Grant in the Presidency of that Conference; and Moroni Brown traveling Elder in the Manchester Conference is appointed to succeed Thomas X. Smith in the Presidency of that Conference. These appointments are to take effect on and from the 25th inst.

Death of Mrs. Little.—A few minutes after 1 o'clock this afternoon, the sad news was circulated of the sudden death of Mrs. Fanny M. Little, the beloved wife of Hon. Feramor Little, Mayor of Salt Lake City. The melancholy event, which was totally unexpected, as near as could be learned took place a few minutes before one o'clock, at the family residence, on First South Street, one block east of the City Hall. The deceased had been afflicted for two or three weeks with a carbuncle which made its appearance on the back of her neck and had assumed alarming and dangerous dimensions. For a week and a half previous to her death, she had been obliged to keep to her room and in bed, but it was supposed by all that she was recovering. Five minutes before breathing her last, she expressed this view herself. Her daughters, Mrs. Clara Clawson and Miss Fanny Little, were in the room a few minutes previous to her departure, and her husband, who had been called away on business, and believed his wife to be much better, arrived home just in time to witness her death. According to the opinion of Dr. Anderson, her death was primarily caused by the carbuncle, which occupied a very dangerous position on the spinal cords at the base of the brain, and had infused its poison throughout her system. She was unconscious for three or four minutes prior to her demise. Deceased was the sister of Charles Decker, Esq., and of Mrs. Harriet Hanks and Mrs. Clara D. and Mrs. Lucy D. Young, the latter two the wives of the late President Brigham Young. She was greatly beloved by a large circle of friends, and highly respected by the general community. We deeply sympathize with the sorrowing husband and household in their sudden and heavy bereavement, and trust that He who administers comfort to the hearts of mourners, will remember them in their hour of affliction.

Educational Tour.—Dr. John R. Park, of the Deseret University, and Professor M. H. Hardy, of the Brigham Young Academy, left this morning for Tooele, to begin their season's educational tour through the settlements of the west, north and east. They will remain until Sunday in Tooele County, and return here to spend the Fourth, after which they will resume their peregrinations in a northern direction. They go under commission from Hon. John Taylor, Territorial Superintendent of District Schools, to gather information, awaken interest and impart instruction in the cause of education. As will be seen by the appended programme of their travels, furnished by Dr. Park for publication, while their tour will be comparatively brief, they have matters arranged in such shape as to get over considerable ground in a short time, and yet use it all to profit and advantage:

WESTWARD TOUR.

The professors travel by private conveyance. We wish them success and a pleasant journey.

FROM WEDNESDAY'S DAILY JUNE 29.

Third Company.—By telegram from New York we learn that the company of Saints which left Liverpool per steamship Wyoming on Saturday last, the 25th inst., numbers 775 souls. It is expected that the next company will leave Liverpool, September 3rd.

Information Wanted.—Hannah Cox (maiden name Harris) whose address is Commercial Road, Arch Hill, Auckland, New Zealand, wishes to hear of her cousin, Hannah Bowell who left Kettering, near Leicester, England, about 15 years ago, for Utah. Utah papers please copy.

Another Drowning.—A sad accident occurred at Cassia Creek on the 24th inst. A little daughter of Samuel and Mary Ann Woods, while playing with some other children on the bank of the creek, fell into the stream and was drowned. All that could be was done to restore life but to no purpose. The child was born April 20th, 1879.

Obsequies.—Mrs. Fannie M. Little, whose sudden demise yesterday afternoon sent sorrow to the hearts of so many, was born April 24, 1830, at Freedom, Chattaraugus County, New York, and was consequently in her 52nd year. Her parents were Isaac and Harriet Decker. She married Mayor Little in St. Louis, February 12, 1846, and has ever been a faithful wife and true mother. The obsequies were held at 4 p.m. to-day, at the family residence in the 13th Ward, and were attended by many relatives of the deceased and a host of sympathizing friends, including members of the City Council and municipal officers. The services are in progress as we go to press.

Funeral.—The funeral services over the remains of the late Sister Maria W. Hall, were held at the family residence in the 17th Ward, this morning at 10 o'clock. Bishop John Tingey, who conducted the meeting, after a hymn had been sung, offered up the opening prayer. Doctor Doremus then made a few remarks, after which Counselor D. H. Wells preached the funeral discourse. Remarks were then made by Bishop Edward Hunter and Elder Joseph Kingsbury, both intimate friends of the father of the deceased, the late Bishop N. K. Whitney. Many words of comfort and instruction were imparted by the speakers. The assembly was composed of the relatives and friends of the deceased. At the conclusion of the services, which closed by benediction by Elder Kingsbury, the remains were placed in the hearse and followed to the cemetery by a long concourse of carriages.

A Remarkable Feat.—Brother Eli H. Pierce, of Brigham City, writes an interesting account, to C. R. Savage, Esq., of this city, respecting a remarkable feat performed by an aged Scandinavian Sister named Anna Jensen, of Brigham City, who, having attended the Old Folks' Excursion at Ogden, last Wednesday, became separated from her people, and by mistake boarded the wrong train and was brought down to Salt Lake. She discovered her error as the train pulled out of Ogden, but being unable to speak English could not inform the conductor. Arriving at Salt Lake she felt like "a stranger in a strange land," and the tumult and general excitement around the depot almost frightened her. After standing around the platform for some time, by signs and gestures she finally succeeded in making her position known to a kind-hearted person living near the depot. She was taken to his home, given a warm supper and a good bed, and after breakfast next day, was put upon the train and taken back to Ogden. She remained there until 2 p. m., trying in vain to find some person with whom she could converse. Becoming discouraged, she started for home afoot and alone, she crossed the Ogden River on the railroad bridge and followed the track until she reached the Hot Springs; from there she rode three miles, and reached Willard, 14 miles from Ogden, just as the sun was setting. A short distance north of Willard she met a brother who prevailed upon her to remain at his house over night. Next morning she reached home. Her family had been uneasy about her, and a son was in Ogden searching for her when she arrived. From Willard to Brigham City she rode about a mile, making four miles in all, having walked eighteen out of twenty-two, the distance between Ogden and Brigham. Sister Jensen is now in her 88th year (only a few months younger than our venerable Bishop Hunter,) and for one of her age the feat is truly remarkable. Bro Pierce says he went to see her next morning and found her as well, apparently, as ever, except that she was a little foot and limb weary. She appeared happy and cheerful and spoke quite freely of her adventure, through an interpreter. She said she had no money with her, her husband had her excursion ticket, and she was afraid if she got on the train the conductor would put her off, so she thought she would walk home. When out a short distance north of Ogden, she knelt down by the side of the railroad track and prayed that God would give her sufficient strength to complete her journey. She then felt much stronger and walked faster than before without feeling weary. There were tears in her eyes when she told this. Bro. Pierce asks the question: "Have you any prizes remaining? if so, do you not think she is entitled to one?" Several prizes were given away, at the grove, to victors in walking matches, but was there a race on that day that will compare with this?" He adds that the family of which this aged sister is a member, has always lived on what is known as Tufflander corner, and thinks that the old lady will hereafter be known in Brigham City, as the "tough-overlander."

Editor Deseret News:

We have had an Indian outbreak at this place. Some three or four weeks ago, there were three men attacked and killed on or near the Dolores River in Colorado, and soon after a company of volunteers to the number of 40, of the Colorado citizens started after this renegade band of Indians and followed them for two or three weeks, and overhauled them in the La Sal Mountains, some 20 miles east of this Valley. They sent a runner down to our settlement for help to capture the Reds, and a party of seven went from here and joined the Colorado boys.

They had an encounter with the Indians on the 15th and 16th inst., and there were 10 of the whites killed and three badly wounded. Two of Bro. A. G. Wilson's boys, Isadore and Alfred, were up in the mountains looking after their stock when they fell in with six of the Colorado boys, and had a running fight with the Indians for three miles when they were surrounded and all killed. It is believed that there were 25 or 30 Indians killed, but cannot say definitely. The Indians have stolen from the whites about 200 head of stock, mostly horses, besides firearms, ammunition and saddles, etc., and the whites captured from the Indians 60 horses, and 250 sheep and goats.

The names of the whites killed are as follows:

Two Wilson brothers, Moab, Utah.
Two Tartor brothers, Haton and Galaway, Rico, Colorado.
Click, Wilson and Willes, Dolores, Colorado.

Taylor, Fremont, Utah.
The people of the valley have all fortified up at the old Mormon Fort, and expect to remain so until this trouble is settled. It is expected that this war will continue, and this place is not strong enough, if attacked by the Indians, and we need some more settlers here to strengthen the place. There is every facility for making good homes, and the present crops look flourishing, wheat headed out, corn in tassel and silk, and potatoes as large as hens' eggs. The health of the people is generally good. Your brethren,

R. H. STEWART,
A. G. WILSON,
W. A. PEIRCE.
