TRAIN.

A TETTIFIC TIME ON AN EXPRESS Pittsburg, 15.—The Chicago Express on the Fort Wayne Railroad had a rough experience passing through a tornado which struck eastern Ohio last night. The lightning flashed continuously from the time it left Fort Wayne at 8 p. m. and the rain descended almost solidly until-Lima, Ohio, was passed. Such a storm the passengers had never seen before, and the ladics, of whom quite a number were on the train, were greatly frightened, and the gentlemen were too scared themselves to be of much service in allaying their fears. The wind steadily increased in fury, breaking off the tiles and the rushing sibilation of the telegraph wires made a concord of wild sounds. The train passed Forest, 229 west of Pittsburg, about 10:35. The engineer was then sending the locomotive along at about thirty miles an hour. The the cyclone tore across the level plain on the south side of the track, and, atching a large tree tore it up by the roots and flung it across the cars. One limb struck the locomotive and cut the cowcatcher in two, another imb tell on the platform and demolished it, and other branches smashed in the windows along three ordiniary cars and two Pullman sleepers. Telegraph pôles came down at the same time, and rocks and bushes blew car windows were smashed to pieces, sacked and splintered, and the glass ew in every direction. several places and the smokestack was knocked out of a straight line. After about an hour's delay the train started again and in due time reached Crestine without further accident. There a becomotive was procured and the batred cars came on to Pittsburg, reach ing the Union depot one hour and a half late, a good deal of time being made up on the run. When the train arrived here it looked as it had been iddled by sharpshooters and a battery of heavy artillery. DEVASTATION AND DEATH. Cleveland, 15.—A Kenton, Ohio, special to the Leader says: One of the most terrible and damaging storms ever known in this section of the counry passed over the northern part of the county last night about 11 o'clock, and its pathway is marked with widespread destruction and death. The storm commenced on the farm known as Whiteside Farm, about eight miles north of the city of Kenton. On it stood a new brick, two-story house which now lies in ruins. From this point the storm moved eastward, de stroying life and property. The barn owned by Henry Gerlach was blown off members of the family badly hurt.

Wm. McElree was struck by lightning and instantly killed. The church known as Higgins Church was blown flat to the ground. David Higgins' house was shattered. The school house in the center of Jackson township was utterly destroyed and the ship was utterly destroyed and the new barn belonging to W. H. Fleming of this city was blown into fragments, the damage cannot be estimated, but it will reach into the hundreds of

The Leader's special from Forest, Ohio, says: The storm here last night was one of the most fearful that ever visited this section of the country. It came up suddenly about 10 o'clock, the inky black clouds being lined with a brilliant light which made the atmosphere as bright as day. A rumbling noise accompanied the storm in this vicinity. It swept a clean track half a mile in width and nine miles in length, not striking the town to any extent.

Wm. McElree, his wife and two children, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Higgins, were burled in the ruins of a large brick house, and the first named was killed. The rest were injured, the last named fatally. Mrs. McElree dug the others from the ruins.
