

THE EVENING NEWS.

Thursday, August 11, 1870.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

NOT THEM.—By a dispatch from Malad City of to-day's date to Theo. F. Tracy, Esq., the perusal of which we have been kindly favored with, we learn that Wells, Fargo & Co's coach was attacked at Dry Creek last night. Shots were exchanged; but nobody was hurt on the coach. Two of the robbers are supposed to be killed. The guard is in hot pursuit of the remaining assailants. The treasure was, of course, saved.

NOT IN.—The Minnesota company of emigrants, as was expected, reached this city last evening. The journey from Liverpool here only occupied twenty-one days. Most of these who comprise this company are from the Scandinavian mission. Several returning missionaries were with them. Elders Jesse N. Smith and J. Q. Knowlton, had charge of the saints. No lives were lost and good feelings and health made the journey an exceedingly pleasant one.

The company was met, on their way from Ogden, by President's Young, Smith and Wells, and Elders W. H. Hooper, J. A. Young, J. W. Young, F. Little and several others. And at the depot by the First Presidency of the Bishopric, Edward Hunter, Jesse C. Little and L. W. Hardy.

THE DISPATCHES.—It will be seen by the dispatches to-day that the war news keeps increasing in interest. The presence of the young Prince Imperial in London, which if true, though we suspect it to be a canard, is a significant circumstance. The French losses are discovered to be even much greater than was previously supposed.

STILL EXTENDING.—The Deseret Telegraph Company has opened an office at Levan, Utah Co. A congratulatory dispatch from that place was received by President Young to-day, from Elders Pitchforth and C. Christiansen.

DROWNED.—A man named Joseph Corbett was lately drowned while endeavoring to cross the Carson river, near Empire City. He had just left a party of his fellow workmen to go to some other point and concluded to take the most direct route to his destination by crossing the river where it was rather deep. His body was afterwards found in the river. He was a native of Canada West.

THE MUSEUM.—A large number of valuable curiosities, etc., have been brought from Northern Europe, by Elder Jesse N. Smith. They will be added to the already interesting collection at the museum.

CLOTHES MARKING.—We have been shown, by Messrs Fuller and Thompson, some tasteful designs, upon a new and simple plan for marking clothing. When put upon a garment with the indelible ink of this process, the name is fastened there while a vestige of it remains. Clothes are sometimes stolen from the lines, and the marking would directly aid in their recognition, if not prove an effective means in their recovery. Handkerchiefs, like umbrellas, have frequently a nomadic habit, which would be remedied at once by indelible marking.

ADVERTISING.—In New York there is a class of men who understand the value of advertising, and who have made colossal fortunes by the judicious, though sometimes expensive use of printers' ink. When a man has anything he wants to sell, or is in any business for which he wishes to obtain custom, he will find judicious advertising the best method of accomplishing his wishes. It would be interesting to know how many people have been induced to try "Walker's Vinegar Bitters," "Hem-bold's Buchu," "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral," "Red Jacket Bitters" and the thousand and one nostrums and patent medicines with which the market is flooded, by reading the flaming advertisements the owners of these drugs have so persistently circulated? Bonner pushed his Ledger into every corner of the land, and caused it to be sought after by the masses of New York and other cities by his system of advertising. In some of the New York papers an entire page—an inside page—costs an advertiser for one day $1000. The first column on the first page of several of the dailies costs the advertiser $200. One of the leading dailies will cut its column rates, and use any desired size of type on its last page if one is willing to pay proportionate rates. Yet advertisers are plenty at these rates; and it is not an uncommon thing for even more than one page to be filled by one advertiser. Where a man has a good article that will stand the test, and that can be brought into popular use, it always pays to advertise. Worthless patent medicines will also frequently pay, for in no other thing can mankind be so easily humbugged as in wonderful panaceas. Even in this country the gullibility of the people in swallowing well-advertised drugs is something wonderful, and is strong evidence in favor of the power of advertising.

FINE BREAD.—We saw this morning three loaves made out of last fall's flour by Bro. Daniel Grenig that would make a hungry man's stomach rejoice if they had been in his possession. They were very light and excellent, and had not a speck of dyspepsia in the whole of them. There can be no doubt about Daniel Grenig being a first-class baker; his works prove it.

BEES A SUCCESS.—One of our employees, with the aid of Bro. Putnam, transferred his bees this morning, from a hive brought from the east four months since by W. D. Roberts, to a patent hive. He has furnished them with sufficient comb, and believes they will do well during the coming winter. He has obtained from this hive thirty-four pounds of beautiful clear honey. It has been the prevailing opinion, for some time, that bees would not be a success in this country. When we consider the present season, which has been unusually severe upon bees, in consequence of grasshoppers and a backward spring, we are led to conclude that bees are a success beyond what we have heretofore expected. The hive referred to was brought by Bro. Roberts a distance of twelve hundred miles. The swarm is one of the common black bees, and cost $25. The Italian bee is acknowledged to be the longer lived and more industrious, consequently far more valuable than the black bee. Let us encourage the production of the best bees.

AVERILL

Chemical Paint Company's PAINT.

THIS PAINT COMPRISES

Nearly Every Shade of

COLOR.

It Retains a Beautiful

SURFACE GLOSS,

Which is susceptible of being improved rather than diminished by the application of

SOAP AND WATER.

It is Ready Mixed

TO THE PROPER CONSISTENCY FOR USE

But, when exposed for any length of time, in open cans, it thickens, and

CAN BE THINNED WITH BOILED

Linseed Oil.

In applying it, the operator must not work too long on it with the brush, but apply it quickly and decidedly, as it partakes more of the nature of Varnish than of ordinary Paint.

Its Principal Constituent is

NOT LEAD BUT PURE ZINC.

AS EVIDENCE OF ITS FIRE-PROOF QUALITY, the following extract from a communication is appended:

BAY CITY, MICH., June 22, 1870.

Averill Paint Co.,

Cleveland, Ohio:

We have had a splendid test of the fire proof qualities of your Paint on the Episcopal Church. A heavy fire, adjoining, burned the paint to a black char, but the wood was uninjured, except in spots about the cornice, where the boards were burned off. The carpenters are now at work scraping off the burnt paint and the painters will cover the same boards again with the Averill Paint. Our insurance men are delighted with it, and that has secured us several orders. Even the painters say that it beats everything they ever saw.

Truly, Yours, Braddock & Hotchkiss

Sold in quantities of not less than One Gallon.

Purchasers must bring THEIR OWN CANS.
