ing camp 20 miles from this city, last night, resulted in the death of John Durham, his son William, J. H. Newman, Wm. Brown and John Houck. Sam Bennett, another miner, had a narrow escape from death. For some time the mine has been under water and the men' mentioned were at work on a raft pumping it out. Without warning, a mass of rock from the sides of the shaft above them fell on to the raft, breaking it up and precipitating the man into the water. Sam Bennett, who escaped, did so by clinging to a log of the raft until rescued. The other five men sunk to the bottom of the shaft and are tying in sixty feet of water.

New York, June 14.—A special to the Evening World from Mole St. Nicholas says the auxiliary cruiser St. Louis has arrived there from Guantanamo, which place she left at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The marines who were at Caimanera were hard at work throwing up breastworks and strong fortifications on a hilltop behind the promontory, where guns will be placed for protection of the force.

Three miles east of Santiago there was a little village, where a considerable force of Spanish troops was stationed. It, was used as a kind of base of operations for the attack on the American positions, but yesterday, the World dispatch says, the Dolphin shelled the place and practically destroyed it. From the Dolphin's deck the Spanish soldiers could be seen running in all directions. This dispatch makes no mention of the fighting which another special dispatch reported to have taken place at Caimanera Sunday night.

London, Jun 14.—The collapse of Bunday night.

London, Jun 14.—The collapse of the Leiter wheat corner has caused a panic in the Liverpool market. In London the news of the collapse was received with equanimity. The con-sensus of opinion of a number of operators on Mark Lane is that the English market will gain a steadiness now that the plunger operating without regard to market precedents is shaken out.

It is asserted on Mark Lane that the collapse was due to Messrs. Armour and Pillsbury. The newspapers generally rejoice at the break down of the Leiter plans, and point to moral.

New York, June 14.—A special, dated off Calmanera June 13, via Mole St. Nicholas, Haitl, today, reports that there was a renewal on Sunday of the Spanish attacks upon the force of marines landed there on Friday last. The fighting is said to have lasted all through Sunday night, Camp McCalla and Crest Hill being attacked by greatly superior forces of the Spanish. The battleship Texas, the gunboat Marblehead and the collier Abaranda supported the marines by directing fire supported the marines by directing fire upon the coast and particularly the bushes which all through these encounters have served to screen the movements of the Spaniards.

Camp of the United States Marines, Camp of the United States Marines, Outer Harbor of Guantanamo, Monday, June 13, noon.—By the Associated Press Dispatch Boat Wanda, via Kingston, Jamaica, June 14, 7 a. m.—After two nights of hard fighting, the American flag still floats over Cuban soll on the encampment of the marine battalion, and our boys say they will keep it there until the belated troops arrive, if it takes until winter. takes until winter.

They have little chance to rest or sleep and the time of the arrival of the relieving troops is uncertain.

Were it not for the guns of the fleet the gallant little band would be annihilated by the Spanish troops, in overpowering numbers from Santiago de Cuba. As it is they can probably hold their position but they cannot move forward until reinforcements

What first with the white tents on a bold eminence against the tropic background, looked like a holiday camp, is now grim reality. The tents have been struck and rolled into breastworks, supplemented by trenches around the crest of a hill. The spot is lamentably exposed on ground while surrounding it on all sides is heavy brush. The least movement in the camp is the signal for instant target practice upon the part of the Spanish sharpshooters whose rifles carry much farther than ours, though their owners rarely hit anything they aim at.

It is impossible to accurately estimate the Spanish attacking force, but it is numerous enough.

About two-thirds of this force surrounds the camp nightly with a deadly ring, and the spatting of the Mausers make things quite lively, for the Spanlards are daring enough to crawl up and take a pop shot at the marines from the bushes about thirty yards

At night the besiegers fight like Indians, and our old Apache fighters will feel in their element.

Every yard of chapparel is an ambuscade and picket duty is flipping coins with death.

After the first attack on Saturday night Col. Huntington decided that another attempt would be made on Sunday night and he caused entrenchments to be thrown up on all trenchments to be thrown up on all sides of the camp, and in the trenches the main part of the battalion last night waited for the attack that the colonel was certain would come. It arrived within a short time after dark and from that time until day break the firing was incessant and at times very L'ater.—Thirty-five hundred soldiers left camp Merritt this morning to march to the transport steamers which are to take them to the Philippines.

Early this morning the troops who had received their orders to depart with blankets overcoats and other accessories to life had to be packed and breakfast had to be eaten. The camp presented an exceedingly busy scene, but there was an air of orderly excitement over the whole thing. The men who have been waiting so long for the order to embark were delighted at the chance to prepare for the journey and the prospects of going to the front.

At last everything was ready for the five mile march to the water front. The men were lined up for the journey in heavy marching order. The company

At last everything was ready for the five mile march to the water front. The men were lined up for the journey in heavy marching order. The company streets presented a wonderful realistic military air, and one by one the companies were marched to the paradel grounds and the last evolutions in Camp Merritt gone through with. The companies all passed inspection and as they marched through the camp, the 9,000 soldiers who were to be left behind gave the departing soldiers cheer upon cheer and these were answered by their more fortunate fellows who are to make up the second expedition to the Philippines.

One by one the different companies took their departure and it was nearly noon when the last soldiers left the camp. Most of the commanding officers took their men down Golden Gate avenue, which thoroughfare was lined with people anxious to view the parade as it passed, and to catch glimpses of friends in the ranks. people anxious to view the parade as it passed, and to catch glimpses of friends in the ranks. As they neared Market street the throng of spectators increased. The crowds were not as enthusiastic as when the first expedition departed, but then the men who left today were not fathers and brothers; nevertheless the soldiers of the second expedition were given a splendid send-off and one that they will not forget. The business houses were all decorated for the occasion; some had hired bands for the occasion; some had hired bands to play patriotic airs and the music furnished was almost drowned out at times by the noise of exploding bombs.

Mare Island Navy Yard, Cal., June 14.—The monitor Monadnock and the collier Nero will probably leave here on Wednesday in time to accompany the second expedition to the Philipplnes. All the work necessary to be done on the Monadnock will be completed by noon today, and the Nero pleted by noon today, and the Nero will be out of dry dock tonight. She will have to coal at San Francisco, but arrangements have been made to ex-pedite her loading, and there will be-but little delay on this account.
