

THE JENANYAN VISITS SALT LAKE

Rev. H. S. Jenanyan, With Wife
And Children, Spends a Few Days Here.

MRS. JENANYAN AN AMERICAN.

The Couple Are Devoting Their Lives
To the Amelioration of Their People.

Two of the speakers at the tabernacle yesterday afternoon were Rev. and Mrs. H. S. Jenanyan, whose home is at Konia, Armenia. They are in this country for the purpose of interesting the American people in the Armenian people. Mr. Jenanyan is an Armenian, but was educated in this country, and bears the title D. D. His wife is an American lady, formerly Miss Helene R. Ruffin, daughter of a minister, and the couple were married 25 years ago, and immediately took up missionary work in the land of the husband's nativity. Together they traveled over 10,000 miles by horse, engaged in evangelistic work, and have a family of five children, who accompanied them in their trip to Salt Lake.

Rev. Jenanyan is the founder of the Apostolic institute, one of the most successful schools in Asia Minor. In the boys' department there are 88 pupils, 24 doing college work and 34 in the preparatory school. The students are from 33 different cities in Asia Minor.

WHOLESALE SLAUGHTER.

In Armenia there are more than 120,000 orphaned and 40,000 widows, whose fathers and husbands fell victims to the Turkish atrocities of the last few years. It is estimated that 100,000 persons were slain by the Turkish Moslems. Beggars in almost countless numbers fill the streets of Armenia, and the few engaged in charity and relief work, prominent among whom are Mr. and Mrs. Jenanyan, are far more than they can possibly do. Funds are being solicited in this and other Christian countries to aid in caring for and educating the poor and destitute. Addressed to the horrors of famine in some districts, and all in all the conditions are most pitiable. In a circular that is being distributed, the following summary is made:

First.—There are many orphan and destitute youth crying for admittance to our schools. We greatly need additional building and funds to provide board and tuition.

Second.—In Armenia we are in great need of a building for library, assembly room and recreation rooms. This can be built for $5,000, thus giving employment and relief to a great many poor. This is a splendid opportunity for a memorial building for a departed one.

Third.—A house of worship is sorely needed for the church in Konia. This is the second organized Evangelical church in the whole province of one and one-half million population, and the only one in that capital of 60,000 people. Religious meetings are held now in the hall of the old school house. $5,000 will supply the great demand.

Fourth.—We beg the special attention of our readers to the closing paragraphs of Mr. Hagazian's letter from Konia, for the imperative necessity of $2,000 to establish our industrial departments on permanent basis which means giving employment to many needy students to make them self-supporting, and also of a windmill, that our garden may produce a good income for the institute.

$10.—Patron. Provides food for a starving one, one year.

$25.—Benefactor. Feeds, shelters and educates a maiden or youth one year.

$50.—Sustaining member. Clothes and sustains a widow and four children one year.

$100.—Life member. Educates an orphan for one year in America, or four years in Armenia.

$500.—Endows a permanent scholarship in the institute.

$1,000.—Life director. Permanent home to shelter 50 destitute, may be a memorial hall.

$5,000.—Life director. Endows a permanent professorship in the institute.

$10,000.—Money, checks or postoffice orders will be sent to Frederick O. Foxcroft, treasurer; National Park bank, New York City.

Contributions from persons in this state will be received at the office of the Desert News or the presiding bishop's office, and will be forwarded to the designated place in New York City.

The following letter from J. W. Wilford, pastor, president of the Turkish mission of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, was received by Rev. Mr. Jenanyan and the same was read by Mrs. Jenanyan at the tabernacle yesterday afternoon:

PRESIDENT BOOTH'S LETTER.

"Will you pardon me, a stranger, for thus intruding upon your busy hours? You are doing a work for your fellow men for which I feel sure many a one will thank you for long years to come, and the more I learn of the progress of this letter is to ask you to accept my hearty well wishes and thanks for the noble work you are accomplishing.

"It has been my pleasure to visit the various colleges in this country which are under American supervision—the C. T. C. of Anatolia, the seminary at Marash, the high school at Sivas, the Anatolian college at Marash, the Robert college at Constantinople, the St. Paul's institute at Tarsus, the American college at Beyrut, and other smaller institutes of learning, but I am very happy to inform you that in my opinion the Jenanyan college (apostolic institute) at Konia leads them all in the important lessons of love and faith in the Lord Jesus Christ.

"One of the bright spots in my checked career of missionary work is my visit to Konia and to your school. Broadminded, Christian love and kindness, seems to be the rule, and there was commendable charity even towards one whose creed and belief differed from the general idea of modern Christianity. Such a love and kindness, Konia was taught to possess and practice all my life and so it seemed like home to me.

"I am not personally acquainted with you, but I do respect you for the efforts you are making, and I sympathize with you for the opposition you have so bravely met and mastered.

"May God bless you in your noble work and may He bless the loving teachers and the students of that college in Konia. Other schools received me kindly as a visitor, but with that kindness there was a chilly feeling, not like my own home schools and that of yours.

"I could write you pages of heart-warming sentiments and congratulations, but knowing that a school of that kind is more in need of cash than well wishes, I close with a promise of $5 if you will kindly write me where to deposit it.

"It has been nearly two years since I visited your college, but only a few weeks ago I accidentally met one of your professors, who gave me your address. You are no doubt acquainted with the conditions under which the Latter-day Saints missionaries labor financially, and that will I hope serve

INTERESTING PAPER.
Miss Martha Johnson Discusses Music Before Los Angeles Convention.

Miss Martha Johnson, director of physical education in the Salt Lake public schools, read a paper before the N. E. A. convention on "The question of music in physical education." An epitome of her effort is as follows:

Proper as the use of music is in the gymnasium and therefore, it is still a mooted question among our educators whether or not we are justified in its extensive use. The Germans use it to some extent, the Swedes very little, and we almost entirely. Are we doing right?

Physical education has two great objects to be attained: First, the stimulation of the nutritive processes of the body, circulation, respiration and digestion; second, the correction of posture. The stronger the muscular contraction the greater the blood supply to that part of the body and therefore, the better the muscular tone. The correction of posture is dependent in a large degree upon the nutrition of the body. Weak muscles will always cause drooping head, contracted breast and protruding abdomen. Hence, if we are to correct atrocious posture, we must increase the blood supply and nutrition of the body.

By experiment it has been proven that the effects of music upon bodily movements are:

1.—Sound made simultaneously with a contraction increases the muscular contraction.

2.—Intensity of sound strengthens contraction.

3.—Higher the pitch the stronger the contraction.

4.—Strength of contraction is affected by music—major stimulates, minor depresses.

5.—Point of fatigue is postponed.

6.—Steadiness of contraction is increased.

Since music strengthens and hence stimulates the nutrition it is a help. But it is a psychic law that the mind can focus its attention upon one thing at a time. When music is used the attention is averted from the form of execution to the time element. Hence, the posture is to be obtained music is a hindrance. But when correct form has been mastered so that it becomes second nature, music may be used as a stimulus. Therefore an intelligent use of music with physical education is beneficial, but its absolute continuance is harmful.

RINGLING'S CIRCUS COMING.
World's Greatest Shows Will Appear in Salt Lake Aug. 6.

Ringling Brothers' world's greatest shows are to exhibit here on Eighth South between Main and West Temple on Tuesday, Aug. 6. In all its entirety from the 1,250 people employed; the wonderful herd of 40 elephants, the 12 acres of canvas, 100 cage zoo, to the pink lemonade man, the circus will be transported to this city from Ogden in five sections, requiring 85 double length cars. The vanguard arrived last night, on one of the largest and most modern equipped advertising cars ever constructed. The interior is handsomely finished in oak and has "all the comforts of a home." It contains the private office of the manager, a gentleman's smoking compartment and the berths are so arranged that each person has practically a private stateroom. It is from this car that the first bill of matter is distributed and posted. Early this morning, seven wagons, loaded with pictorial paper and billposters, were dispatched into the country where, according to the press agent, "every barn, fence and bill board within 50 miles of Salt Lake will be kaleidoscopically arrayed in daintily fashioned creations of lithographic art which serve to elicit the mastodon marvels in store for those who come in on show day."

The old time method of driving stakes with sledges has been eliminated, overtaken by the enormous size of the tents employed by Ringling Brothers this season. The new invention is in the form of a driving machine which is mounted on a heavy wagon and operated by gasoline engines. Stake after stake is fed into this machine and driven deep and straight, thus doing away with the hard work required in the old time method, and assuring the erection of a gigantic canvas city which could not be handled otherwise.

The cook tent is an important factor in the estimation of both performer and workman, and the 26,850 hungry mouths fed each week, with every article served in hotels of standing; ice cream, cake and delicacies of the season are always to be found on a Ringling menu. Figuring the meals served in this firm to their army of employees, in one summer season, the amount aggregated that of the president's salary for a period of over eight years.

For this season's tour, Ringling Brothers have gathered together the flower of the acrobatic, aerial and equestrian world. Their exhibitions of strength and dexterity on the numerous stages, in the rings, upon the backs of mettlesome horses, and far up in the aerial enclaves, amidst a network of trapeze and horizontal bars, justly brings them the title of the "physical marvels of two hemispheres."

In the new big, 100 cage zoo are many rare and odd creatures where else rare, the last of their tribe, the only rhinoceros in captivity; the almost extinct gnu or horned buffalo, and 40 elephants, the largest company ever shown under canvas, and more than twice as many as are with any other show in America. The big menagerie tent is the largest ever made for a circus, and so big that an army of 5,000 men could be easily maneuvered within its walls.

SALT LAKE WANTS ENCAMPMENT
Determined Effort Will Be Made To Land the 1909 Convention of Veterans.

IS AN HONOR FOR ANY CITY.

Outing at Lagoon Has Been Arranged For August 6 to Assist in Raising Funds.

Salt Lake is to make a determined effort to get the national encampment of the G. A. R. in 1909. As many representatives as possible will go to Saratoga, N. Y., to attend this year's encampment and be arranged for Salt Lake. An outing has been arranged at Lagoon for Aug. 6 to raise money to aid in defraying the expenses of the army delegates. The Saratoga gathering will be held Sept. 9 to 14.

The city that gets a national encampment of the G. A. R. is indeed fortunate as it is one of the biggest honors and advertisements a town can get. There are about 70,000 veterans alive; 50,000 a year is the annual death rate, hence entertaining the few left is considered an honor. Minneapolis entertained 50,000 old soldiers last year and 20,000 marched in one parade which took six hours to complete. Over 200,000 persons were in Minneapolis during the encampment and no city ever saw greater enthusiasm.

A BIG EVENT.
A national encampment of the G. A. R. means, besides the prestige offered a city, the addition of close to a million dollars in a week to its resources. Minneapolis is a city of 380,000 people, and although every public hostelry, the majority of homes were thrown open to the accommodation of the visitors hundreds upon hundreds lived in tents and the stores and restaurants were "swamped" with business. So large and important are these gatherings that the cities to be visited are chosen a year and even two years ahead of time to permit them to prepare for the influx of veterans and friends.

EAST WOULD MEET WEST.
Should Salt Lake get the 1909 encampment local railroads will put in reduced rates throughout the inter-mountain region and the thousands of outsiders who would come here would be met by thousands of westerners. Salt Lake's fame as a health and pleasure spot as well as her fame as a business center places her in favor with all big associations and it is more than a good probability that the city will get the 1909 encampment of old soldiers—veterans of the Civil war. The rivalry being manifested by cities anxious to get the coming encampments grows more intense each year as the ranks of the old soldiers are thinning quickly and in a few years the G. A. R. will be a thing of memory only.

PILGRIMAGE OF THE UTAH PIONEERS
SIXTY YEARS AGO TODAY.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 14, 1847.
Elder Orson Pratt's advance company traveled six and three-quarters miles and halted for noon in altitude 4,470 feet. In the afternoon they traveled six and a quarter miles further, which brought them to the junction of Red Creek and Weber's fork.

"We have been shut up in a narrow valley (Echo canyon)," writes Elder Pratt, "from 10 to 12 rods wide, while upon each side the high rise very abrupt from 800 to 1,200 feet, and the most of the distance we have been walled in by vertical and overhanging precipices of red pudding-stone, and red sand-stone, rising up the north-west, in an angle of about 20 degrees, (the valley of the Red fork being about southwest). These rocks were worked into many curious shapes, probably by the rains. The country here is very mountainous in every direction. Red rock, towards the mouth, is a small stream about eight feet across, put into Weber's fork from the right bank. Weber's fork is here about 70 feet wide, from two to three feet deep; a rapid current, stony bottom, consisting of red sandstone, very coarse, its course bearing west-northwest. Height of the junction above the sea, 5,301 feet. The road has been quite rough, crossing and recrossing the stream a great number of times. There is some willow and aspen in the valley and upon the side hills, and some scrubby cedar upon the hills and rocks as usual."

The main company remained in camp all day.

THURSDAY, JULY 15, 1847.
Orson's Pratt's advance company resumed the journey down the Weber, crossing to the left bank, crossing the present site of Hender Summit county, Utah. Elder Pratt writes:

"We traveled about six miles, and encamped about one mile above the canyon, which at the entrance is inaccessible for wagons. The road, crossing the river to the right bank, makes a circuit of about two miles, and enters the canyon at the junction of a stream (Lost creek) putting in from

WILKINS CASE TO BE FOUGHT OUT

Judge Lewis Issues Order Restating Suit of Former Clerk of Public Works Board.

REMOVED BY "AMERICANS."

Matter Had Been Stricken from Calendar Under a Misapprehension—Will Be Tried in September.

The case of W. H. Wilkins against Salt Lake City has been reinstated by Judge Lewis and will be tried before Judge Morse during the September term of court. The plaintiff was formerly clerk of the board of public works but was ousted in the early part of 1906 by the "American" administration. He claims that the action of the administration was illegal for the reason that he was appointed clerk in November, 1905, under a new ordinance which made the term of office two years. He asked to be re-instated and also for judgment against the city for salary from the date he was ousted.

The case has been pending for some time and had passed three terms in Judge Wilkins' court, being set for trial, hence he ordered it stricken from the calendar. It developed later that the case had been transferred to Judge Morse's division and the latter had just recently overruled the city's demurrer to the complaint and the case is not at issue yet. When Judge Wilkins appeared in court and explained the matter to Judge Lewis, the case was set at once re-instated and will be fought out in court as has always been intended by Judge Wilkins.

FAILED TO SUPPORT.
Mrs. Keziah A. Hamilton Files Suit For Divorce.

In an action for divorce filed in the district court by Keziah A. Hamilton, against Jay F. Hamilton, it is alleged that for the past two years defendant has spent his money for liquor and has failed to support his wife and infant child. They were married in this city on Oct. 4, 1904, and during the time mentioned above Mrs. Hamilton has been compelled to depend on her own efforts and the assistance of her parents for support. She asks a divorce, a reasonable sum for alimony and attorney's fees, the custody of her child and the restoration of her maiden name, Keziah A. Owens.

POLICE COURT HAPPENINGS.
Another Attempted Assault—Residence Robbed—"Only Burglars."

A 12-year-old girl named Agnes Caldwell was made the victim of an attempted criminal assault on Pioneer square late Saturday afternoon. The child was walking through the square when she was attacked by a man who gave the name of W. H. Beuge. Two men observed the actions of the man and when they started after him, Beuge drew a revolver and threatened to shoot. When men followed him to his room where Sergeant Roberts placed him under arrest.

While the family was away from home a short time Saturday evening, a burglar entered the residence of Peter S. Condie, 325 West Fifth South street and stole a watch and a job and a small amount of change. The thief gained entrance by slipping the latch on the screen door. The matter was reported to the police and officers are trying to locate the stolen property.

Early yesterday morning Mrs. A. E. Hadley, 412 Third East street, was awakened by a noise in the house. She called out, "Who's there?" "We're only burglars" came the cool response from one of the two men who were searching for valuables. The men suddenly left the place and nothing was stolen.

Female colored thieves are still operating in Salt Lake. A Jap named B. Nogahama called at police headquarters yesterday and complained that he had been robbed by a colored woman of $15. The woman, giving the name of Anette Odell was arrested Officer Davidson and identified as the woman who robbed the Jap.
