

EXPLOIT SCIENCE OF FRUIT GROWING

Fourth Annual Convention of State Horticultural Society Convenes Today.

THREE HUNDRED ATTEND.

Large Delegations Present from Various Parts of the State—Program of Meeting.

The science of fruit growing is to be exhaustively narrated in a series of meetings beginning at 2 o'clock this afternoon in Armory hall. The occasion is the fourth annual convention of the State Horticultural society and it will continue until tomorrow afternoon, when it will adjourn in time for the dry farming congress, immediately following it.

About 300 delegates were on hand at the opening of the convention this afternoon, large delegations coming from Moab, Green River, Grosvenor and Utah county, Cache county, Brigham City, Bear River valley, Weber county, Garfield, Syracuse, southern Davis county and, of course, a strong representation from Salt Lake county. Special parties will attend from the agricultural college at Logan and the Brigham Young University at Provo.

The fruit growers expect through the convention to discover better ways to pack and ship fruit, as getting the product safely to market is now one of the most serious problems connected with it. John F. Moore, president of the Grand National Fruit Growers' association of Colorado, will make the leading address, and it is expected that he will advocate closer relationship between the Utah fruit growers, and perhaps an association to protect their interests in trade.

The program of the convention for today follows:
Afternoon, 2 o'clock:
Invocation, John P. Sorensen, Salt Lake City.

President's annual address, James G. Duffin, manager, Utah County Fruit and Produce company, Provo, Utah.
"Preparation of Fruit for Exhibition," Thomas Judd, president state board of horticulture, St. George, Utah.
"The San Jose Scale Problem," Prof. E. G. Titus, entomologist, agricultural college, Logan, Utah.
Discussion: C. A. Hickenlooper, member board of horticulture, View, Weber county; David Moore, nurseryman, Ogden, Utah.
"The Growers and the Growers," William Craig, manager Salt Lake Valley Canning company, Ogden, Utah.
Discussion: Joseph Mabey, Sr., Clearfield, Utah; H. W. Valerius, Valentine fruit company, Brigham City, Utah.

Evening, 7:30 o'clock:

PRESIDENT'S ANNUAL ADDRESS.
President James G. Duffin said:

I am most happy to meet the fruit growers of our state and others who have met here today in the interest of this important industry. In behalf of the State Horticultural society I give you a hearty welcome to all of our meetings, and bespeak a most profitable time for those who shall listen to the able papers to be presented by those whose valuable services have been secured for this convention.

Through the able work of the state board of horticulture, the Agricultural college at Logan, the B. Y. university at Provo, and other schools in the state at which courses in horticulture are given, and the intelligent efforts of leading fruitgrowers and shippers, the primitive conditions that have prevailed so long are being replaced by modern methods of growing and marketing of our fruits.

The year just passed marks an important era in the fruit industry of Utah. Due to the late freezing weather in many parts of the United States during the spring of 1907, the fruit crop was either badly damaged or entirely destroyed. But here in Utah, while we suffered some losses, in what might properly be termed the peach belts unusually heavy crops were raised, notwithstanding the heavy frosts of April 19 and 20. This has demonstrated the fact that Utah is one of the safest states in the Union for investment in fruit lands.

UTAH FRUIT BELTS.
Since our last annual meeting tens of thousands of fruit trees have been planted, mainly apples and peaches. The counties that have taken the lead in orchard planting are, Utah, Boxelder, Weber and Davis. But while this is true, there is not a county, out of the 27 in the state, that has not

Women Worry

More than men, says Dr. McComb, and one reason is that their nervous organizations are more delicate. True, and Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the nerve-builder, appetite-giver, and blood-purifier they need. Indigestion 3 Years.—I was troubled with indigestion for three years. I read of Hood's Sarsaparilla and tried it. After taking a number of bottles I was completely cured. Mrs. J. H. HALEY, DeSoto, Mo.

Rheumatism.—"I had rheumatism in one of my ankles, but Hood's Sarsaparilla soon made me permanent cures. I received Hood's Sarsaparilla." Mrs. ANN HUTCHINSON, Lafayette, Cal.

one or more important fruit belts. Look, for instance, at the possibilities of the belt of counties around Lake County skirting the western slope of the Wasatch mountains; capable of producing hundreds of acres of fine peaches, apples, pears, and other fruits as are grown in the west. Such a county from which a straight car of fruit has never been shipped, yet having within her borders one of the finest apple districts in the state. Vastly the fruit industry of Utah is but in its infancy. Utah county alone is capable of producing more fruit, several times over, than is grown in the whole state, and this is but one of the several counties with almost equal possibilities.

A notable improvement in orchard planting is the number of varieties being raised. In the great majority of orchards these are being reduced to two or three in order that straight car shipments might be made. A great improvement is noted, also, in the care of orchards. They are being more liberally fed, more carefully pruned, sprayed, and cultivated, and greater care is being exercised in grading and packing the fruit. All these things are bound to give us a standing in the markets within the next few years such as we have never had.

EXHIBIT AT SACRAMENTO.

The exhibit made at the irrigation congress at Sacramento, Cal., by the state board of horticulture and by private citizens of the state, through which a number of medals, cups and cash prizes were secured, is a source of satisfaction to all interested in the material development of the commonwealth. Great are the benefits derived from exhibits of this kind as a means of advertising a still greater benefit is the encouragement given the grower to produce only the choicest fruits.

We cannot too strongly urge upon our people the importance of holding county fairs and making exhibits at the annual state fair. At these fairs, while prizes will and probably should be offered for exhibits put in for mere show, the commercial product and the commercial orchard should be emphasized in the distribution of prizes. We believe if this were done it would give encouragement to the planting of commercial orchards and the production of commercial fruits and vegetables.

The growers' associations in this state, are, to a certain extent, in the experimental stage. But where they have been organized with a competent board of directors, capable managers are employed, and these officers in turn receive the loyal support of the producers, we believe that the commercial factor in building up our reputation in the markets of the world is not so long as it has been. We have inferior fruits put on the market, nor can its members be held together except on strict business principles.

The average acreage production of irrigated lands in the state will probably not exceed 35 bushels, alfalfa hay from three to four tons, sugar beets 10 tons. Sixty bushels of wheat, six tons of well cured hay, and 30 tons of sugar beets would be an unusually good yield; yet thousands of acres planted to these crops are some of the finest fruit lands in the state. Now make calculations on the returns from wheat, alfalfa and hay and compare with the following:

RETURNS FROM FRUIT.
A peach grower in Utah county, after paying for boxes, paper and nails, received over $5,000; another grower from 146 elberta trees, sold $900 worth of peaches; another grower sold $700 worth of peaches from 120 trees; still another grower from a little over three acres of elberta trees sold a little over $2,000 worth of fruit. Had our reputation been established as that of Grand Junction or Palmdale, Colorado, returns would have far exceeded these figures. What is being done in the peach business is also being done with apples. And mark you these are not isolated cases, but are the returns from one orchard and other counties have done equally well.

The question is often asked the speaker: "With the acreage being set to fruit, and the fact that we have when there will be an overproduction and consequent losses in the business?" I believe we should look at this matter conservatively. Markets are being opened in foreign countries for our fruits, our own population is rapidly increasing, and fruit is becoming a more common article of diet, hence a greater consuming market. These sources of markets are furnished for a large percentage of the new orchards. It should also be remembered that old orchards and districts which in years past forced large quantities of fruit have become unproductive. But notwithstanding all of this, there may come a year occasionally when there will be overproduction and low prices be realized, but we also believe the fruit industry will follow the eternal law of the "survival of the fittest." He who will plant what the market demands and will put his product on the market according to its requirements, will always have sale for his fruit at remunerative prices, while he who "becomes a law unto himself" must take the consequences of his own rashness and perish with others of his kind.

Perish growers, while we have not attained the full fruition of our ambitions in the horticultural development of our state, we have left no stone unturned, and we shall continue to climb until the summit of the highest peak shall be gained.

AFTER BEATTY'S OFFICIAL SCALP

Utah County Medical Society Files Request With Governor Cutler.

BEATTY CHARGES SPITEWORK

Secretary of State Board Declares Dr. Holbrook is Part of Movement and Claims His Attitude is Wrong.

Dr. T. B. Beatty's official head is demanded by the Utah County Medical society in a letter received at the governor's office Saturday. Dr. Beatty's official acts while secretary of the state board of health are charged in support of the demand as having been marked with incompetency. Dr. Beatty, in reply, has charged that personal spite is the motive behind the demand. Gov. Cutler is out of the city and will not return until tomorrow and no indication of his prospective action has been given out.

The letter which brought the controversy to the front was the following: To His Excellency, John C. Cutler, Governor of Utah, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Dear Governor:
As secretary of the Utah County Medical society, I am instructed to send you a copy of certain resolutions passed by the society at its meeting held on the 15th inst. and to request your consideration of same.

Respectfully submitted,
(Signed) FREDERICK CLIFT, Secretary.

Accompanying it were the following extracts from the minutes of the regular monthly meeting of the Utah County Medical society held on the 15th of January, 1908:
"Motion—That the Utah County Medical society go on record as opposed to various actions of Dr. Beatty as secretary of the state board of health, and that we ask for his removal on account of incompetency. Carried unanimously."

"Motion—That the secretary of the Utah county medical society be removed from office and that each member of the state board of health, with the explanation that we will enter into these charges unless he called upon, carried unanimously."

(Signed) FREDERICK CLIFT, "Secretary."
CLAIMS SPITE RESPONSIBLE.
Dr. Beatty declares that Dr. Holbrook is responsible for most of the charges preferred. He is a heartily loyal man, and was disinclined to many residences where measles had existed. The repeal of the fumigating ordinance of Lehi, says Dr. Beatty, caused Dr. Holbrook to take umbrage and criticize the secretary as irresponsible for the action. Dr. Beatty says that all he did in the premises was to tell Mayor Webb of Lehi that disinfection for measles could only be enforced where there existed city ordinances to that effect.

As to the charge that he neglected to inspect slaughterhouses, Dr. Beatty said that was under the supervision of his assistant, Dr. Lehi, and was disinclined to do so. He had nothing to do with it.

DR. BEATTY'S STATEMENT.
As a partial statement of the charges against him, Dr. Beatty is quoted as follows:

"This affair has evidently arisen as a result of spite on the part of two physicians in Utah county," he declared. "Upon hearing of the affair, I called up the acting secretary of the Utah County Medical society, and he told me for an explanation. He stated that the two physicians referred to had made charges against me at the meeting on Jan. 15, which was attended by six members of the society. The effect of the charges was to support one of them in the discharge of his duty, he being a health officer at Lehi, and that I had given permission some years ago to the Telluride Power company to construct a dam on the Lehi river, which had become a nuisance. The third and only other charge made, so far as I could understand, was the failure to abate a nuisance at Provo caused by a slaughterhouse."

"The absurdity of these charges will be shown when investigated."

INSPECTOR CLARK TALKS.
In the absence of Secy. Beatty, of the state board of health today state Inspector F. E. Clark of the board, and Dr. Beatty's assistant, stated that the board had nothing whatever to do with the cessation of fumigation for measles at Lehi. "Quarantine and disinfection for measles and chickenpox," said Mr. Clark, "are entirely under local municipal control, independent of the board of health, and if the Lehi city council saw fit to stop fumigation, that was a matter in which they acted fully within their legal sphere. At the slaughterhouses at Provo, they, too, are entirely under local municipal direction, and all the state officers can do is to notify and warn. If restrictive action is to be taken, the local officials must do it. As to the cesspool complaint of the management of the Telluride plant at the mouth of Provo canyon, asked the advice of the board relative to the maintenance of a cesspool, and was told that it must be abated as soon as a dam and a new one dug."

Inspector Clark did not appear to lay much stress on the complaint raised by the Utah county doctors, and believed that the governor would not give it any serious consideration.

CHURCH NOTICES.

Elder James E. Talmage will speak tomorrow evening at the new Twenty-fourth ward meetinghouse, services commencing at 8:30 o'clock. All are invited.

The High Priest's quorum of the Salt Lake stake will meet in the Seventeenth ward assembly hall at 10 a. m., Sunday, Jan. 26, 1908.

The woman who does her own work ought to have the very best of everything to do with it.

Take this matter of dish-washing, for example—it pays to use Ivory Soap even for that.

Ivory Soap cleans the dishes as thoroughly as any soap can; while, at the same time, it is so mild and pure that it does not injure the hands.

Ivory Soap 99 1/100 Per Cent. Pure.

CHAIRMAN IS LATE.

The meeting of the Transcontinental Script association which was scheduled to open at the Knutsford at 10 o'clock this morning did not open until 11 o'clock this afternoon, the postponement being made because Chairman Gardner from the coast had not yet appeared. All western railroads are being represented at the convention which really has no work which would interfere with its pleasure as nothing but script regulations are gone over. Among the outside railroads who are present are: Major S. K. Hooper, general passenger agent of the Rio Grande; T. C. Peck, holding the same position with the Salt Lake Route; J. M. Scott, assistant general passenger agent of the O. R. & N. C. H. Speers, general passenger agent for the Colorado Midland and others.

FORM POULTRY ASSOCIATION.

As an outcome of the Poultry show last week, the breeders of Rhode Island Reds have formed and association to protect the breeders of the state. With winners of first prizes in Los Angeles, and the Missouri prize winner in Kansas City, the association has decided to hold a show of the birds of the show, declares that he had never seen better individual specimens than those in this show. A number of special prizes will be awarded by the association to stimulate interest, and a series of silver trophy cups has already been secured to be given at the next show.

PAPERS WERE DEFECTIVE.

The governor of Alabama issued requisition papers on the governor of Utah for the extradition of Walter Simmons, wanted in that state for murder, and they were received in the governor's office today. Acting Governor Hays refused to honor them, however, and has sent them back to have certain defects remedied. Simmons remains in custody laid to await the arrival of an Alabama officer with proper papers.

DRY FARMERS DUE TOMORROW

Colorado and Wyoming Delegations Are Expected to Arrive in Morning.

THOSE WHO ARE ON THE WAY.

Nevada Contingent Roster Received This Morning—Campbell is Included Among Nebraskans.

With the fruit growers of Utah in session this afternoon in Armory hall, and the transcontinental script bureau meeting this morning in parlor A of the Knutsford, the great convention week is getting a good beginning. For the Transmissouri Dry Farm congress, which will make the week notable in Salt Lake history, every preliminary arrangement has been made for a successful month. That the hotels will be overcrowded is the only fear.

"There are other conventions," declared Fisher Harris, this morning, "that I know we could get, but I don't not go out after them, that is, until the hotels are more in number than they are at present are. We must now confine our attention to the smaller conventions of from 500 to 2,000 delegates. On larger ones we would encounter difficulties in successfully entertaining them, however good our intentions."

What Salt Lake will be required to do in furnishing entertainment will be demonstrated tomorrow, when the larger delegations are expected. Already many arrangements have been made at the leading hotels.

COMING TOMORROW.

The Colorado and Wyoming delegations are expected tomorrow morning. From Oregon and Nevada the delegations will arrive in the afternoon. Idaho delegates are expected to arrive tomorrow, and the big crowd is expected Wednesday morning.

Prof. Merrill of the Agricultural college, in charge of decorating the room for the dry farm products, has a large task on his hands, but it is expected that he will have things ready for action before the first meeting Wednesday morning.

From Nevada a list of delegates was received this morning, consisting of A. V. Lee, W. H. Edwards, J. J. Early, G. B. Baldwin, J. W. Stewart, John M. Bunker, W. H. Gaun, A. W. Greer, J. N. Hollinger, W. T. Stewart, W. S. Galt, W. C. Long, James H. Under, O. E. Boone and Fred Johnson.

Emery county, Utah, sends H. T. Taines, J. J. Hansen, George M. Miller, J. R. Browning and D. C. Robbins. With the Nevada delegation, scheduled to arrive tomorrow, Mr. Campbell, the celebrated founder of the "Campbell System" is expected. Vice President Donahue of Denver is expected in tomorrow.

THE JOHN HUGHES ESTATE.

Mrs. Nellie B. Hughes has been appointed special administrator of the estate of John W. Hughes, upon a statement made by Judge T. D. Lewis, the celebrated founder of the "Campbell System" is expected. Vice President Donahue of Denver is expected in tomorrow.

MOFFATT LOSES IN COURT.

The long drawn out contest of Rupert E. Lee Wixom against D. W. Moffatt for the city attorneyship of Murray has been ended by a decision by Judge T. D. Lewis. Judge Lewis has found that Moffatt was not a qualified elector at the time he was elected to office, but that, as this fact was generally known, Wixom was not entitled to act as city attorney. Now it is up to the Murray city council to select the legal head for their city. It is generally believed that Moffatt will be appointed to the office, as it is said that he is qualified to hold the office, though he lives just outside the city limits of Murray. He does, however, live within the boundaries of Murray precinct.

GIRL IS COMMITTED.

Zella Garsides, age 14 years, was committed to the State Industrial school today by Judge T. D. Lewis. The girl has been before the court many times, the father of the girl showing to the court that she was completely beyond the control of her mother. The juvenile court has provided her on several occasions with good homes, but she has refused to stay in them. The commitment was signed yesterday, but the girl got away before the court officers could get her to the train. The process was placed in the hands of the sheriff and she was found this morning and she will be taken to Ogden today by a deputy.

SEEKS JUDGMENT ON NOTE.

E. A. Culbertson entered a complaint in the district court today seeking to recover judgment against S. C. Lichtenstein for $469.06, $114 in interest and $30 attorney fees, the amount covering a promissory note executed Jan. 2, 1905, by Lichtenstein, payable March of the same year to the National Bank of the Republic, and assigned by it to Culbertson.

SWITCH IN FACE STARTS DIVORCE

George W. Vance, a nephew of Thomas Vance, awaiting trial in the district court for the murder of his wife, Mrs. Mary Vance, on Thanksgiving day, is charged by his wife, Amanda E. Vance, a sister of the dead woman, with threatening to kill her. Upon this ground she is asking divorce in the Third district court. The unhappy pair were married in Mitchell county, N. C., on Christmas day of 1881.

Mrs. Vance charged her husband with gross cruelty and reveals a little side-light on his temper that is somewhat unusual and must have been accompanied by great suffering on the part of the Vance cow. The family cow, it appears from the complaint, was in the habit of giving milk at stated intervals, much in the manner of ordinary cows. Also, in the manner of ordinary cows, the Vance cow on one occasion switched its tail into the face of Vance while he was inducing her to give up a bucket of milk. This made Vance so angry that he struck at the unfortunate critter with an axe. This action on the part of Vance, so unnerved the tail wife, who at the time was soon to become a mother, that she fainted. The fright which possessed the woman at this time caused her to give premature birth to her child, she believes, thereby causing her great pain and mental anguish. At the same time the child was born, she says, he used vile and profane language toward her, thus jeopardizing the future of their child, had it lived. Then he threatened to kill her.

ACTED IN BRUTAL MANNER.
Upon another occasion when Vance according to the wife, was about to beat her son Lewis, she protested and for answer he seized her by the arm and then treated her in a most brutal manner. There are five minor children and a married daughter living as issue of the marriage. In her prayers with dry farm products, has a large task on his hands, but it is expected that he will have things ready for action before the first meeting Wednesday morning.

From Nevada a list of delegates was received this morning, consisting of A. V. Lee, W. H. Edwards, J. J. Early, G. B. Baldwin, J. W. Stewart, John M. Bunker, W. H. Gaun, A. W. Greer, J. N. Hollinger, W. T. Stewart, W. S. Galt, W. C. Long, James H. Under, O. E. Boone and Fred Johnson.
