FOUND GUILTY OF CONCEALING ASSETS.

New York, Feb. 3.—After a trial lasting a week, Richard Cohen, Simon L. Simpson and Isador Mann were found guilty by a jury in the United States district court yesterday on indictments charging the concealment of assets from the trustee in bankruptcy with intent to defraud creditors and conspiring against the government. A recommendation for mercy was made in the case of Mann. The men will be sentenced by Judge Holt today. The penalty is a fine of not more than $10,000 nor less than $1,000, and a jail sentence of not more than two years.

This is the first conviction of the kind ever secured. It took the government nearly two years to gather the evidence in the case. The defendants were indicted by the United States grand jury March 2, 1905. The alleged conspiracy began about three months prior to March 28, 1904, on which date a petition in bankruptcy was filed against the American Wire & Steel Bed company. The president of this concern was Simon L. Simpson. On March 28, 1904, a petition was filed against Richard Cohen, who was in a brother-in-law of Simpson.

The creditors caused an examination of the affairs of the bankrupts to be made. The investigation, it is charged, uncovered the facts that the liabilities of the two concerns aggregated over $2,000,000, while the assets at the time of the failure only amounted to about $5,000, the major portion having disappeared. Isador Mann, who is a cousin of both debtors, it was further charged, was brought from New Haven, Conn., where he resided, to assist in the failures by taking over assignments of all the outstanding accounts of the American Wire & Steel Bed company and arranging to transfer a large part of Cohen's stock to Boston. Cohen, in the meanwhile, it is said, has been buying all the merchandise that he could get, and as fast as he received it he got rid of it by selling out at low prices so as to convert it readily into cash, concealing some of it in various places in the city and vicinity and shipping the remainder to Boston. While Cohen was thus engaged, Simpson was equally so, and a month before the failure was announced, it was alleged, kept his factory working both day and night and shipped to his friends many thousands of dollars worth of springs, beds, couches, etc. However, no record was kept of where the goods went or to whom they were shipped. Counsel, summing up in behalf of the defendant, argued that the action of his clients was not contrary to the provisions of the bankruptcy law, and declared that instead of being concealed the property had been disposed of at public sale.

RUNNING DEBATE ON SHIPPING BILL

Patterson in Opposition, Gallinger and Perkins in Support.

DENOUNCE SUBSIDY REQUEST.

Colorado Senator Declared Oceanic Co. Getting Good Compensation—Now Made a Demand.

Washington, Feb. 2.—There was for a moment today a prospect that the statehood bill would receive its first formal reading in the senate, always the initiative step in the consideration of any measure reported from a committee.

The senate took up the calendar immediately after disposing of the routine business, and as the statehood bill occupied the first place the secretary had begun to read it before any of the opponents of the bill realized the situation. He had covered but a few pages when Mr. Teller put a stop to the proceedings for the time.

The shipping bill made the basis of a running debate between Mr. Patterson, in opposition, and Mr. Gallinger and Mr. Perkins, in support. Mr. Patterson criticized the provision for a subsidy to the Oceanic Steamship company, saying that that concern was now under contract to carry the mails at good compensation, and that the request for a subsidy amounted to a demand for money on its part.

The routine morning business of the senate being disposed of, the calendar was taken up at a much earlier moment than usual, and the first bill upon the calendar being the statehood bill the reading clerk began reading it. He had proceeded but a few moments when Mr. Teller, who opposes the bill, became interested.

"How was that bill reached?" he asked.

When informed, he suggested that the bill should go over to the chief of the senate certainly does not object to the reading of the bill," remarked Mr. Beveridge, in charge of the measure.

"I certainly do," replied the Colorado senator, emphatically.

Accordingly the further present consideration of the bill was stopped. Mr. McCumber made a brief statement regarding the substitute for the pure food bill presented yesterday by Mr. Money. He referred to a newspaper statement credited to Mr. Money to the effect that the pending bill was intended to assault with a deadly weapon the bureau of chemistry of the agricultural department to "hold up the heads of the country."

Mr. McCumber declared that the bill contained no provision to justify the statement and added that if it passed it would only give to the secretary of agriculture authority to examine suspected articles of food, after which examination he could do nothing more than report to the department of justice.

Referring to Mr. Money's bill, Mr. McCumber said that it was intended not only to keep conditions as they are in the matter of the introduction of foods into the states, but to obstruct the state officials in performing their duty. He declared that the bill, if passed, would do no more to prevent the misbranding of foods than would a sieve to prevent the flow of water.

When all the pension bills, about 150 in number, had been disposed of, the general calendar was taken up and a bill was passed establishing quarters for the light keeper at Cape Mendocino, Cal.

The shipping bill was then taken up and, to meet the objection made to it yesterday by Mr. Spooner, Mr. Gallinger moved to strike out the provision prohibiting vessels from receiving subsidies for more than 10 years, and the motion prevailed.

Mr. Patterson criticized the provision for a subsidy to the Oceanic Steamship company, plying on the Pacific ocean. He said that the company was now amply repaid upon the contract for carrying United States mails, and expressed the opinion that it was already receiving all that it was entitled to from the public treasury. The proposed subsidy of $200,000 a year, he said, practically doubled the award, he said.

Mr. Gallinger said if Congress did not come promptly to the support of the Oceanic company it would be forced by the heavily subsidized Japanese vessels to go under a foreign flag.

Mr. Patterson contended that the country had been more generous to those engaged in "going down to sea in ships" than to other industries, and declared that the shipping industry had the "most persistent and successful lobbyists that gather at the national capital."

He said the Oceanic company had made a threat to take refuge under another flag, and expressed the opinion that this would not have happened if the country had not been engaged in dealing out favors to shipowners.

Mr. Gallinger characterized the

Neglected Colds MAY CAUSE Consumption.

THE WHITE SCOURGE

MRS. ADDIE HARDING.

MRS. MARY MEYER.

MRS. FRANCES WILSON.

PROBABLY every case of consumption begins with a cold.

Consumption is generally classed as a hereditary disease, but consumption is not hereditary.

A constitutional weakness is inherited which renders one liable to consumption.

Even people who have strong lungs may acquire consumption from a cold.

Mrs. Addie Harding, 121 W. Brighton Ave., Syracuse, N. Y., writes:

"I have been a user of Peruna for the last twelve years and can truthfully say that there is no better medicine on earth."

"With me it is a sure preventative for colds and many other ills. In my home can always be found a bottle of Peruna. Two or three times a year I am troubled with my throat."

"I always had to have the services of my physician two or three times in each case."

"Although a user of Peruna, I never thought of taking it for my throat until about two years ago."

"I tried Peruna to check it, and to my great delight I was not troubled with the smothered and choked feeling and never have since."

"I can check it every time with Peruna."

"I certainly would not be without Peruna one minute."

speech as "remarkable," and declared that Mr. Patterson was the first man to find fault with the protection given to the American vessels in the coastwise and lake business.

Mr. Gallinger said he had seen no lobby in the interest of the shipping bill, nor had he heard threats. He added that the company was losing from $200,000 to $300,000 a year.

Mr. Perkins also defended the Oceanic company, saying that it had been impeached the patriotism of most estimable men. He confirmed the report that the companies were losing largely because of the subventions to foreign companies, and that it had been suffering losses for 10 or 15 years.

Mr. Perkins called attention to the disparity between the cost of operating vessels on the Pacific and the Atlantic oceans, saying that wages and the cost of fuel were both greater.

At the conclusion of this debate a bill authorizing the treasury to investigate certain Missouri state war claims was passed. At 4:12 the senate adjourned until Monday.

His Mysterious Disappearance Causes His Wife Anxiety.

CONSUMPTION WAS FEARED.

"I have been annoyed with a cough for years."

"Often it was so bad that I could not sleep half the night. Many people thought I had consumption."

"A woman recommended Peruna to me two years ago. I began to take Peruna and now I am perfectly free from a cough."

"I am glad to say that Peruna cured me entirely. I take Peruna occasionally when I do not feel well and I also give it to my children."

"Peruna is the best medicine for coughs and colds. I have told many people how much Peruna has helped me."

A neglected cold is a well-worn path to consumption.

Many a person catches cold and pays no attention to it.

He scarcely recovers from the first cold when he takes the second.

Still he gives it no heed, and possibly takes another cold, and so on.

He does himself with bromides, quinine and various expectorants.

His case is catarrh, at this stage, and his case should be treated as catarrh.

A common cold is acute catarrh. Finally, if the cold is allowed to continue, it becomes chronic catarrh.

It has saved a multitude of people from consumption by eradicating catarrh before it reaches the lungs.

The tendency of catarrh of the throat or head is to spread downward to the lungs.

If taken in time, Peruna will prevent these cases.

We have in our files many testimonials from people who thought they were victims of consumption, but have been permanently relieved by the faithful use of Peruna, thus showing that catarrh was really the cause of their ailments.
