WE have received from S. K. Hooper, Esq., Denver, an illustrated, and neatly printed pamphlet, descriptive of the beautiful scenery and attractions for tourists in and around Manitou, Colorado, on the line of the Denver & Rio Grande Railway. An interesting account is given of Pike's Peak, Manitou, The Royal Gorge, Cameron's Cove, The Garden of the Gods, and other places of note.

IN view of the worthy object to be benefitted by the children's ball in the Theatre on Saturday afternoon and evening, it is to be hoped that it will be well patronized. There is a chance now for our citizens who are able to do so, to manifest their possession of "the milk of human kindness," by purchasing a lot of tickets and distributing them among their poor acquaintances, or by tendering a few extra dollars when they purchase their tickets, to help swell the fund.

YESTERDAY afternoon three young ladies and a young man issued forth from the Deseret University, each carrying a parcel of school books. Once on the outside, the ladies clustered around their attendant, and with winsome smiles and words of flattery induced him to accept their burdens, and all started off toward town, the ladies laughing merrily, apparently at having relieved themselves of their loads, while the face of the young gallant, with his arms full of books, fairly beamed with happiness, he being all unconscious of the "April Fool," chalked by his fair companions in large letters on his back.

LOCAL NEWS.

PRIESTHOOD MEETING.

The Priesthood of this stake will assemble next Saturday, April 4th, 1885, at 11 a.m., in the Assembly Hall. A full attendance is desired.

ANGUS M. CANNON,
President of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion.

Gone to Logan.—Brother R. G. Lambert left for Cache County this morning, where he will make a brief stay, during which he will act in the capacity of agent for the business department of this office.

THE STOCK CONVENTION.

A PERMANENT ORGANIZATION EFFECTED.

Shortly after eleven o'clock this morning quite a number of delegates and stock men from different parts of the Territory met at the Opera House, and proceeded to form a temporary organization.

On motion of Mr. J. C. Rich, Mr. H. J. Faust was elected temporary chairman, and in a brief and pointed address he explained that the object of the convention was to unite the stock interests of the entire Territory, and adopt such measures as are necessary for mutual protection and success. He referrred to the fact that similar associations had been formed in adjoining States and Territories, and had resulted in much good. By their efforts many stock-thieves had been driven from their borders and had taken refuge here, where they are committing depredations on our cattle and horses. One of the leading subjects for the consideration of the convention would be, how to get rid of these thieves.

Another important matter to be discussed is the making of arrangements by which blooded stock can be purchased without paying middlemen exorbitant profits. The convention can exercise an influence with the Legislature to make laws that will protect and encourage the stock industry; and with the railroads that our products may be shipped to eastern markets at rates that will be to our advantage.

The brand book that exists in the Territory also needs the attention of the convention and it will doubtless be necessary to make many changes. In fact, many things will be brought before the organization that should occupy the careful attention of every stockgrower.

After music by the band Mr. J. Q. Knowlton was elected temporary secretary and Mr. Chas. French temporary assistant secretary.

The names of stockowners present were then enrolled with the secretary, after which the convention proceeded to effect a permanent organization.

Mr. Abram Hatch was elected president of the convention, and returned thanks for the honor conferred upon him, and pledged himself to conduct the proceedings with as much dispatch as possible and in every way to the interests of the majority. He regarded this as a legitimate organization, and hoped that if opposing factions exist their interest would soon become identical with those of this convention.

A. J. Stewart was elected first vice-president, and Alton Farr second vice-president. J. Q. Knowlton and Chas. French were elected permanent secretary and assistant secretary respectively, and C. J. Brain was elected shorthand reporter.

On motion of Mr. J. C. Rich the following committee on order of business was appointed by the chair and instructed to report at the afternoon session: H. J. Faust, James A. Bean, W. H. Seegmiller, E. D. Woolley and J. C. Rich.

The meeting then adjourned until 2 o'clock.

Pratt's Stock Farm.—A representative of the NEWS accepted an invitation to take a ride yesterday afternoon with Brother Alma Pratt to his farm on West Temple Street, just outside the city limits to the south, for the purpose of inspecting some fine stock he is there raising and keeping for sale. Although the roads were somewhat "heavy" from the recent rain, the fleet-footed Hambletonian stallion "Prince Richelieu," conveyed the buggy and its occupants to their destination in such short order as to lead to the conviction that, in addition to his excellent pedigree and good appearance, he has also very fine action to recommend him.

Without entering upon a description of the fine Percheron stallions and other horses, mostly kept there for sale, the specimens of the famous Jersey breed of stock, or the choice flock of Merino sheep which the proprietor makes a specialty of breeding, we will say that we felt well repaid in viewing them for our trip down there.

Brother Pratt is not only rather enthusiastic on the subject of breeding fine stock, but equally so over the making of good roads in our country. In his capacity as a road supervisor and superintendent of the popular "drive" south of the city he has displayed good judgment and skill in keeping the roads nicely graded. The machine which he uses for this purpose is somewhat of a novelty in this country, being the only one so far as we are aware that has yet been imported. It is a combination of harrow, scraper and roller, and does excellent work.

An interesting feature connected with the Pratt farm is a flowing well, the water of which is to be conducted through the house, barn, etc., and which has the advantage of not freezing in winter while allowed to run continuously, as it is slightly tepid.

We wish Brother Pratt success in his effort to establish a model stock farm.

Grubs in Corn.—We are informed by a gentleman who has often tested it, that the scalding of seed corn with water in which blue vitriol and saltpetre have been dissolved will effectually prevent the ravages of the grub in the ears of the growing crop. The only theory upon which we can account for this is that the germ of the grub must be deposited upon or within the kernel and develop in the soil if not killed before the grain is planted, to come forth and propagate its species in the growing ear. Whatever may be the theory of its development, though, our friend declares that what he proposes will prevent it every time. The grain should be soaked in the liquid about one hour, after which the water remaining should be drained off, and in a short time the corn will be dry enough to handle without sticking together. The expenditure of a few cents will suffice to thus prepare seed corn for a number of acres, and it is worth while trying it. The soaking of the grain will be an advantage, too, in causing it to germinate all the more readily.

Baird's Mammoth Minstrels.—Concerning Baird's Mammoth Minstrels, whose announcement appears in another column, a recent issue of the Providence (R. I.) News says:

"I. W. Baird always had a good show, but the one this year excels all previous efforts. His entertainments never deteriorate, but like good wine improve with age. This fact was fully demonstrated last night by the ovation he received from our amusement goers, filling the opera house in every nook and corner. As for the programme, there is not a look, act or gesture that we would desire changed; everything is par excellence. Lew Benedict, an old time favorite, has lost none of his pleasing qualities, and is ably assisted in the funny business by a dozen comedians. If Baird's minstrels are not the best on the road they are certainly the best that come to this city."

Appointment.—Mr. Wilson J. Snider has been appointed by the Utah Commission to the office of presiding judge of the municipal election at Park City, Summit County, to be held on the 5th of May next. By virtue of this appointment Mr. Snider becomes ex officio registration officer, and as such will take the necessary steps to provide for the election, and will revise the city registration list.

Lecture.—Elder A. N. McFarlane will deliver a lecture in the 21st Ward Meeting House, on "The History of the Jaredites," on Wednesday evening next at 7:30 o'clock.

For Logan.—Deputy Marshal Vandercook has been spending several days in Logan, and this morning Marshal Ireland left on the train for that city. It is rumored that Commissioner McKay will also shortly pay a brief visit to the capital of Cache County.

Pleads not Guilty.—Albert Moore, who has been indicted by the present grand jury for an assault upon Richard Powell, of Francklyn, March 14th, 1884, with a loaded pistol, with intent to commit murder, was arraigned before the Third District Court this morning, and pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Subpœnaed.—Mr. James C. Watson, of the Sixth Ward, and several members of his family, were subpœnaed while eating dinner to-day noon, and commanded to appear to-morrow morning before the grand jury. We understand that several other parties in the same vicinity were also served with subpœnas to-day.

District Court Proceedings.—In the case of J. D. Lamb vs. West Mountain Mining Co., heretofore submitted, a judgment was rendered in favor of the plaintiff, who was allowed a salary until October 15th, and certain bills prayed for in the complaint: ten days were allowed for notice of a new trial, and thirty days thereafter for the motion and statement to be filed.

On motion of the plaintiff in the case of R. L. Brown vs. H. S. Campbell, the suit was continued for the term, with costs against plaintiff.

The case of Frank Wright vs. M. S. Ascheim et al. is in progress before a jury.

A Disturbance.—On Monday evening last Mr. Fred Crowton, having built a new house, was celebrating the event by having a private party, for use at which he brought one eight-gallon keg of beer. During the evening some boys who had no invitation to the party seized the keg and carried it off. They were followed by two or three persons from Crowton's and overtaken, when a free fight took place, in which the pursuing party were worsted. Yesterday complaint was made before Justice Spiers, and the officers arrested seven young men, two of whom were discharged. The other five pleaded guilty and were fined $5 each and costs. Judge Spiers gave the boys some good advice in regard to respecting other people's rights, and severely condemned the practice of hoodlumism indulged in by some of the boys in our city.

Another Artesian Well.—The same parties—John Newton & Son—who were successful in striking a subterranean stream of water on the premises of Brother Bishop in the 19th Ward a short time since, which forced its way through an inch and a half pipe to a distance of twenty feet above the surface, have now made a successful artesian well for Matthew Barnes, a neighbor, who lives at 258 w, on Third North St. These wells are not bored as is usual in such cases, but the pipes are driven down until the stream is struck, when the water forces its way up. In the latter case the water was reached at a depth of fifty-nine feet, and it will rise through the pipe, which is an inch and a quarter in diameter, to a hight of ten feet above the surface, and flow out at the rate of about thirteen gallons per minute.

Brother Barnes is, of course, as pleased as a boy with his first pair of red-topped boots over his good fortune, and in view of the immense advantage of such a flowing well of excellent water to convey through the house for domestic use and also to use for irrigation, we can excuse him for being considerably elated and enthusiastic.

We have not learned of the cost of sinking the pipes, but it certainly cannot be very great, and if flowing wells can be obtained in this manner generally throughout our city, we fancy a good many of our citizens will soon be having private water works.

From the Sandwich Islands.—Elder Edward Partridge, accompanied by his wife and three boys, and also by Elder Wm. C. Partridge, returned from a mission to the Sandwich Islands on Friday last, after an absence of almost three years. We enjoyed a pleasant visit from him on Saturday, and learned that the condition of the mission in that far-off land is much the same as heretofore reported. The work of proselyting goes on pretty steadily among the native population of those Islands, but the death rate among them is so heavy that there is not much of an increase in Church membership there. The Church plantation at Laie,—the headquarters of the mission—where the Church members are encouraged to congregate with a view to bettering their condition, is perhaps more prosperous than at any time in the past. Since Brother Partridge went there a meeting house, built by contributions of the Church members at a cost of $8,000 has been finished. An artesian well, costing $3,000, has also been bored on the plantation, which throws up a stream of fresh water eight inches in diameter, eleven feet above the surface, or 24 feet above the sea level. This is used at present in the sugar mill, but it is the intention to utilize it also in irrigating the crops. Other improvements to the value of $1,000 have also been made in the mill.

The prospect, however, for profitable sugar making is not so good there now as it has been. The price of sugar has dropped from 7 cts. to 4½ cts. per lb, with a prospect of a still further decline.

There are now 12 Elders in that mission, two of whom have their families with them, and all of whom are in good health and spirits.

MS. KINSEY, the young man who forged a name on a check and drew $800 on it from Jones & Co's bank, of this city, is said to be in British Columbia.
