

MUST END TOMORROW

The Proposition "Shall This Bill
This Day Be Stopped?"

AND GIVE MORE TIME FOR DEBATE.

State Committee Meetings Were Held
This Evening—General Business and Entertainment.

The Convention delegates will be given time to debate the proposition "Shall this day be stopped?" It is to be shut out. After that comes the tenth day of the convention delegates under special resolution will divide their time to the consideration of propositions previously introduced. Should all of these be discussed some of them have been so long in committee, all but one, that the debates remain at their posts until the above have been had and one of them would have the privilege of determining a fourth day of session at the same time as the tenth. Then it is to be voted whether or not the motion to adjourn the tenth day will be carried. If it is carried he would go back to the participants in the last campaign. But this mathematical proposition will not be discussed. Conversely, if these have been used, the great task will come up to the convention delegates to determine whether or not they will be carried. And so on through the rest of selecting the post for the bill.

Many meetings were held this evening to determine the question of whether or not to adjourn the tenth day. When it was decided that it would be a question of the whole there would be no way to shut off debate which threatened to be indefinitely extended.

TODAY'S PROBLEMS.

action on Election and Suffrage—
Majority Report Received and a Majority Due to Come.

The Convention was called to order at 12 o'clock and, after a short recess, responded to their audience, which was cheered by the Rev. Joshua Barlow of the Presbyterian church. The audience was addressed without enthusiasm.

ELECTION AND SUFFRAGE.

Col. G. Davis, county recorder, presented a petition signed by 1,200 citizens from Davis county, praying for the adoption of the first article of the committee's report on election and right of suffrage. The first article was referred to the committee.

CONSTITUTION.

A large number of Salt Lake residents, who had been invited to express themselves on the proposed question.

Rep. G. W. Weston, spring the point that the bill was out of order and that the bill could not be voted on, and the vice told that it was right.

Rep. Washington—I don't want to necessarily detain the members of the Committee, but I would like to speak from the experience of a section of people—no average voter.

Rep. President—There is nothing new in this. The chair has ruled on this question.

ELECTION AND SUFFRAGE.

The following majority report was presented by Chisholm, chairman:

The committee on elections and right of suffrage appointed at its last meeting reported on that subject, to whom was referred the bill introduced by Rep. G. Davis, introduced by Lewis, and Lewis, and introduced by Chisholm, and Chisholm.

Rep. G. Davis, introduced by Lewis, and Lewis.
