SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

The marriage of Miss Gertrude Felt and Mr. H. F. Kimball will take place tonight at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Felt on Capitol

A delightful reception was held last night at the Cannon farm in celebration of the nuptials of Miss Hester Cannon and Mr. D. B. Richards, which were and Mr. D. B. Richards, which were solemnized yesterday in the Temple. The rooms were beautifully decorated, the pariors in pink and white with roses, carnations and asters used in the scheme, the dining room in red and the hall in green. The bay window was converted into a bridal arch, three large floral belis suspended by white large floral belis suspended by white satin ribbon ropes hanging from the center, and banks of paims, ferns and smilax filling the window space. In the dining room red ribbons were drawn from the chandeliers to the four corners of the table and in the center was a huge bowl of red and white raters. The bride wore a beautiful cos-tume of white crepe de chine with trimmings of applique and accordeon pleating, and her bridesmaids, Misses Elizabeth, Zannie, Louise, Mary and Stei-la Cannon, and Miss May Terry, were effectively gowned in dainty costumes of white, blue and green. Mr. J. A. Baker acted as best man, and Messrs. Evans, Widstoe, Woodruff, Morris and Conrad as ushers. The bridal party was assisted in receiving by the bride's mother, Mrs. M. T. Cannon, Mrs. W. T. GOVERNOR'S DAY TOMORROW

Large Crowd of Salt Lakers and Friends from Elsewhere WILL Go Up to the Camp.

Camp Funston presents a lively scene his week, and the boys are dropping so fast into the ways of regulars that it would only require a few more days to make regular soldiers out of them. Everything seems to go along now with enthusiasm, a vim and vigor that is encouraging to the commanding officer and acting brigadier general, Col. Park. It was an active, busy day yesterday, at the camp, and the troops were put through the evolutions of the day, that dampened their underwear with persoiration, but did not dampen their ardor. The night previous was quite lively until midnight. That is to say, quite a number of the boys made lively sprints past the guard to get out into country and inspect melon patches and e impromptu milkmaid among such Jersey cows as they might "meet by chance." The guards appear to have been easy minded for they didn't see anything out of the way, and 'tended strictly to their knitting. Col. Park was troubled with disorganized in'ards yesterday morning; Lagoon water didn't agree with him, so Col. Lund took temporary command and put the infantry, artillery, cavairy and signal corps through a course of sprouts that did them a lot of good, and made them feel as though the state was getting its worth out of them. The inspection, too, was rigid, and kept the men cleaning and polishing up in great shape. An hundred or more people went up to the camp in the afternoon, with Adjt.-Gen. Burton, and the review that followed did the boys great credit and made the adjutant general, Col. Park and the visitors realize that this was the state whence came the famous Utah batteries. The when there will be a grand review, and the governor's salute will be given by the battery. Afterwards the band will serenade the governor, and then comes Battery A is at the lake today for active field practice, with ranges from 550 yards upwards, and there is much interest in this work. The officers and men were confident this morning, of doing even better than last year. Some of the boys are raising a roar over "the boiled feed," which they do not like, as they claim there is not enough of it, and they don't like the way it is served up. But then, this is regarded as a sign that the kickers are of the genuine article of soldier. It is figured that the expenses of the camp will amount to nearly $5,000, for which, however, provision has been made. H. Greenwood has been made has something unusual in the shape of a deserter for whom a detail sent to this city by Maj. Heywood is searching with a fine toothed comb. Some of the boys are troubled with blistered feet, and Maj. Benefict, the regimental sur-geon, is diligently attending to the same. The signal corps is doing good work out on the neighboring hills. There will be a skirmish drill tomorrow.

review was conducted like a well reg-ulated machine, and went off like clock-

FIRE ON WHEELS.

Unique Experience of an Expressman While Hauling Furniture.

The wagon was loaded with bed-steads and dressers with a lot of paper and excelsior, and anybody should know that a combination of that kind will, under ordinary circumstances, make a reasonably hot fire. The driver proceeded some distance while the flames shot high above his head and a crowd of urchins yelled their frantic warnings. But the driver was all un-conscious of the danger until the umbrella began to burn. This happened in front of the county jail, and some thoughtful person ran for the garden hose and extinguished the blaze, while the now thoroughly awakened and frightened driver unhitched the horses, The furniture was being hauled to the depot for shipment, but it will not be shipped now. How the fire started is not known, but it is supposed that a igar or cigarette was responsible BURGLARS AT WORK. Judge Diehl and Policeman Smith Had Visitors Last Night.

Burglars attempted to break into the residence of Judge Dieht and also that of Police Officer Andrew Smith last night, but at each place they were forced to flee for their lives.

"Phyz," the pet dog owned by Judge C. B. Diehl, is all that prevented the place from being burglarized about o'clock this morning, "Phyz" is only about the size of a pint of milk half-spilled, but that makes no difference, for he proved big enough to frighten away three bold bad men, and now "Phyz" is more pet than ever. The canine sleeps in any part of the judicial residence he pleases, but last night he decided to bunk in the front hall near the door. About 1 o'clock his keen ears detected a noise that sounded very much like the grating of a key in the lock. Then he heard the subduct voices of men outside.

lock. Then he hear voices of men outside. "Phyz" liked it not, and proceeded to inform the intruders that he was aware of their presence,
"Z-rz-r-z-r-bow!" said the dog

When no one came to his assistance, he dashed to the judge's room and made a furious racket. But his honor made a furious racket. But his honor was tired and refused to awaken. "Z-r-z-r-ccch-z-z-bow!" howled the little dog. And still the judge slept peacefully on. Then "Phyz" leaped onto the bed and Judge Diehl awoke with a start. "Phyz" then broke from the judge's room making a terrible din for such a little dog, ran to the front door and back again as hard as he could a start, "Phyz" then broke from the judge's room making a terrible din for such a little dog, ran to the front door and back again as hard as he could tear. Judge Diehl then realized that something was doing and going to the window peered out. A man was at the door trtying to force an entrance while out near the sidewalk were two others. Then his honor began to wish he had the fellows before him in the courtroom. The judge went immediately for shooting irons, but the burglars became alarmed and escaped. The police were notified, but, of course, no arrests were

It was sometime before this that the residence of Officer Andrew Smith, on Seventh South between Second and Third East was visited. The fellows were doing their best to pick the lock when the officer was awakened and made a dash for the door to capture the fellows. Officer Smith says that a few minutes before that he heard a shot fired and he was informed that the by relate had been to a neighbor. the berglars had been to a neighbor shouse, but were shot at. KICK WAS FATAL. Salt Lake Man Met Death in Idaho Brought Home for Burial.

Last Saturday Alexander Laird of Rockland, Oneida county, Idaho, died at that place as the result of being kicked by a horse. Mr. Laird went out early that morning to hitch up his team which had always been regarded as quiet and reliable, and when hooking the tugs, one of the animals kicked him in the abdomen. A physician was summoned and arrived shortly after the accident. On an examination of the injuries, the doctor did not think they were of a dangerous character. But although everything possible was done to relieve the sufferer, he passed away about 11 hours after being hurt.

Mr. Laird was the youngest son of James Laird, one of the early settlers of Mountain Dell, Parley's canyon, where he was raised, and was 31 years of age. He was married abou years ago to a Miss Riner of Bounti-ful, by whom he had five children, four of whom are dead, and he is survived by his wife and one child. The remains reached this city yesterday and were taken to the undertaking parlors of Joseph E. Taylor, where the funeral services were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The interment took place at the city cornetery.

PARLEY'S CANYON SITE. Location of Proposed Reservoir Ratifled by Committee.

The council's special committee on reservoir site met last evening and endorsed the action of the mayor, city attorny and city engineer in commencing condemnation proceedings for a reservoir site in Parley's canyon. It was also decided to report to the council at its next meeting, the steps taken in the matter in detail, and Chairman Thomas will ask that the committee be permitted to proceed further with its investigations before making a final report.

In explaining to the committee the progress already made, City Engineer Kelsey stated that one test pit has been put down and two others have been started. At a depth of 10 feet shale was struck, which the engineer states, is a good indication that solid rock is only a few feet deeper. He thinks that a reservoir can be built at the place where prospecting is now being done of where prospecting is now being done of sufficient capacity to hold back all the surplus water of the canyon at a very moderate expense.

DAHLSTEAD SAFE.

The license committee made the discovery last evening that George A. Dahistead, one of the violators of the Sunday closing ordinance to whom the ouncil on Tuesday night decided not to issue a new liquor license, had on Aug. 16 paid into the city treasury the required sum for a quarter's license, and hence it is impossible to discipline him until that quarter expires, which will be the middle of November. The discovery was quite a surprise to the committee as it was intended to have Dahlstead appear before it and promise to obey the Sunday liquor ordinance before renewing his license.

FARMINGTON FIRE.

Blaze That Burned a Miner's Cabin and Frightened Citizens.

There was a blaze in the foothills above Farmington last evening that destroyed a miner's cabin and an ore chute and some supplies and that frightened citizens for a time. The flames spread quickly from a dry brush fire that started in the foothills and worked their way up to a cabin occupied by Patsy Morley, who is watching a prospect in the vicinity. Then it went still farther up the mountain side to the Rhymney claim, leased by John Bogan from Hayes and Culmer of Salt Lake. The ore chute of this property was completely destroyed while Morley's cabin three-quarters of a mile distant was burned to the grountogether with all of the provisions contained and a thousand pounds. coal that Morley had carried up to i from time to time on his back. The story that Morley had probably been burned to death as stated by a morning paper is only a story and a yellow one at that. The truth is that when the flames reached the cabin Morle, betook himself to a cliff of rocks nea by and remained there for a time, af ter which he went down to Camp Funs ton. If he could have been seen there by the man who wrote that he was probably burned to death there would have been a different tale to tell, for Morley was very active. In the old days he used to be a pugilist and like men of that calling he knows how to have a "good time" and it is reported that he had a "very good time" last night notwithstanding the fact that his cabin was burned to the ground. Mr. D. P. Daugherty, well known throughout Mercer and Sumner counties. W. Va., most likely owes his life to the kindness of a neighbor.
