IF WE KNEW.

If we knew the woe and heart-ache,
Waiting for us down the road,
If our lips could taste the wormwood,
If our backs could feel the load,
Would we waste the time in wishing
For a time that ne'er can be?
Would we wait in such impatience
For our ships to come from sea?

If we knew the baby fingers,
Pressed against the window-pane,
Would be cold and stiff to-morrow—
Never trouble us again—
Would the bright eyes of our darling
Catch the frown upon our brow?
Would the print of rosy fingers
Vex us then as they do now?

Ah, these little ice-cold fingers,
How they point our memories back
To the hasty words and action
Strewn along our backward track;
How these little hands remind us,
As in snowy grace they lie,
Not to scatter thorns—but roses—
For our reaping by and by.

Strange, we never prize the music
Till the sweet-voiced bird has flown;
Strange, that we should slight the violets
Till the lovely flowers are gone;
Strange, that summer skies and sunshine
Never seem one half so fair
As when the winter's snowy pinions
Shake their white down in the air!

Lips, from which the seal of silence
None but God can roll away,
Never blossomed in such beauty
As adorns the mouth to-day;
And sweet words that freight our memory
With their beautiful perfume,
Come to us in sweeter accents
Through the portals of the tomb.

Let us gather up the sunbeams
Lying all around our path;
Let us keep the wheat and roses,
Casting out the thorns and chaff;
Let us find our sweetest comfort
In the blessings of to-day,
With patient hand removing
All the briers from our way.

Libel Suit.

SAN FRANCISCO, 18.—The complaint of Jas. W. Simonton against the proprietor of the Alta for libel have fixed the damages at two thousand dollars. The suit is based on an article in the Alta of September 21st, accusing the plaintiff of doctoring the press dispatches and conspiring to break the Bank of California.

Oriental News.

The Pacific mail steamer China from Hongkong, via Yokohama, has arrived. From overland China mail of October 14th we learn that some of the rioters who destroyed the Great Northern Telegraph Co.'s property at Huang Kow have been punished, but they are stated to have been drawn by lot.

The Chinese crew of the German schooner Anna, near Foochow, mutinied, murdered the captain and mate, and ran off with the vessel. The German dispatch boat Cyclops went in pursuit.

Three U. S. army officers, who have visited Shanghai to inspect the Chinese military and naval armaments, were courteously received. They subsequently proceeded to Pekin.

Captains Templar and Divers, employed at the wreck of the steamship Japan, have given over their operations for the season and returned to Hong Kong.

Nearly five thousand dollars has been collected at Shanghai for the sufferers by the floods in France.

The Japan Gazette of October 26th confirms the reported sale of Pacific Mail steamers to a Japanese Company and says the Golden Age, Oregonian, and Costa Rica have been purchased by a local company, the Nevada being detained as the property of the Pacific Mail until the expiration of the existing mail contract. Freight and passage rates have been already raised two hundred per cent.

The exchange of Knoite Islands against Southern Saghalien has been officially effected. The Russian and Japanese commissioners have returned.

The weather has set in very cold. Snow fell in Yezo some days ago, a month earlier than last year.

A Japan Gazette says, "We are informed in a quarter which we usually find reliable, that war with Corea is inevitable."

THE MORMONS.

The Early History, Struggles and Conquests of a Persecuted People.

OMAHA, November 14, 1875.

To the Editor of the Herald:

My interests have been identified with Utah over twenty-five years. During that time I formed an extensive acquaintance with her people, including many of her representative men. But few common cities have been more extensively misrepresented or more thoroughly misunderstood.

Whatever may have been the motives which actuated the pioneers of Utah, it is the material facts of their subsequent history, the results of their labors that indicates the tendency of their principles.

In 1847 the Mormons led by Brigham Young colonized Salt Lake Valley on the back-bone of the American continent. In the centre of a vast wilderness, surrounded by savages, far removed from the amenities of civilization, they laid the foundation of a future commonwealth.

Under the circumstances they could not have been actuated by pecuniary motives. Nothing short of the hope of realizing the practical benefits of a sincere religious faith could have sustained them under trials of such magnitude and importance.

A thousand miles from any resources except those developed by their energies from the stubborn elements of the desert, without extraneous aid or even sympathy, they have developed an amount of pluck, of patient perseverance unparalleled within a century in the history of American colonization.

Necessity compels them to work out a successful system of irrigation. This made existence possible in Salt Lake Valley, and has since developed the agricultural resources of Utah. It has also taught others how to utilize the narrow valleys and barren sage plains of a vast area of the public domain, the resources of which were considered by early explorers inadequate for the vants of civilization.

Scarcely had Salt Lake City become safe from the incursions of savages through the protection afforded by other settlements, than Utal was made the unwilling receptacle of the refuse of political parties in the form of federal officers. They have often been men of a low order of talent and of debased morals, who were ever ready to eke out their meagre salaries by pickings from the slender resources of struggling stllements.

This monotony of bad officials has occasionally been relieved by he advent of a man of broad, liberal views. Such have never failed to win the respect and confidence of the people.

To-day, Utah with an industrious, law abiding population, comprising many intelligent capitalists from various parts of the world, is carrying the weighty incubus of a political ring who bring their religious prejudices to bear on courts of justice, and whose selfishness will not admit that anything is right that does not pander to their avarice.

Moderate antagonisms can scarcely be considered evils by a people engaged in the work of religious reform and social reconstruction. They stimulate to purity of life and develop energy. They spread new principles by attracting the attention of the people.

The insults and judicial tyranny of the Utah ring will probably subserve Mormon interests better than their own.

Mormonism is a stubborn, living fact. Its history proves it to have an innate vitality which persecution only invigorates.

With this view of the subject, Mormons do not anticipate being crushed by the operations of a political ring, the decisions of missionary judges, or by the transient waves of prejudiced public opinion.

The Schools of the Country.

Considering the great difficulties in the way of analyzing the operations of the numerous school systems in vogue, the report of the Commissioner of Education for the year 1874 presents a large budget of serviceable information. All the States and Territories are able now to report their school population, and the increase for the year is 416,125. This increase becomes apparent only in those states which listen, and not those which unfortunately use for each decade the returns of the United States census. The Commissioner presents a statement showing the expenditure per capita of school enumeration and the expenditure per capita of pupils enrolled in public schools in the different States and Territories for 1874. Massachusetts heads the list with an expenditure per capita of school enumeration of $14·70; of pupils enrolled in public schools of $14 48. The remaining States report the following:
