NO MAN STRONGER THAN HIS STOMACH.

The celebrated Dr. Abernethy of London was firmly of the opinion that disorders of the stomach were the most prolific source of human ailments in general. A recent medical writer says "every feeling, emotion and affection reports at the stomach (through the system of nerves) and the stomach is affected accordingly. It is the vital center of the body * * * * ." He continues, "so we may be said to live by (and he might well have said through) the stomach." He goes on to show that the stomach. Washington, April 1 .- "No house of representatives has ever been more toyal to a president than that now in session has been to President Roosevelt." The remark was made by one of the house leaders, a chairman of an important committee, and one who has been recognized in the management of party affairs. He went on to enumerste the many things in which the Republicans had supported the president and spoke especially of the Philippine tariff bill, the statehood bill and the railroad rate bill. "Even when our railroad rate bill. "Even when our own judgment was contrary to the president," he went on, "we have fol-lowed him because the people believe he is right and because the country has been demanding that he be supported. We hope that our constituents will ap-prelate our efforts when we go before them in the fall campaign."

Neither the announcement of his en-pagement nor his marriage with "for-tane's favorite daughter" has made any difference with Nick Longworth.

This Ohio congressman did not "con-tract an alliance with the president's family," as some effusive writers put it, but he married Miss Alice Roose-velt, daughter of President Roosevelt. This has made no difference with him personally or publicly. He is the same genial individual that he was before and just as good a congressman. I am bound to say that he is sought after nore, because there are people whe think he is more influential with the president on account of his relationship. I don't believe, however, that any one advances his cause by going to' Longworth under such circumstances. He can see through this sort of thing as well as the next man.

for distirbution than most of the seeds that can be bought in the stores. At least that is an explanation made by Secy. Wilson. It seems that the as-sortments of seeds purchased or grown by the agricultural department are se-lected with such care that they are of a better quality than the great body of seeds on the market. Several con-gressmen have indorsed this view, and they tell me that one reason why they support the proposals for free seeds is because their constituents write them that the department's seeds are more dependable than others.
