the apostolic delegation in the United States of North America, who will present to you, created by us a cardinal of the Holy Roman church, one of the members of this sublime dignity, the red beretta, so that when it shall have been conferred on you, it shall have been conferred to the cardinalate dignity, must ever stand fearless and invincible against all dangers to the church of God, even to the shedding of your blood, precious in the sight of the Lord. We wish, however, that before you receive the red beretta you will by all means take the oath to be given to you by the said Francis Marchetti, and that signed by you, you send it to us either through him or through some other person.

Mr. Marchetti upon the conclusion of the reading of the brief, advanced to Cardinal Gibbons throne and delivered to him an address informing him that the supreme pontiff had committed to him the office of investing with the red beretta Cardinal Martinelli of whom Mr. Marchetti said: "His obediencies overcome his humility and brought him unwillingly to this sublime dignity, of which I will say nothing at present, as another more worthy than I will more clearly and more gracefully speak of it."

CARDINAL GIBBONS' RESPONSE.
Cardinal Gibbons responded as follows: "Most Eminent Father—I beg leave to
