A low temperature. The method here called the pasteurization of milk. It does not kill all the bacteria, but it does destroy so many of them that it greatly increases the keeping properties of the milk. Moreover, it almost entirely destroys the danger from disease germs in milk, which is nearly all forms likely to occur in milk, are killed by this process. The advantage of this method is that the temperature of the milk does not rise to the milk the taste of boiled milk, which most people find objectionable. It also renders the milk difficult of digestion. -Professor H. W. Condit in Popular Science Monthly.

The flower of St. Sophia. The magnificent form of St. Sophia is joined in the air, traditionally by a miracle, but really by tracks of deceptive mineral and concealed hot-dresses. -London Times.
