LOCAL NEWS.

THE Railroad Suit.—Judge Zane yesterday filed his opinion in the case of the D. & R. G. W. Railway Company and D. C. Dodge vs. the D. & R. G. W. Railway Company et al. The suit has occupied about two weeks in the hearing of the plaintiff's line for 30 years from August 1st, 1882, to defendant, who claimed that the lease was void. In the decision the Judge declares that the lease is a valid one, having been ratified by the directors of the Colorado line, and acknowledged by the stock-

THE WALTON CASE.

THE COMPLAINT DISMISSED.

At 4 o'clock on Thursday afternoon the preliminary examination in this case was continued before Commissioner McKay. Judge Kirkpatrick appeared as counsel for the defendant, and John Coles, father of the alleged plaintiff, was called for cross-examination. He declared at his direct testimony as to his daughter Elizabeth being married to Thomas Walton was stated on belief, and not on personal knowledge.

On re-direct examination by Mr. Kirkpatrick, the witness adhered to his statement, but he was asked when or where the marriage had taken place, but he believed it had, and had testified. The District Attorney referred to the witness' testimony, but the latter maintained that that was given on belief, and not on personal knowledge.

Here followed a disgraceful scene. It will be understood that the witness is an old man, between 60 and 70 years of age, and that he is a simple-minded man. At the close of his examination the District Attorney did not appear to have any desire to press his inquiry at that time, but to wait the arrival of Mrs. Coles, the witness for whom an action had been instituted. The Commissioner was evidently incensed at this course, and exclaimed in a loud voice: "I think there should be a complaint made out against this man for perjury; the witness has lied!"

Some conversation ensued between the District Attorney and defendant's counsel, which was followed by the shameful spectacle of a U. S. Commissioner sitting as a court of justice, assuming the role of prosecutor, and applying such epithets as "liar" to a grand juror, and a witness whose only fault had been to testify in evident sincerity to that which he believed was true.

To these proceedings the counsel for defendant interposed an objection, as the imputation of the Court was unjustifiable.

The witness for whom that attachment had been issued not having arrived, a continuance was had until this morning at 10 o'clock, at which hour the witness in the Penman case were instructed to be present.

As the witnesses were leaving the room, the Commissioner called to Mr. Coles, "Here, you come back," but after the discussion the defendant's counsel persuaded the Court to be merciful enough to let the old gentleman go, without security for his re-appearance to-day.

At 10 o'clock this morning the defendant and witnesses were all present, but the prosecuting attorney, who left on a visit to California last evening, was not represented, and a recess was taken. At half-past eleven Mr. Varian, assistant prosecutor, arrived, and the case was proceeded with.

Mrs. Coles, the witness who had not answered the subpoena, was also present. The officer who went to serve the writ of attachment, did not find the witness, who appeared of her own volition on being subpoenaed, and she was wanted.

Mrs. Sarah A. Coles was called and sworn. She was John Coles' wife; lived at Bountiful; Elizabeth Coles was her daughter; Thomas Walton did not know that her daughter was married to the defendant or anyone else; she was 21 years old and lived at home; knew Electa Walton, wife of Thomas Walton, who lived at Bountiful.

The Commissioner here explained the testimony given at the former examination, as Mr. Varian was not then present, and stated that he did not think the testimony material under the present complaint.

Mr. Varian stated that he was not willing to make an affidavit under oath, and continued the examination of the witness, as follows: Defendant did not make application to her to marry her daughter; he had been at her house as a teacher in the Church; she had never been married to anyone; she had never passed the night in John's house; Elizabeth had been assisting Mrs. Walton in dressmaking; and had stayed one night at Mrs. Walton's when they had been working late.

Mrs. Coles was then excused. By consent the charge against Thomas Walton was dismissed, and the witness, including Mr. Coles, discharged.

The witnesses in the Penman case were also discharged. From this time the case was closed.

THE Memorial Services.—The meeting called to make arrangements for proper memorial services on the day of Gen. Grant's funeral, convened in the Federal Court Room last evening. Rev. J. B. Thrall was elected chairman, and H. G. McMillan secretary. A motion was carried, authorizing the chairman to appoint a committee of seven to make arrangements for a memorial meeting, the chairman to be an ex-officio member; until this morning was allowed to choose the committee, which is as follows: Gen. P. E. Conner, James Sharp, Geo. M. Scott, Major E. Wilkes, F. L. Williams, Frank Hoffman and Rev. J. B. Thrall. It was stated in the meeting that Gen. McCook desired to co-operate with the citizens and take part in the services.

The G. A. R. of this city also met last evening, passed appropriate resolutions, and appointed a committee of memorial services, as follows: Frank Hoffman, Capt. E. M. Byrnes, Governor E. H. Murray, James Withersell, Col. Page, E. T. Sprague and Elijah Sells.

The two committees will meet this evening to prepare a programme for the day of the funeral.

A Fatal Shot.—On Thursday last John Mealey died at St. John's Hospital in this city, from the effects of a bullet wound received over ten years since. While the deceased was working at Ogden, in 1874, he had an altercation with the keeper of a restaurant, named Johnson. The latter challenged Mealey to a duel, and the challenge was accepted, and the hour of meeting named. Johnson afterward claimed that he was not in earnest, but when the appointed hour arrived he appeared, and seeing Mealey approach, fully armed and prepared, took deliberate aim from his place of ambush, and fired. The bullet struck Mealey in the left shoulder, and, ranging downward, lodged in the lung, and could not be found. From that time the wounded man was a invalid until death ended his sufferings.

Marble.—We received a few days since from Bishop Wm. Holmes, of Bloomington, Bear Lake County, Idaho, a couple of samples of marble from an extensive quarry found recently about three miles from his home. In color the stone is somewhat similar to Scotch granite, and it easily obtained it will doubtless be very useful for many purposes, but the specimens sent us are not of sufficiently even grain, and contain too many flinty particles to admit of a very fine polish. Though the ledge may improve as it is quarried.

WEST POINT CADETSHIP.

A COMPETITIVE EXAMINATION TO BE HELD BEFORE A COMPETENT BOARD.

Having been invited by the Secretary of War to nominate a legally qualified candidate for appointment as cadet to the United States Military Academy from the Territory of Utah, who must be at West Point not later than the 11th day of June, 1886, and as there will be several applicants for the nomination, I have decided to submit the choice to a competitive examination before a board of officers appointed in accordance with the suggestions of the Department. The examination will be held in this city on Saturday, the 29th day of August, 1885, at such place as may hereafter be directed. The applicant whom the board shall decide is best qualified, usually to master the academic course of study, and physically to long and arduous military service, will receive the nomination.

The following briefly the qualifications for entrance to the military academy: The age for the admission of cadets is between seventeen and twenty-two years. Candidates must be unmarried, at least five feet in height, free from any infectious or immoral disorder, and generally from any deformity, disability or injury which would render them unfit for military service. They must be well versed in reading, writing, including orthography, in arithmetic, and have a knowledge of the elements of English grammar, of descriptive geography (especially of our own country) and of the history of the United States.

Further particulars may be had by addressing me at Salt Lake City. Those wishing to compete should notify me at an early date as possible. Applicants must be actual residents of Utah Territory.

JOHN T. CAIN,
Salt Lake City, July 24th, 1885.

A CHALLENGE.

SALT LAKE CITY, July 25, 1885.
To J. W. Sumner & Co's Base Ball Nine.

In consequence of our not being able to finish the game at the late contest we had with you, and feeling that the same went against us through no fault of our own, we hereby challenge you to a friendly game of base ball, to take place at the Lake on Tuesday, July 28, 1885.

Yours truly,
Captain 16th Ward B. B. B. Nine.

Late in Getting the News.—The good people of Granite Ward had arranged for a celebration of Pioneer Day, and being situated in an out-of-the-way place, failed to get the news of General Grant's death, and accordingly assembled yesterday morning at the Butteville school house and were entertained from 10 a. m. until 1 p. m. with songs, recitations, dialogues, speeches, etc., after which picnic was taken. It was a very successful affair, and a dance and other social pastimes afterwards. Just as they had finished their meal, however, news arrived of the illustrious death and national mourning, and all further amusement for the day was immediately abandoned, and the people returned to their homes.

Drowned.—Yesterday morning a number of boys went bathing in the Jordan river, a little south of the black bridge, on Third South Street. One of the first to enter the stream was Nils Otto Ellison, a boy between 10 and 11 years of age, who ventured out too far, and not being able to swim, was caught by the current and drawn into an eddy, where he sank. Several of his comrades endeavored to rescue him, but without avail, and he soon disappeared. Some men near by were hailed, but when they arrived at the place, nothing was to be seen. The boys to recover the body have so far been unsuccessful. The parents of the unfortunate boy, who was an only son and a bright, intelligent child, came to Utah about four years ago, and now reside in the Thirteenth Ward. They have the sympathy of the whole community in their sad bereavement.

Theatre.—On Thursday evening the Theatre was well filled by an appreciative audience to witness "The Shadow of a Great City," on its first presentation. The rendition of this due melodrama fully justified the reputation which preceded its performance. The plot of the play is skillfully woven, and the interest of the audience is never allowed to fall, from the commencement to the close. The stage settings and scenery were exceptionally good, and the most telling scenes in the piece were the rock and river scene in the second act, the escape from Blackwell's Island and the crowning climax—the vault scene in the last act.

Mrs. Adams, who has always been a great favorite with the Salt Lake public, never appeared to better advantage than in the characters of "Mrs. Standish" and "Helen Standish," the impersonations being careful and natural. Mrs. Deaves, as "Biddy Jones," was a fine specimen of the good-hearted Irishwoman. Mr. Morrison, who is one of the most talented actors in the country, won the hearty applause of the audience in his impersonation of the noble-hearted sailor. All the other characters were well sustained, and the play moved on without a fault, and was received with enthusiasm.

Yesterday's matinee performance was witnessed by full house, and the Theatre was well filled again last evening. To-night the engagement of the company closes.

Theft Arrested.—About a week ago a robbery occurred at the City Hotel in this city, and by request of the officers, the news was not published. On Monday last complaint was made by the owner of the stolen property, Bill Simmons, of Brigham, in the Police Court; the property taken consisted of a watch, gold chains, bracelets and other jewelry, and was valued at about $200. The police suspected a person who had formerly been a member of the Fort Douglas band, but had deserted about a year since, and Marshal Phillips took measures for his apprehension. The officers at Ogden arrested a man who answered the description of the individual wanted, but his prisoner declared that he had never been in Salt Lake City in his life, and acted in such a way as to cause some doubt as to his being the right party. On Thursday Officer Salmon went to Ogden to take charge of the prisoner, and recognized him as Ervin Jeff, the man wanted. Jeff tried to play his bluff game on Mr. Salmon, but the officer drily remarked that he knew Jeff as well as he did a "bad cuss," and took him in custody. When the prisoner found that he was recognized, he declared to the officer that the whole thing was a "put up job" on him, and that he knew nothing of the affair.

Jeff was brought to this city and lodged in jail. When arrested there was no money or valuables on his person, and none of the jewelry has as yet been secured. The trial was in progress before Justice Speirs this afternoon.

Mr. Harry Williams, Druggist and Notary Public, Greenville, Cal., writes: "I have seen more benefit derived from a single application of St. Jacobs Oil than any remedy I have ever used or used in twenty years."
