WHOLESALE MEAT IS LOW.

Rumor of Organization of Independent
Meat Shops is Confirmed by Packing Company Official.

The longer the search light of an aroused public opinion is centered on the prevailing commercial practice, the more things come to light that contribute to the present famine prices and to the destruction of the trade principles that have kept conditions normal in the past.

The huxters of fruit and vegetables, and the farmer peddler are not the only people ruled off Salt Lake's streets by a high license. The milk peddler, who one time drove into town to sell the output from his half dozen cows, is now a thing of the past, along with the peddler who is taxed his $88 per season for one wagon.

I. N. Barnett, manager of the Elgin Creamery, gave an interview to the "News" two weeks ago in which he said that butter ought to be fifty cents a pound, and milk much higher than it is, because these commodities have not raised while beef has gone up along with many other food products.

BLAME HIGH LICENSE.

Today Mr. Barnett was seen and he declared that his firm could sell milk much cheaper, and also cream, if the present prohibitive license was removed. He also declared that the Elgin creamery, and the Empire creamery, are in trouble with the license department because they refuse to pay it. Applied to the small farmer and the man with a few cows, who used to sell his surplus milk to a "route" of customers, he says that it simply drives them from the field.

PROTESTS TO MAYOR.

When asked definitely whether his firm would lower the price of milk if the license were lowered, he said that he could afford to lower it, and that the admitting of farmer peddlers again would adjust that matter. Today one of the licensees has a special one imposed in addition to taxes and the merchant's license, and for his firm makes a fee of $400 per year in addition to his regular license and taxes. Protest has already gone to Mayor Bransford about the high price of vegetables and its relationship to the high tariff imposed on hucksters. Today one of the largest creamery operators blames a similar license for eliminating competition in milk and cream, and leaving the business in the hands of a trio of large operators.

AS TO BUTCHERS.

Another important feature of local business affairs came to light today. One of the largest cattle men in the city declares that local butcher shops are getting their meat today 33-1-3 per cent cheaper than they did last winter, and yet he asks the butcher to show a single case where this reduction in prices from the winter to the summer schedule has been allowed to leak on down through to the consumer. The same party suggests that a fertile field for newspaper work would be to take the railroad freight rates of the past five years, list the commodities on which the freight has been reduced, and then find traces of corresponding reductions in the prices allowed the consumer.

NOT IN COMBINE.

A few days ago George Morgan of the Vienna cafe, referred to the local jobbers as "wellish" in their demands. Today the cattleman quoted above declares that word "hoggish" is the only fit one to apply to their public attitude in the matter of prices. He confirms a declaration that the new North Salt Lake packing plant will not be in the combine, and will try to build up the western cattle market by selling through independent shops. If necessary, meat at reasonable prices, 33 per cent and more, under the prices charged at present.

Lorenzo Jensen, who has had the task of defending the combine's end of the present controversy, is ready with an explanation of meat conditions. He has prepared a list of meat showing the weight of each cut, and the profit the butcher makes upon it. But he gives prices as the amount received which are about 25 per cent under what anybody can buy meat for, but by cut, when he faces a butcher with his map, and tries to purchase at the prices quoted.

SCHEDULE OF PRICES.

Even the sum of $16.50 is shown as the selling price of a thousand pound steer, a profit of about 25 per cent. The price given on this schedule are neck, 24 pounds at 4 cents; chuck steak, 288 pounds at 7 cents; (it costs a buyer 10 cents) prime ribs, 96 pounds at 14 cents; (cost to buyer 18 to 20 cents); porterhouse, 10 pounds at 18 cents; (bought at 25 cents by purchaser); rump, 64 pounds at 8 cents; round, 116 pounds at 12 1/2 cents; brisket, 62 pounds at 3 cents; front shank, 42 pounds at 2 cents; plate, 96 pounds at 4 cents; flank, 76 pounds at 4 cents; rear shanks, 76 pounds at 3 cents.

It was declared today that butchers are selling at these prices, and 20 per cent added when you try to buy, a few meat which now costs them about 3 cents per pound, giving them a profit of the difference between over $5.50 and $8.00, on each 1,000 pounds handled.

JEWETT'S STORY OF MARRIED LIFE

The story of the married life of George W. Jewett, the crippled newsman who has a stand at the postoffice, and his wife Christina J. Jewett, whom he married on Sept. 23, 1894, is being heard before Judge Morse today. Jewett was on the witness stand all morning, telling his side of the case. Several times during his testimony as to his wife deserting him, his voice trembled with emotion and he had to stop some little time to regain his composure before being able to proceed. He declared that his wife quit him because he was a cripple, and wanted him sent to the poorhouse. She also ordered him out of the house and insisted that his lodge take care of him after he became a cripple.

He stated that he was an inspector for one of the local roads, and in January, 1905, he fell from the top of a car and was seriously injured. He was in the hospital for 40 days and he came out a cripple for life. He has since been unable to do heavy work, and has started a news stand.

FUNERAL NOTICE.

The funeral of Claud C. M. Davis, son of Maud S. Klein of San Francisco, will take place at the undertaking parlor of Joseph E. Taylor, Wednesday at 1 p. m. The deceased was born Sept. 1, 1885, and died Sept. 2, 1907.

GEORGE SHEETS ARRAIGNED.

Ex-Chief of Police Takes Time to Enter Plea.

Former Chief of Police George Sheets was arraigned before Judge Morse in the district court at 2 p. m. this afternoon upon the charge of accepting a bribe of $1,500 from the gang which robbed the McWhirter brothers in this city last September. Sheets was accompanied in court by two of his attorneys, E. A. Christensen and E. A. Wagoner. Mr. Christensen asked that he be given until Saturday morning at 10 a. m. to plead, and an order to that effect was entered by Judge Morse. The case against Sheets was presented in court in behalf of the state. It is very probable that the defense will make an attempt to have the case dismissed before the ex-chief enters his plea.

The case against John Halverson, manager of the Salt Palace, charged with contributing to the delinquency of a juvenile by permitting him to frequent the beer garden at that resort, was again continued by Judge Owens to the juvenile court today for one week.

HATCHETS AND OIL CANS.

Ninety Days at Hard Labor, Sentence
Meted Out to Clarence Walters
—Preston Arraigned.

Family quarrels occupied the greater portion of this morning's session of the city police court.

The fun was started by the airing of the Mazzuchelli-Coleman case. Mrs. Angelo Mazzuchelli was the complaining witness and Florence Coleman, colored, the defendant. Mrs. Mazzuchelli and the Coleman woman are neighbors, in the 500 block, Second East. They are neighbors with a vengeance. A few days ago the Coleman woman started driving a nail in the top of the fence between the two houses. "I drew it on each nail," she explained this morning, "but this yere woman and her little girl told me to quit. They called me a black witch and worse things, your honor, and an oil can was loose on her handle, so it slipped and flew. That's all."

Mrs. Mazzuchelli's little daughter took the stand and said the colored woman threw the hatchet at her mother, making a dent in her forehead. Mrs. Coleman tried to get the witness to admit the hatchet proper was loose on her handle, but the girl was firm in her declarations that it was the defendant who flew off her handle.

WAS WORTH $5.

Judge Whittaker found the Coleman woman guilty as charged, and levied a fine of $5. With a broad smile on her face and an oil can tucked under her arm she went down stairs to settle with the city.

Larry Dehoney was charged with disturbing the peace. The scene of action, as the war correspondents say, now shifted to 50 South Fourth West. Mrs. Nellie Rolt with an infant in her arms was the first witness. On the evening of Aug. 23, I had a coal oil can," she began rapidly.

WOMAN'S LOST WORD.

"Never mind about the coal oil can—just tell what happened," corrected P. J. Daily, prosecuting attorney. "But I had this oil can," insisted the witness.

"Oh, very well," concluded the attorney hopefully. "Well, I took out my oil can," resumed the witness triumphantly, "and was going down to the store. Some children in the street began sassing me. You better be careful or I will catch you," I said, and then they said, 'You can't catch us,' they said, and then I said, 'I can't, can't I?' Just like that I said, and then I said, 'It's too bad a person can't walk up and down this street without being insulted by a pack of brats,' just like that I said, and then the defendant said, 'Whoa brats' and I said 'Your brats,' and then he raised his cane to strike some one."

"BAT AND BRATS."

A breathless little woman then stepped down from the stand and her place was taken by a Mr. McCune who had not been called upon to testify on the evening in mention but had heard him say something like "Get off the street you brats!" Mr. McCune then made a statement which was testified as Mrs. Rolt had done.

The defendant then took the stand and denied that he had ever seen Mrs. Rolt. He said he had seen her after his arrest as the complaining witness. He denied everything and said he would file a counter charge. A free-for-all argument was soon on among the persons connected with the case. The case was stopped to let the court render its verdict.

DEHONEY WAS FOUND GUILTY AS CHARGED.

Dehoney was found guilty as charged and fined $5. He showed no regret taken by the Coleman woman earlier. H. Hackett whose hearing upon the charge of battery was held a few days back, was found guilty this morning and will be sentenced tomorrow.

GETS LONG SENTENCE.

Clarence Walters, charged with indecent conduct was found guilty and sentenced to 90 days at hard labor in the city jail. The complaining witnesses were attaches of the Model Laundry on Orpheum avenue. Walters pleaded for leniency claiming an infirmity was the cause of his actions. The talk had no effect on the judge.

A. Paulson was charged with battery. One witness said he had seen Paulson beating a boy over the shoulder with a horse whip. The witness testified a boy sitting next to the defendant said the boy, Officer Siegfried did the same thing. When the boy took the stand he said he was not the boy all. "The boy the men saw my father scolding, not whipping, was my little brother who is in school today," he said. The father said he had not seen the boy, but he had seen the defendant in his hand when he chased him across the vacant lot near the Rio Grande depot for disobedience. While the case against Paulson looked weak it looked strong enough to the court to justify a fine of $15 being levied.

PRESTON ARRAIGNED.

Before Judge Whittaker called an adjournment of court this morning Frank Preston was arraigned. Preston is charged with burglarizing the residence of John F. Bennett at 176 D street on the night of the first. He was caught by Deputy Sheriff Joseph Sharp. Preston pleaded not guilty, waived a preliminary examination and was bound over to the district court. His bonds were fixed in the sum of $5,000.

CRIMINAL CASES.

Those to be tried in Judge Armstrong's Court.

Judge Armstrong today made a setting of criminal cases for trial in his court. The first case to be tried during the September term. The trials begin on Sept. 18 and on Oct. 8. The settings are as follows:

Sept. 18—State vs. James McFarney, robbery and grand larceny.
Sept. 18—State vs. Harry Reynolds, assault with deadly weapon.
Sept. 18—State vs. John Fleming and Thomas Moore, robbery.
Sept. 23—State vs. Martin F. Hoban, criminal assault.
Sept. 24—State vs. C. F. Ward, assault with deadly weapon.
Sept. 26—State vs. Joseph Smith, grand larceny.
Sept. 26—State vs. S. B. Dotson, assault with deadly weapon.
Sept. 26—State vs. J. J. Tuskula, murder first degree.
Oct. 2—State vs. Stanislaw Moch, murder first degree.
Oct. 8—State vs. Steve Bobich et al., riot.

SUIT FOR $5,000.

Filed Against Denver & Rio Grande
By Susan Felix.

Suit has been filed in the district court by Susan Felix, a professional nurse, against the Denver & Rio Grande Railway company to recover damages in the sum of $5,000 for personal injuries alleged to have been received while on a train on one of the defendant's trains near Pueblo, Colo., on April 2, 1906. While asleep on the train she alleged that a truss and cushion had crumpled and fallen on her, injuring her internally. She also asks for $250 for medical attendance and $150 for loss of time from her work.

GOES OUT OF BUSINESS.

Judge Morse today entered a decree of dissolution of the Belmont Mining company, in a motion leaving personal on the petition of the incorporators.

COURT NOTES.

Committee Meeting.—The committee on teachers and school work of the board of education held a meeting today noon in President Noyle's office. The regular monthly meeting of the board will be held tonight.

An action has been filed in the district court by the Parker Lumber company against Charles Clark et al. to foreclose a lien for $75 for lumber and material sold to defendants for the construction of a house on their property.

A petition for letters of administration of the estate of Sadie J. Burhardt, deceased, was filed in the probate division of the district court today by James C. Burhardt. Mrs. Burhardt died on Aug. 28, 1907, at the age of 52 years, and left a husband and three children. There are four heirs to the estate.

Anselmo De Campo filed a petition in the probate division of the district court today asking for letters of administration of the estate of John C. De Campo, who died at Brigham on Sept. 26, 1906. The estate consists of $50 wages due and also a claim for damages against the Utah Copper company. There are three heirs to the estate, a son and two children, who reside in Italy.

Wardamere drew its full share of patronage yesterday, more than 5,000 persons being in attendance at the beautiful suburban resort. Many of the visitors were from the towns south of the city, though Salt Lake was there in large numbers. Auto races and horse races were the features of the day's amusement. Bettor Fuller won the machine event over L. S. Moore, and afterwards raced against the world's record and failed to come very close to it. The horse races were by no means fast, but proved highly interesting.

WANDAMERE DREW GOOD PATRONAGE.

In the auto contest Moore took the first heat, and Fuller the other two, the time being 3:05, 2:57, and 3 minutes, respectively.

HAINNESS RACES.

The first harness race was between Jennie A. and Alzamo, the former winning both heats, in 2:25 1/2 and 2:23 1/2.

In the colt race Little Red, Robert C. Myrtle L. and Laura B. entered, the last named winning in 2:47 1/2. Forest Jay, owned by J. J. and Phil B. and came out winner, in 2:35.

The fourth race was between Jasper and Brownie, and Jasper proved the faster animal of the two, time 2:49 1/2.

RESORT CLOSING TODAY.

Today will close the season at Wandamere, as this date was left open for the south of the city, the people residing there being kept by the rain from taking advantage of the day previously assigned them. The season has been a very prosperous one with Wandamere, and the management expresses entire satisfaction at the results that have followed the heavy outlay of money for improvements.

WINNING NUMBERS IN DRAWING AT SALT LAKE.

According to the figures of the Salt Lake management 10,000 persons went to that resort yesterday, 8,000 of the number going on paid tickets. Despite the late hour of the season, 1,000 men and women went to bathing, not minding the water uncomfortably cold.

Prizes to the number of 100, and ranging in value from $1 to $100, were given away, the lucky coupons being as follows: The first number indicating the prize, the second the winning slip of paper, with the amount of award:

AMUSEMENTS.

Theater—"The Prince of Pilsen" comes Friday evening, and will run Saturday afternoon and night. Without doubt it will have a great reception.

Orpheum—Standing room was in demand at the Orpheum last night, both stairs and down and account for such an unusual Monday evening turnout. The fact that it was Labor day must share responsibility with the fall in temperature.

The day deserved a better bill. While the collection offered is never bad, it fails to reach the standard so far attained in this city. There are the Bell-culture brothers in physical culture, and five others that vary downward in merit from a shade below the first class, to about the level of the second. It would be hard to improve upon, and one that pleases on account of its excellent execution, as well as on account of its variety and pleasure. Its finale has not been surpassed in the Orpheum's history.

Prof. Wess, a crayon artist who works with both hands, opened the bill and does some excellent things, but accompanies them with alleged humorous comment much inferior to his handiwork. World and Kingston have a variety act, and dancing act which contains many clever touches, the man and woman each having about equal opportunities in this line. Frank Seymour and Emma Lauder, a well known musical comedy duo, are in the bill. The shooting of guns and hammering of slaps in the wings. They are so clever, however, in their timing of their act, and the handiwork of their accessories, and thoroughly delight the audience between noises.

The Five Byrons appear in musical numbers on half of about fifteen instruments, and succeed on each. They introduce a novelty in going through a number of evolutions built for chorus work, but playing with the orchestra. The numbers by Willard Wolfe's orchestra—without Mr. Welthe this week—are especially attractive, and one set of kindred music is an excellent one, while two are ordinary. The bill continues throughout the week with the addition of "The Kinsons," who failed to appear last night, and a variety act by a lady with an announced "grand opera" reputation and a voice which only provoked mirth and untimely applause in the noisier portion of the house.

AT THE HOTELS.

S. A. Hutchinson, of Chicago, manager of the tourist department of the Chicago, Union Pacific, and North-western line, arrived in the city this morning with his third special train of tourists and immediately took his party, consisting of 51 persons, to the Grand Hotel. Arrangements having previously been made for the extra patronage, the Seeling Salt Lake car immediately took the entire party on board and escorted them over the city. At 1:30 the party left for Salt Lake beach, from where they will visit the tabernacle grounds and attend the party leaves at 5 o'clock. The Rio Grande this evening at 6:15 in their special train. These excursions are very popular in Chicago, the number traveling averaging about 50 each trip. The train consists of six coaches, including barber shop, reading room, composite library buffet, smoking car and bath.

George Kroko, a prominent Japanese gentleman from Tokio, Japan, is registered at the Hotel Monterey. He is expected to arrive this morning. Mr. Kroko secured a carriage and spent the greater part of the day viewing the sights of the city.

Marvin W. Nye, a prominent business man of Denver, is in the city and will stay at the Hotel Monterey. He is expected to arrive this morning. Mr. Nye is a very successful business man and is attending to some business in the city.

W. D. Thompson of Green River, Utah, with D. C. Evans, of Scripps, Utah, are guests at the Cullen while transacting business in the city.

Louis Margolin of Washington, D. C., who is connected with the United States field survey, left this morning after a brief visit in the city. He was a guest at the Kanyon.

DAUGHTERS OF PIONEERS.

Meeting With Unique Features Scheduled for Tomorrow Evening.

A glimpse at the programs of the Daughters of the Pioneers for the coming season shows the program committee doing the summer vacation. They are very full of interest, taking up the anatomy and ethnology of the Jews from the time of Abraham to the Savior.

At the open or public meetings, living pioneers will recount some of their experiences in the past. Proper music has been selected for each season and in Salt Lake county's society this music will be under the direction of Mrs. Flora Bean Horne.

These reminiscences of this society have been opened so that the public may get a peep at them on Wednesday afternoon. One and five, Mrs. Anna Young in Card has added a large collection of Indian curios brought from the mountains of Arizona and New Mexico recently.

This society of the Daughters of the Pioneers is about to introduce a very new feature into their regular meetings. They are inviting all members and visitors to bring their children and young people to the meetings and sewing, and thus make use of their busy fingers while their minds are kept in the interesting and profitable work of the society. And thus they will back up to the times of their ancestors and live like a very pleasant remembrance of the ancient sewing circle of the old Salt Lake pioneers.

The first meeting of the season will be held Sept. 4 at 8 o'clock in the society's rooms in the Lion House.

Family Theater—"This new place" of recent attraction and audiences and people are well pleased with the lively productions offered there.

LATE LOCALS.

Meeting of Board.—The state board of examiners met today in the office of Secy. of State Tingey and approved the bills for the National Guard encampment amounting to about $4,800.

Edward Martin Dead.—Edward Martin, a well known young man, residing for some years in this city at 7675 East Third South street, died this noon, from ailments of long standing, at the age of about 50.

Poultry Meeting Thursday.—A meeting of the Utah State Poultry association will be held Thursday evening, Sept. 5, 1907, at 8 o'clock at the Commercial club. The public is cordially invited to attend.

County Fees.—County Clerk Eldredge reports the fees of his office for the month of August to be $9,855.88 as compared with $1,817 for the same month last year, making an increase this August over last August of $12,448.38.

Bank Clearings.—Today's local bank clearings amounted to $1,235,952.19 as against $767,778.64 for the same day last year. The fact of yesterday's being a holiday, accounts largely for the remarkable increase in the day's clearings.

Remains Brought Here.—The remains of J. R. Flacker who died of lung troubles the other day at Millford, were brought to this city, today, by Undertaker O'Donnell preparatory to shipment to Mexico, Mo., for interment.

Cooler Weather.—The local weather office continues to get out such a daily weather map as it is able, under present telegraphic conditions. The local mercury scored 83 yesterday afternoon, but today it is cooler because of the cloudy skies and slight precipitation. Local showers and cooler weather are predicted for the morrow.

Level of Lake.—The level of the great lake is 2 1/2 feet above the zero mark, as against 5 of a foot for the same date a year ago. The difference of 2 1/2 feet gives rise to the belief that by another year, there will be a further rise of 2 1/2 feet, which ought to cover entirely the stretches of dry and barren shore line.

Tailor Shop Robbed.—Burglars carried away nearly $1,000 worth of fancy silk vest patterns and finished garments from the George W. Putnam tailor establishment, 21 East First South street, some time between Saturday evening and yesterday morning. The burglary was not discovered until yesterday morning as Mr. Putnam did not visit his store Sunday. Detectives are working on the case.

No Council Meeting.—Unless a call is issued late this afternoon for a special meeting of the city council tonight at 8 p. m. there will be no meeting Monday night. When the council adjourned last Monday night it made no provision for meeting tonight hence the meeting cannot be held unless a call is issued for a special meeting. Up to a late hour no call had been issued hence it is not likely that the council will meet this week at all.

Winter Schedule.—The fall and winter schedule of the Salt Lake road went into effect today. Trains leave Salt Lake at 9:30 a. m. and 1:15 p. m., arriving Salt Lake on the return at 12 noon and 2:30 p. m. Every Saturday at 3 p. m. there will be a train to the pavilion to accommodate the dancing public, and on Sunday, to accommodate the tourists, a special will leave this city at 4:15 p. m. The regular fare now is 40 cents.

Notices of Warning.—Members of the Salt Lake High school, have posted red and black notices about town warning "Plebe" or fourth classmen, or "Freshies" as they are affectionately known, not to properly circulate about their behavior on the school campus, and not to presume to wear certain styles of attire, to retire early to bed in the evening, and act very
