appearance, and a quarrel ensued in regard to her having followed him. she seemed delighted in viewing so many bright and happy faces. She made a little speech to the children, exhorting them to deeds of goodness and promised them, if they would be good boys and girls, she would pay them another visit next Christmas. Then they both disappeared having rid themselves of their rich presents for the children. The Sunday School choir then sang "Our Own Sunday School," making the hall ring with their joyous melody. Benediction by Bishop Rasband. The Sunday School teachers and many of the citizens contributed liberally of their means for the entertainment. The hall was crowded, there being the largest gathering of the kind ever witnessed in Heber City. F. H. MOULTON.
