A POOR BREAKFAST. Very Few People Eat a Good Breakfast.

"All I want for breakfast is a roll and a cup of coffee." This remark is heard not only in hotels, restaurants and lunch rooms but hotels, restaurants and lunch rooms but it is the usual breakfast order in the home circle as well. After a twelve hours' fast it would seem that the first meal of the day should be a hearty, substantial one, and if we all lived natural, unartificial lives, it would be so, but none of us do, hence breakfast is mere pretence.

The policemen danced hither and The policemen danced hither and thither, trying to keep the crowd from destroying the property, but their ef-forts were expended in vain. The doors of the outbuildings were smashed in, but no more liquor was found. During the night it had been removed to a place of safety. After being satisfied that there was nothing else to destroy, the crusaders left the building. Says a latter-day philosopher: "During many years of active business life, I never remember having eaten a good substantial breakfast but supposed it was of no importance until I began to lose appetite for lunch and dinner.

My physician told me I was a victim of nervous dyspepsia and must take rest and recreation as no medicine would reach the trouble, but this advice I could not follow as my business affairs would not permit it, and to get relief I resorted to medicines and perscriptions and it was purely accidental that I hit upon one remedy which did the busiapon one reneary which that the busi-ness. Nation and the officer as they started to the county jail. The officer was obliged to draw his pistol to keep the crowd back. It was with the utmost difficulty that the jail was reached, CARRIE IN GOOD HUMOR,

All along the way Mrs. Nation was in the best of humor. The route to the jail was through the most aristocratic part of the city, and as the people ran to their doors to watch the strange sight of a great mob filing up Topeka avenue on a quiet Sabbath afternoon they were met with smiling greetings from Mrs. Nation, Young men in the residences pleasantly nodded and then tipped their hats in the most gallant manner possible

AT THE JAIL.

The news of the arrest of Mrs. Nation had reached the downtown district by this time, and as the officer hove in sight with his prisoner he saw the street in front of the jall one seething mass of humanity. Farther up the street hundreds of others, men, women and children were running to the jall and children were running to the jail as fast as their feet would carry them. If the interest in Mrs. Nation had at any time been latent, it had now broken out with fever heat,

BEATEN BACK WITH CLUBS.

The chief of police with a detail of officers was on the scene and it took much hard work, together with the vig-orous use of clubs, and threats of worse crowd sufficient to get an opening in the crowd sufficient to permit Mrs. Nation to be taken into the jail office. It was a crowd bent for the most part on curisity but there were many turbulent spirits there, and for a time it looked like serious trouble would ensue.

ALMOST A RIOT.

Nobody knew any reason for a riot but the rioters were there and a riot was narrowly averted. At no time was Mrs. Nation in the least alarmed. She remarked more than once that it was a very nice looking lot of people, and that she loved them very much.

GETTING THE BOND.

There was some delay in getting a bond for Mrs. Nation, and in the meanentertained the lawyers and newspaper men present in some of her characteristic ways.

Mrs. Nation soon became anxious about her bond. "Oh, now I see," she said, "why they are keeping me here this way. They knew I was going about the Lord's work this afternoon, and the devil put it into their heads to keep me here so I could not do it.

"It will be here soon," said the sher-iff. "Please be quiet, Mrs. Nation." But the bond did not come,

JOINTIST SIGNS HER BOND.

Mrs. Nation then went out on the front steps of the jail and appealed for somebody to sign her bond. Nick Chiles a negro jointist, came in and signed it, and soon Mrs. Nation was free. She was followed up the avenue by thousands, but at last reached her lodging place. The city is excited tonight, but no more raids are expected until tomorrow.

The deposit indicates the worth of the estate at the time of the testator's death to have been approximately $70,000,000, which has now been increased about one-seventh, making the present worth $80,000,000. The size of the check indicates that the Huntington estate in value will more than double the estimate placed upon it at the time of the death of the California pioneer.

Owing to the rise in railroad securities during the last six months the Hun. tington estate is now worth almost if not quite $10,000,000 more than it was when the will was offered for probate. As the inheritance tax is based the value at the time of the death of the testator, the estate would now seem to be worth approximately $80,000,000.

No accurate idea as to how the Huntington millions are invested has yet been made by the executors.

He says: "I had kept adding to a cold and cough in the winter of 1897, trying every cough medicine I heard of without permanent help, until one day I was in the drug store of Mr. Houlehan and he advised me to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and offered to pay back my money if I was not cured. My lungs and bronchial tubes were very sore at this time, but I was completely cured by this remedy, and have since always turned to it when I got a cold, and soon find relief. I also recommend it to my friends and am glad to say it is the best of all cough medicines.

BRIGHT NEW HATCHETS.

As they waited their number was augmented by many more men, who entered the Statehouse grounds with a determined and grim look on their faces and with axes slung conveniently over their shoulders. Two men came in with great mining picks and others had sledge hammers. These weapons were too large for women, who com-posed one-fifth of the party, and they carried bright new hatchets.

LEADER OVERSLEEPS HERSELF

All the plans were made. Soon the electric lights on the street went out and day began to break. "Where can Mrs. Nation be?" was asked in some anxiety. No answer could be given other than she had promised to be there at 5 o'clock. But she overslept herself an hour and arrived about 6 o'clock. Then work followed quickly, o'clock. Then work followed quickly. "Get in line there, men and women. We must go about the Lord's work now. Get your hatchets ready and follow me," said Mrs. Nation. And they did. Behind her were Mrs. Rose Christ and Miss Madeline Southward, who accompanied her on last week's trip to Chicago, and Dr. Eva Harding.

WASHBURN COLLEGE BOYS.

Next came six Washburn college boys bearing an immense battering ram. Three of the boys were on each side of the ram, which they held with one hand and with the other hand they clutced a bright, new hatchet that had been procured for them by Mrs. had been procured for them by Mrs. Nation yesterday.

Nation yesterday. As they entered Kansas avenue some of the women wanted to stop and demolish Sim's drug store, which has the reputation of selling as much liquor as any joint in the city. Mrs. Nation demurred; she had other plans and meant to enforce them. She gave the order to march again and the crowd followed her as before. As they passed another notorious place, the crowd wanted to stop again. But Mrs. Na-tion had not yet reached her starting point. point.

SMASH, SMASH, SMASH,

The crowd then turned the corner at Sixth street and soon reached the front door of Murphy's fashionable joint. Four policemen stood at the door to suard the entrance. They commanded the people in very dignified tones to stand back. "Smash, smash, smash," called out Mrs. Nation. "Don't pay any aitention to them." The boys with the battering ram came forward and in less time than it takes to tell it, the big plate-glass windows were shattered into thousands of fragments. of fragments. Dozens of men then rushed on the buildings armed with their axes and soon had the doors and window frames cut entirely away.

Then, with an exultant cheer, the crowd burst into the building. "Praise God, women. Smash the bottles and the windows," called out Mrs. Nation again, and rafsing her famous hatchet she sent it through a window glass that had yet been left.

MRS. NATION ARRESTED.

The policeman managed to recover from their scare by this time to grab Mrs. Nation. They started off with her to the station is rapidly as possible. She waved her arms and frantically called out to her co-workers: "Oh. keep it up; you can do it without me. Praise God, keep it up,keep on smash-ing. You don't need me."

Mrs Nation managed to enter the cold-storage plant, but found herself in the poultry-room. She then tried another place and got into the engine-room.

MAKES A SCENE.

By this time Sheriff Cook and Chief of Police Stahl came upon the scene and placed her under arrest. This time she made quite a scene and was taken to the county jail in the patrol wagon. Her arrest this time was on a county warrant sworn to by the coldstorage people, charging her with breaking a lock.

There had been a quantity of liquor in the plant the night before, but the proprietors, in anticipation of possible trouble, had stored it in a large freight car on the Rock Island tracks, and had arrangements made for a switch engine to come up at a moment's no-tice and pull the car out of the way of danger, Some of the people accom-panying Mrs. Nation noticed that it was queer for a car to be in that position, but no attempt was made to enter it.

THIRD ARREST OF SMASHER.

When Mrs. Nation was again taken down she was confronted with an-other arrest. This time it was for entering the Murphy Joint. By this time the people of the city had begun to wake up, and soon the streets were full of eager seekers after the latest news. Extra issues of the morning papers containing the details of the dramatic happenings were eagerly purchased

MRS. NATION TRIUMPHS.

Mrs. Nation thus gained one triumph in the morning, but another was re-served for her in the afternoon. Mrs. Eva Marshall Shontz of Chicago addressing an immense mass meeting of men and women in the First Chris-tian church, when she all at once stopped with the remark: "Well, I guess there is no use of me trying to speak any more."

The en-tire audience arose, and the sacred edifice rang again and again with the cheers of the admirers of the woman

HATCHETS AID LORD'S WORK. "It remains for a few little women with their little hatchets," she said, "to do this great work of the Lord. I have found a hatchet of great use in the Lord's work." "Women," she said, as she suddenly stepped forward with a dramatic gesture, "women, we must be about the work of the Lord this very afternoon. There are yet some hell holes here, which have not closed up in spite of the promises to the contrary, and we must smash them this afternoon. This very afternoon." "Amen!" "Yes, we will!" exclaimed a hundred women, many of them shedding tears in their excitement.

The scene was dramatic, and not a person in the house, man or woman, would have stood back for a minute if Mrs. Nation had said that she had come to move on the joints. She had completely captured them. Mrs. Nation said she was going to remain, "right here in Topeka," until after the city election, so she could help in the election of the mayor.

HOME DEFENDERS CALLED.

The meeting then adjourned, some resolutions protesting against the im-pending resubmission resolution in the legislature, and as the meeting ad-journed, Mrs. Nation asked the Home Defenders to meet her at the close of the meeting. She was going on another smashing tour.

Mrs. Nation smiled good naturedly. "Another warrant!" she exclaimed. "What can that be for? They have served three upon me already today."

"Let's see it," said Mrs. Nation, "Defacing property! why I defaced no propracing property: why I detaced no prop-erty, I just destroyed it. I never deface any property. That's a ridiculous charge to bring up against me. But come along, Mister Officer, I am nott afraid of a jail. I have had consider-able experience with them lately, while I have been about the Lord's work." Turning to the carger crowd of work.

Turning to the eager crowd of won-dering people she said: "They have got another warrant for me. I'm going to jail again. I will be right out, though, women, and so go on making your ar-rangements."
