

to which the U. of U. students had been invited.

The members of the U. of U. Extracurricular association, comprising 30 ladies and 30 gentlemen, were the guests of the academy during the matinee Saturday afternoon. Visitors and all, the number of Salt Lake who partook of the pleasures of the afternoon, was about 150. They left behind them a very agreeable impression from the point of view of social culture.

Capt. Hobson is to lecture to us on Wednesday evening, the 29th instant.

Mr. Willard Andelin created a sensation during the meeting of the Press association by his Turnkey song from "Ermine," which is now being prepared by the choir for presentation at the close of school. His deep bass voice was a revelation to most of the students. To the enthusiastic encore he naively responded by giving everybody a cordial invitation to the opera.

BEAVER BRANCH B. Y. A.

Beaver—One of the most enjoyable times of the present school year was the domestic stake officers were held last Saturday evening and Sunday. There were present of the Church authorities Elders Rudger Clawson and Jonathan G. Kimball; from the academy at Provo President B. Cluff, Jr., Eugene Roberts, Joseph Anderson and Joseph Johnson.

Reports from members of the faculty and the domestic stake officers were given and many important items of instruction given by the visiting brethren.

In attendance at school there are representatives from the following stakes: Beaver, Pangulth, Parowan, St. George, Kanab, Millard and Uintah, the enrollment for the present year having reached 240.

The visitors occupied the time at devotional on Monday morning leaving for Millard at noon on their return home.

Concert hall was crowded on Sunday, there being in attendance about 600 people.

The different classes are now at work on their commencement programs.

The physical geography class intend going to the sulphur beds on Saturday to study conditions in that locality.

Prof. and Mrs. A. B. Christensen and Messrs. Larsen and Clark who have been engaged in the St. George schools the past year were visitors at school Wednesday.

BRIGHAM YOUNG COLLEGE

Logan, April 23.—The operetta "The Merry Milkmaids" will complete its season tomorrow afternoon. The production is given by the musical department of the college under the direction of Prof. W. O. Robinson. The company has given several performances, and has met with great success each time. The first performance was undertaken in the Thatcher Opera House, which was filled completely. The performers called forth great applause from a cheering audience, which was very well satisfied with the entertainment.

The next performance was given in the Hyrum Opera House and all the people of that village turned out, and were highly pleased with the cheerful performance of the Merry Milkmaids and Jolly Farmers.

Last Saturday night the company played in Smithfield with the usual success, and on Friday afternoon, April 24, it will tender a free performance in the Thatcher Opera House to the old folks of Cache stake. The company has been well received and applauded wherever it has gone, and it has many encouragements and enticements to go elsewhere, but the busy work of the students who are in it will, of course, prevent further performance.

The boys of the baseball team wore their new crimson suits for the first time, in a match game with the Hyde Park team on Wednesday afternoon. The college team owns defeat by a score of 8 to 10. This is the first game, however, and the boys expect to be the champions of the state before the close of the school year. Nearly all the points they scored on Wednesday night were made in the last few innings, indicating a great improvement over the visiting team during the latter part of the game.

The last series of the Clark-Babcock recitals will be given in the assembly hall on Saturday at 3 o'clock by Miss Babcock of the University of Utah.

A meeting of the board of trustees was held at the college last Tuesday. Nearly all the members of the board were in attendance, including President Joseph F. Smith and Bishop Preston, who came up from Salt Lake City. Every one at the college and also the people of Logan highly appreciated the visit of President Smith, and many turned out to hear a very excellent address given by him at chapel exercises on Tuesday morning. The address was a practical one, and infused everyone with a new zeal and courage to become prepared for the practical labors and duties of life. We all feel greatly benefited for having heard that address. Bishop Preston also made some very good remarks.

At the meeting of the board President Linford reported an increase in number of students of 103 over the previous year, and very efficient work having been done by teachers and students. The trustees were highly pleased with the work accomplished in all the departments established in the college, and they further decided to establish a department of civil engineering which will begin next year. All the work of arrangements for next year was not completed by the trustees, and was left to be finished up by the executive committee in the near future.

The girls of the cooking department, under the direction of Miss Homer, served dinner to the board of trustees on Tuesday. This feature is a new thing, of course, as this is the first year of the cooking department and the trustees were highly pleased with the success of it.

Prof. Vernon has built a fine new modern residence on the corner of First and Second North streets, a very desirable part of the city to live in. It is almost completed, and the professor will move into it early in the summer.

WEBER STAKE ACADEMY.

Ogden—Miss McKay and Manager Nelson accompanied the basketball team to Provo this morning, the former to chaperone the girls.

Prof. Bradford took his physical geography class out on the foothills east of the city where they investigated the old shore line of Lake Bonneville and inspected the "Alluvial Fans."

A goodly number of our graduates are already engaged for next school year at good salaries.

The Sunday school students under direction of Miss McKay have just commenced the drawing of large maps of Palestine to be used in their Sunday school work.

The training class with Principal McKay, visited the University Training school on Friday and observed the objective teaching of geography, history and domestic science. They report having had a very enjoyable and profitable time.

Whitaker is something hot on the wane in the academy. Our baseball team now thoroughly organized with W. M. McKendrick, manager, and Thomas Whitaker captain. Like the girls' team, they secured a victory in the first league game over the Business college of Ogden with the healthy score of 18 to 10. Their next game will be played with the Ogden High school on the 28th.

Last Friday, a week ago, the B. Y. college ladies' basketball team came down and contested with our girls. The game was spirited and swift throughout, and while the field work on the part of the Logan five was almost as good as the W. S. A. five, their basket pitching was inferior. The game resulted in a victory for W. S. A., 19 to 4. This is the first game of the season. The girls left this morning for Provo where they play the B. Y. academy team tonight at 8 p. m.

J. C. Jensen of the Wasatch Stake presidency, and one of the trustees for that district, paid us a visit Thursday afternoon, with a view of becoming acquainted with our graduates. This looks like some vacancies in the academy force of that district are to be filled, as well as the principalship of the High school. This method, at this early date, of securing good live teachers is a good one and we commend it to all trustees.

Last Tuesday afternoon, Prof. Lund took his botany class on an excursion for the purpose of doing field work in this study. The excursion was by the "bi-pedal"—the word is ours, route; as a result, the members not only returned with dinner pails full of very valuable botanical specimens for examination and classification, but with sore and stiff muscles, declaring that Prof. Lund was a hard man to follow doing field work. Some with more abbreviated legs than others declared he would walk a person to death.

Principal McKay called the prospective graduates together today, and gave them the valuable instruction relative to their graduation. He impressed upon them the importance of this step in their lives. He also impressed upon them that they were going out from their Alma Mater as Alumnus, and to consider the proposition seriously of or-gaining an Alumni association at our next commencement, which must be characterized with loyalty and dignity. The academy adjourned school for half a day last Monday to attend stake conference. Classes in the afternoon went on as usual.

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

Logan—The students of the commercial and engineering departments have arranged for a track meet on May 11. An interesting contest is assured.

Mrs. F. S. Madison of the city, and A. L. Woodhouse of Provo, were visitors at the college last Wednesday.

The Citizens' Congressional convention, to which 65 persons from the various counties of Utah were admitted on proper credentials, held its opening session last Monday evening. Mr. E. C. McCarty was elected temporary chairman and Mr. Bennett, secretary. Mr. Y. C. Callister was selected as permanent chairman and Mr. Bennett, secretary. A committee on resolutions was appointed and will be ready to report at the next meeting. The purpose of the convention is to give practical training in parliamentary procedure.

Prof. Clark is busy looking after the improvements about the barns, and is supervising the purchasing of livestock.

Next year instruction will be given students in dressing, cutting and curing of meats, in connection with the slaughtering experiments to be conducted.

Large forces are at work now under the direction of the professors of agronomy and horticulture, on the farm and in the orchards.

Mr. J. W. Jensen of Salt Lake has accepted the position as assistant professor of civil engineering. He is a graduate of the A. C. and also of Harvard, and at present is professor of mathematics in the L. D. S. U.

Misses Amanda Holmgren and M. Elizabeth Wyant have instructorships in the department of English. The former is a graduate of the college and has been a graduate student at the university of Chicago for the past year. The latter is a graduate of the Iowa normal school and the university of Michigan and is at present instructor in English in the Ogden High school. They both come excellently equipped for the work.

The class in Zoology with Prof. Ball have taken their examination, on invertebrates and will begin the study of vertebrates next week.

A hall will be given by the physical culture class on next Saturday evening. The special features of the evening will be a band drill by the girls, gorgeous decorations and fruit punch.

The range and equipment for the additional kitchen for the domestic science department have arrived and the overcrowded condition of the present rooms will be relieved.

The geology class is now engaged in field work.

The baseball team is in practise each afternoon.

Prof. Hill expects to spend next year in post-graduate work at the University of Michigan for his master's degree. His host of friends here join in wishes for a pleasant and successful year.

A large number of bound volumes of periodicals have just arrived at the library from the bookbinders.

The librarian, Mrs. Goodwin, now has complete files of all the bulletins published by the various land grant colleges.

The catalogue of the summer school is now ready for mailing. The prospects are flattering for a large attendance.

The graduates of the college seem to be in demand. Letters are received by President Kerr almost daily asking him to recommend graduates for various positions. The demand is in excess of the supply.

The Agricultural College Woman's club met with Mrs. Champ last Monday. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Mrs. A. M. Fleming, president; Mrs. E. D. Ball, secretary; Mrs. W. S. Langton, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. F. S. Madison, treasurer. The final meeting of the year was then discussed and committees appointed to make arrangements for it. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Fleming and the time will be occupied with discussions on British masters.

President Joseph F. Smith and wife visited the college last Tuesday. They spent the afternoon in being shown
