

COMMISSARY FRAUDS IN MANILA

Trial of James V. Reed Commenced.

DAMAGING EVIDENCE GIVEN

Tends to Show That He Solicited
Bribes from Various Firms and Individuals.

Manila, April 29.—The trial of Capt. James V. Reed, former depot commissary at Manila and who was arrested about a fortnight ago for alleged participation in the commissary frauds, was begun here today, and bids fair to develop into a considerable case. Capt. Reed is charged with soliciting and receiving bribes and with other official misconduct.

At the beginning of the trial counsel for the defendant objected to the jurisdiction of the court, alleging that under an act promulgated in 1901 officers of the regular establishment are not eligible as members of a court-martial. The defense further denied that a court-martial was convened at Manila today, and alleged that the court was convened by W. Davis, is authorized to convene a general court-martial, and that the charges against Reed were referred to a court-martial by court-martial should be referred to the fact that several members of the court were of inferior rank to Capt. Reed. All these objections were overruled, and the hearing of testimony was begun.

Mr. Schindler, manager of the Al-Mex cigar factory, testified that in November Capt. Reed had told him that Maj. George B. Davis, who was then depot commissary before Capt. Reed, but who was sent to the United States on sick leave and whose name appears on the books of Evans & Co., a short in his accounts. Continuing, Mr. Schindler testified that the government had asked to assist in making good Maj. Davis's deficiency. Schindler paid Capt. Reed $100, which was given to him by the commissary department during the time that Maj. Davis was depot commissary at Manila.

An officer named Franklin, who was assistant commissary, testified to the effect that on March 18th and following the direction of a superior officer he received $1,000 from Maj. Davis, and that he was to use it to make good the deficiency of Maj. Davis. Schindler testified that during the preliminary investigation of the commissary frauds, Capt. Reed admitted having received money from Schindler and others and gave as an excuse that the money so received was intended to cover Maj. Davis's shortage.

Davis's Richard H. Townley of the navy, at present superintendent of the Manila naval school, testified that as a result of a complaint made by Capt. Reed to him, he had been ordered to investigate the matter. Townley testified that he had been ordered to investigate the matter, and that he had been ordered to investigate the matter, and that he had been ordered to investigate the matter.

REORGANIZING THE ARMY.

Effort to be Made to Have All Completed by August 1.

It is Apprehended that There May be Difficulty in the Matter of Officering It.

New York, April 30.—A special to the Tribune from Washington says: At the war department it is said that efforts are being made to have the reorganized standing army fully officered and equipped and enlisted to the strength of 75,000 by August 1. More apprehension is felt over getting the full quota of competent line officers by the date mentioned than over the recruiting of the fifteen new regiments. Except for this, it is probable that Secy. Root and Adj. Gen. Corbin would have accomplished the President on his western trip.

It is true that nearly all of the 800 or more line officers of the grades of first and second lieutenants created by the new law have been designated by the President, but every one of these appointments must be confirmed by the Senate. The President has also designated the first and second lieutenants of the regular army are issued to them. On the law of averages it is estimated by experienced army officers that fully one-third and perhaps half of those originally designated by the President for appointment will fail either on mental or physical examination, and this process will be continued until the full quota of subalterns created by the new law is complete. It is not thought that the examination will be in full swing for six weeks or two months, and this expectation is based on the reckoning that not until August 1 will all the new officers be selected.

This will not interfere with the organization of the new regiments or the sending of fresh troops to the Philippines to take the place of the retreating volunteers.

This work will keep pace with recruiting by detailing line officers from the old to new regiments for temporary duty.

FIVE MINERS KILLED.

By Explosion in Coal Mine at Alderson, I. T.

South McAliston, I. T., April 29.—Five miners were killed outright today, and others injured, as a result of an explosion at the coal mine at Alderson, owned by the Choctaw, Oklahoma & Gulf railroad, and operated by the McAliston coal company.

DEAD.

Emmanuel Taylor, John and Wiley Clark, all colored. Andrew Pezole and Dominic Wesulity, Italians.

INJURED.

Ed Andrews, Pat Woods, Paul Saulsack, Most Garrett, three men, names unknown.

MISSING.

Joe Petronich.

The explosion occurred about a quarter before 7 this morning at about the time when the engine and the men were at work in the mine at the time. It is not definitely known how the gas ignited, but it seems probable that some of the men fired a missed shot.

The dead were all asphyxiated. The explosion was not severe, as others working in other parts of the mine did not hear it, and the engine at the shaft would have heard no noise, but saw some smoke arise. No damage was done to the mine.

COLONIAL OFFICES CONGRESS.

Chief of Statistics Austin Will Represent United States.

New York, April 30.—O. P. Austin, chief of the bureau of statistics of the treasury department, will sail for Europe today on important government business. His mission primarily is to collect at first hand statistics on the foreign commerce of Great Britain, Germany, France and other countries of the world, and to attend the annual congress of European colonial offices, to be held at The Hague in June. The United States has never before been represented in this congress, because heretofore this government has had no direct interest in colonial questions. The congress is composed of all the chief colonial officers of the European countries which rule colonies, and Mr. Austin is expected to gather data of much value to the commerce of the United States, and soon to exchange views with the insular possessions recently acquired.

Nerves that Die

For lack of nourishment are just as dead as though they were severed with a knife. In either case the base of supplies has been interfered with. Nerves that need nourishing make their wants known through headache, backache, loss of appetite, indigestion, fluttering of the heart, irritability, sleeplessness, and general weakness. Feed the hungry nerves, build them up and make them strong and vigorous, full of vim, vitality and power, with the great nerve food and tonic, Dr. Miles' Nervine.

"I doctored all summer with one of the best physicians in the country for nervous prostration, but he did not help me at all. I was sleepless, nervous, had no appetite and the food I ate was not properly digested. I was short of breath, had palpitation of the heart, and involuntary twitches of muscles. After taking two bottles of Dr. Miles' Nervine I was able to be up and about, and five bottles cured me."

Where there's Ayer's there's Hope

"Where there's life there's hope."
Never give up, that's the idea; for often the most serious cases take a sudden turn for the better and rapid recovery follows.

Perhaps you are very ill now and have a doctor; yet the medicine doesn't seem to go just to the spot. Then why not ask your doctor if he doesn't think that Ayer's Sarsaparilla is what you need. Doctors are very friendly toward this Sarsaparilla, for it is the oldest, safest, and strongest.
They say there's more cure in a teaspoonful of it than in a tablespoonful of the ordinary kind.

No matter if you have taken other Sarsaparillas and any quantity of other medicine, remember—
Where there's Ayer's there's hope.

"I suffered greatly from impure blood. I was treated by a number of physicians, but they did me no good. I tried many kinds of patent medicines, but without effect. But when I tried Ayer's Sarsaparilla I got hold of the right thing, for I was soon completely cured."—R. P. CAOUS, Attica, N. Y.

Ask your doctor what he thinks of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. The probability is he has prescribed it a great many times and knows just what it will do. Then ask him if he does not think it is precisely the medicine you need this spring.

PHILIPPINE GOVERNMENT.

An Experiment in the Island of Negros.

NOT UNQUALIFIED SUCCESS.

Commission Holds a Public Session—
Politicians Develop Wonderful Appetite in the Act of Vote Getting.

Bacolod, Island of Negros, Philippine Islands, March 24.—[Correspondence of the Associated Press.]—The three days' stay of the United States Philippine commission part at this rather remotely situated capital of a great island has been particularly notable for the various forms of entertainment provided. The people began on the night of arrival with an illuminated procession, remarkable for its beauty and variety. More than a hundred novel and handsome illuminated designs were carried about the plaza and to the home of the governor where a reception was held. Next day the festal began with a banquet, the like of which the commissioners had never seen before in all their Philippine journeys. It was given at the splendid country house of Amado Lacson, five miles south of Bacolod, on a sugar plantation five miles in area, and said to be productive in years of good crops, of a profit of upwards of $40,000 annually. A hundred people were served with a menu the choiceness and variety of which would have done credit to a city establishment in the United States, and the outlook upon a charming scene of field, woodland and sea. Today the commissioners were entertained in a similar manner by Governor, the civil governor of the province.

The political situation in Negros since the American occupancy has been unique. Under a special order of Gen. Otis the people had practical self-government for nearly two years, the only limit being the absolute veto power vested in the military governor. The people elected their governor, secretaries of state, treasury and interior auditor and attorney general, besides an advisory or legislative council. They took most active interest in the elections and were not slow to criticize the officers, who were paid salaries of from $2,500 to $5,000 (Mexican) annually.

The public sessions of the commission developed the fact that free popular government had not been an unqualified success. The arts of the politicians in vote-getting had been quickened by the leading spirits, who in some instances, made combinations which would have done credit or discredit to a city political boss in America, and according to the natives testified many improvements in the island had been commensurate with the taxes paid.

The delegates seemed disappointed on learning that the new general law for government of the provinces was so much more simple and limited than the previous one. For the first time during the organization of provincial governments were heard suggestions that all the officers be elected by the people, or at least those whose positions did not require technical professional training.

President Taft replying, questioned one of the native speakers as to whether the new civil government was established by Gen. Otis had been really successful. The man declined to answer what he characterized as "so delicate a question."

Judge Taft said that the committee, enacting the provincial government law had to save expense, provided that the governors be elected by the council of the town, like the election of United States senators by legislatures, but that if the people of Negros desired to elect their provincial governors direct the commission would consider the proposition and probably assent to it.

As to the complaint that the proposed provincial government would be narrower, and in fact a curtailment of the people's former privilege in the way of self-government, President Taft said that a general central government of the Philippines would be established in which the people of Negros would certainly have representatives; that there was no purpose on the part of the United States to give less voice in the government from their progress and circumstances entitled them to, and that all political governments were practically provincial in character and intended to be eventually replaced by laws of greater scope and liberality. Some of the leading Visayan speakers argued that it were better to make all the provincial officers appointive by the commission, for the reason that where evils such as extortion and mismanagement existed they would be best

The official result of the three days' visit in Bacolod was the adoption of a resolution declaring the advisability of establishing two provincial governments in Negros, the territories separated by the chain of mountains running lengthwise of the island, called respectively Occidental and Oriental Negros, but the application of the provincial law be deferred until the eastern district was visited and its conditions more accurately determined. The resolution included several provisions as to carrying over the government and for adapting certain provisions of laws enacted by the island council to the new and simple conditions of the provincial governments. It also directed that the Negros officials enter into no agreement pending the campaign. The Negros country is the richest, agriculturally, and the most industrially titled in the archipelago. The sugar planters are not inclined to be negatively about taxes but they insist upon good government.

The experiences related by the natives about the difficulties, petty drawbacks and alleged injustices of the government scheme applied solely to Negros, and which appeared to have extended even into their social relations. The danger of the natives to the Philippines unless the topic be first administered in homeopathic doses, but the application of the government is bestowed on the municipalities and a limited measure of self-government upon the provinces.

The question of the change of form of the first centralized general civil government of the Philippines is not yet decided, but it is certain that the ultimate authority under the new framework of government will be centered in the governor general as the direct representative of the United States and that the legislative body whether partly composed of Filipinos or otherwise, will, at the outset be subject to and partly composed of the governor and his official cabinet.
