

VENTILATION OF STREET CARS.

Subject That is Attracting Wide-spread Attention in This Country.

DR. MONJARA'S OBSERVATIONS

Submits That Foul Air Transmits Disease—Why Smallpox is Prevalent in Winter.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—The generous and general endorsement which the press has given to the efforts of the metropolitan boards of health to secure better ventilation for street cars and railway passenger coaches, as an initial step toward the improvement of the ventilation of all public utilities, has apparently not only excited popular interest in this subject in the United States, but is attracting attention from foreign municipal authorities and health specialists. People who would be horrified at being confined even for a short time in a room without ventilation, submit to being heeled together in almost hermetically sealed street cars where they inhale not only the breath of the heterogeneous crowd of passengers but the oftentimes obnoxious odors clinging to the clothing of those engaged in certain occupations. Dr. J. E. Monjara, of the city of Mexico, probably the leading Mexican authority on this subject, and a personal friend of Surgeon-General Walter Wyman of the United States, has written interestingly on the contamination of the air under such circumstances, stating that not only the danger of infection but of the unpleasantness attending the inhalation of the various odors arising from a mass of human beings.

MONJARA'S OBSERVATIONS.

"Man himself constitutes one of the most powerful elements in the contamination of the atmosphere," writes the Mexican physician, "the products of his breathing are poisonous; the gases, vapors of water, intestinal gases, perspiration, the parasites and parts of the skin itself when taken off, some specific microbe organism when the disease suffers or is troubled with any disease which may be transmitted through the air, the blood or pus from wounds not entirely healed, the articles and substances which he uses for his food, comfort, or toilet, the cigar, etc., the impurities adhering to his clothes, shoes, the particles of the fibers which constantly come off from goods, from furniture or from carpets, which, being crushed and reduced to powder by his feet, mingle with the air. The greater the number of dwellers or visitors in a given place becomes the more liable to decomposition the air of such a place will be.

"Once we have succeeded in preserving, through our senses, the presence of carbonic acid in a given place, for instance, in a theater, church, etc., the respirable air which, according to hygienic principles must be pure, will then contain an enormous quantity of germs, organic bodies, in a state of decay, deleterious gases, which will tend to provoke a peculiar susceptibility on the part of the visitors to contract this or that infectious disease, and will render the same."

From his observations and study of the subject set forth at considerable length, Dr. Monjara draws a number of deductions, one of them to the effect that when rooms or cars are occupied by persons suffering from contagious diseases, the air may be the main vehicle for the transmission of such diseases to other persons "according to the nature of the disease, as for instance, influenza, scarlet fever, smallpox, diphtheria, etc."

SMALLPOX IN WINTER.

Commenting on this feature of Dr. Monjara's remarks, a medical officer of the United States marine hospital service said today: "Smallpox is generally recognized as a winter disease but it is doubtful if many people realize why it is much more prevalent in winter than in summer. In the summer the windows are open and the air is constantly in circulation. In the winter it is the reverse and the germs have greater opportunity to attack and conditions are much more favorable for their propagation. Smallpox is much more infectious in a hot closed room than in a cold open one. Smallpox is much more dangerous to those sitting near him than the same person in a winter car with the windows down and doors closed would be liable to infect every passenger. Light and air are fatal to germs, and that is why smallpox flourishes most in badly-lighted, ill-ventilated rooms from which the germs are carried in the clothing of the inmates and spread by contact in public places."

G. B. Burhans testifies after four years

G. B. Burhans, of Carlisle Center, N. Y., writes: "About four years ago I wrote you stating that I had been entirely cured of a severe kidney trouble by taking less than two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It entirely stopped the bristly dust sediment, and pain and symptoms of kidney disease disappeared. I am glad to say that I have never had a return of any of those symptoms during the four years that have elapsed and I am evidently cured to any cure, and heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Cure to any one suffering from kidney or bladder trouble and healthy looking. PARSONS SELLS CATTLE.

Utah Man Markets a Trainload in Kansas City—Good Range This Year.

Special Correspondence.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 8.—M. K. Parsons, one of the best known ranch owners west of the Rocky Mountains, brought to this market on the 5th from Rifle, Colo., a trainload of cattle. In the shipment were steers and cows, the latter selling at the top price of the day in their class. The steers also sold strong. Mr. Parsons resides at Salt Lake City, Utah, and in addition to his ranch he operates in the north-west corner of Colorado near the Utah line, he is interested in cattle raising in Oregon and Nevada. The shipment referred to was the first of a string of about 7,000 head of cattle that he will market this fall.

"All depends upon the condition of the market as to when we will bring them in," said Mr. Parsons. "There is one thing certain, and that is this: we are not compelled to ship this season on account of a shortage of feed for stock as the range feed was never better, and cattle are doing well. We are not overstocked either, although a good many steers have been brought over into Western Colorado from Oregon. We handle steers almost exclusively, and as we do not raise many of them, we have to import them from Nevada and Oregon."

The cattle supply last week was 37,000 head, quite an increase over the previous week, and too many to maintain prices. The first straight Colorado grass cattle of the season came in and had to sell around $4, and 900-pound range cattle sold at $5.35 to $5.50. The stocker demand was slack, and fair to good western stockers sold at $2.50 to $2.75. The feeder inquiry was better than that for stockers, but a good many sales were at $3 to $3.50. Good heavy westerns or panhandle steers, 1,050 to 1,250 pounds, suitable for short feed, sold at $3.75 to $4.25. There is plenty of forage in the country, and there is a good prospect for corn in the great feeding section, which leads dealers here to think the demand will improve, and prices make some gains in the near future. The packing situation is gradually clearing, and this should not have any further influence on the stocker and feeder business. The best kind of killing cattle sold steady last week, and the market is steady today on nearly all kinds of cattle, as the supply is light at all points, and only 8,000 head locally. Fed western steers sold from $3.75 to $5.75 for extreme top. Grass steers, fair to good, brought $2.15 to $3, while canners were hard to sell at all, and veal calves dull, up to $4.50. The prospects for this week are good for a steady to strong market.

The sheep that have been coming for some time consist almost entirely of small bunches of natives. Choice lambs sold the past week at $6.25. Very few western sheep have made their appearance here, but the market is in condition now to take care of fairly liberal runs of same. Western wethers are quoted at $2.50 to $4, yearlings at $4.25 to $5.50, yearlings $3.75, lambs, $1 to $4.25. Orders are held here for a large number of stock and feeding sheep, waiting the arrival of stuff suitable to fill them. The markets have ruled strong the past week on all kinds, and is strong and active today.

Was in Poor Health for Years.

Ira W. Kelley, of Mansfield, Pa., writes: "I was in poor health for two years, suffering from kidney and bladder trouble, and spent considerable money consulting physicians without obtaining any relief. I was cured by Foley's Kidney Cure, and I desire to add my testimony that it may be the cause of restoring the health of others. Refuse substitutes. F. J. Hill Drug Co."

DR. NEEDHAM'S MISSION.

Is Here Visiting George Washington Memorial Societies of the West.

Dr. Charles Needham, president of Columbia university, Washington, arrived in the city yesterday according to expectations, and was immediately taken in hand by Dr. W. F. Beer, A. E. Snow, J. E. Wiley, N. R. Brochens, M.

M. Knight, C. L. Olson and A. V. Taylor, all of whom were at some time students of the institution.

This committee was to the doctor's entertainment from the moment he stepped off the train. He was taken to the Tabernacle, where the organ, and in the evening was conducted to Saltair.

The object of Dr. Needham's trip is to visit the George Washington Memorial societies of the west and confer with them as to the memorial building which has been promised the Columbian university provided the name of the school be changed to George Washington university. About $50,000 has been raised up to this time for the memorial building.

Dr. Needham was delighted with his reception here. The pleasantest days of his life, he remarked, are those days when he meets old students of Columbia. He is anxious to have the local alumni organize at once.

The officers of the local auxiliary of the Washington Memorial association are Mrs. C. E. Allen and Mrs. Hester Hackney, who were in conference with Dr. Needham at the Knutsford a portion of the day.

JOHNSON IS MARRIED NOW.

Butte-Salt Lake Dentist Continues to Be Very Much in the Public Eye.

Dr. A. W. Johnson, who, yesterday morning was bound over to the district court on the charge of performing a criminal operation upon Mary Baer, was married late yesterday afternoon in Judge Stewart's courtroom to Miss Frankie V. Sturgis, who resides at 442 South West Temple street. The ceremony was performed by Deputy County Clerk David A. Smith, and was witnessed by Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Sturgis, the parents of the bride, and also a sister of the bride. The young couple will take a short wedding tour, after which they will be at home at the above address.

The father of the bride is one of Dr. Johnson's bondsmen, and he stated yesterday that his daughter had been engaged to the doctor for some time, and as he and his family intended to leave the city at once, the wedding occurred earlier than was intended on that account. He expressed himself as satisfied beyond a doubt of the innocence of his son-in-law of the crime with which he stands charged.

War Against Consumption.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

Young Married Woman Tries to End Life in San Francisco.

The San Francisco Call of recent date has the following of interest in this city: The attempt of Mary Cloud, a young married woman from Salt Lake City, to end her life at her room at 28 Fifth street yesterday morning nearly cost the life of another tenant as well as her own. As it is both well recovered, the woman, by her own admission, is addicted to the use of morphine, and said she found it hard to purchase the drug in San Francisco, and she preferred to die rather than do without her allowance. So she turned on the gas in her room. The fumes filtered through a thin partition into the adjoining room occupied by Antonio Roehn, and he was overcome. Both the man and the woman were removed to the Central Emergency hospital, where they were treated by Dr. Pawlicki.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

Edward Steed, a Kaysville Farmer Run Down by a Railroad Train.

Edward Steed, a Kaysville farmer, was fatally injured, his horses killed, and his wagon smashed by a D. & R. G. engine, between Farmington and Kaysville yesterday afternoon. Steed drove onto the crossing ahead of the train, the first section of No. 1, apparently unconscious of impending danger, and ere he knew it, the engine was upon him. The train stopped, and the injured man was taken up to Ogden to be cared for.

Steed's barn and stacks were burned recently, and this accident will leave his family destitute. It was ascertained at Ogden that the unfortunate man was suffering from congestion of the brain, and that his shoulders and breast were badly crushed. The doctors said he could not live.

Amusements

The Salt Lake Theater will open its box office tomorrow morning, beginning at 10 o'clock, for the sale of seats for "Cousin Kate," in which Miss Barrymore will appear, on Monday and Tuesday evenings next. Already there have been many inquiries and several box parties have been arranged for.

If the Ringling Bros. circus tent has a seating capacity of 15,000, then not less than 15,000 people jammed, packed, crowded, pushed and fought their way in last night. It was a tremendous, sweltering throng, but they saw wonders that more than repaid them for the physical endurance they were called upon to display.

The show is great. It opens with a spectacle in pantomime, representing a carnival during the Crusades, along the order of Paul's famous Manhattan beach events. It affords the introduction of a bewildering mass of bright costumes, a ballet of perhaps 150 women, an army of horsemen, etc., and was a very pretty picture. The other big new feature is "Crazo," who "leaps the gap," just as shown in the lithographs. To see a man undertake a feat of that kind was alone worth the price of admission. The usual acrobatic exhibitions, bare-back riding, trapeze, rings and aerial bars were there in abundance, and none of them were poor. The clowns were unusually amusing, many of their antics being new and novel.

OF INTEREST TO SICK PEOPLE.

We have all the sympathy in the world for sick people, and want to treat them in a serious way. There is no humor in pain and affliction, but hard earnest fact. It is impossible for the patient to impress on others the extent of suffering they endure, and their anxiety for relief. To get relief from suffering is the greatest need of the sick. We have had thousands of letters from people who have had dyspepsia, sick-headache, and bilious attacks, who tell us how thankful they were to have used Dr. Gunn's all-purposed Liver Pills. They are sold all drug stores for 25 cents per box. Only one trial will show that these pills remove cause of disease and make the skin clear and healthy looking.

CATARRH OF STOMACH THREATENED LIFE.

Pe-ru-na Promptly Restored Her to Health and Beauty.

A Heavy, Bloating Feeling of the Stomach—Heartburn, and a Belching Up of Gas, Entirely Done Away With.

MISS SADIE BRUNELL, member of the Benevolent Sewing Circle, 278 Pearl St., Buffalo, N. Y., writes: "I wish to express my appreciation of Peruna. I was a great sufferer from catarrh of the stomach and was treated by several physicians, but with little relief. Finally Peruna was recommended to me by a friend, and soon after beginning to take the medicine I experienced much relief and at the end of five months I was entirely cured. I had suffered with heartburn at times, also sour stomach, and often after eating my stomach felt heavy and I belched up gas. My stomach was bloated and I could not bear tight clothes around my waist. It is over a year since I discontinued taking Peruna for my trouble, and I am able to eat anything I desire without experiencing any inconvenience, and I do not hesitate to say that I am entirely cured."—Miss Sadie Brunell.

The Bane of Her Life Was Stomach Trouble.

Miss Gertrude Pogue, 1407 Central Ave., Cincinnati, Ohio, Secretary Social Economics Club, writes:

"Stomach trouble has been the bane of my existence for a good many years. I tried a number of remedies for dyspepsia and indigestion, thinking that was the trouble, but nothing helped me until I took the right medicine for the right trouble. I was suffering with catarrh of the stomach and did not know it. Peruna took hold of the seat of the trouble and soon exterminated it from my system. I have a splendid appetite now, my food does not distress me and I am growing fleshier. I have a look of health which I have not had for years."—Miss Gertrude Pogue.

Pe-ru-na Contains No Narcotics.

One reason why Peruna has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotic of any kind. Peruna is perfectly harmless. It can be used any length of time without acquiring a drug habit. Peruna does not produce temporary results. It is permanent in its effect.

It has no bad effect upon the system, and gradually eliminates catarrh by removing the cause of catarrh. There are a multitude of homes where Peruna has been used off and on for twenty years. Such a thing could not be possible if Peruna contained any drugs of a narcotic nature.
