

LOGAN.

LOGAN, UTAH. - JULY 10, 1894.

IN CACHE COUNTY.

Sales and News from the Northern Temple City.

A four-year-old son of Hyrum Hoshabaker, of Provo, Utah, fell from a table on which he was playing and broke his right arm below the elbow joint.

Three companies of U. S. Infantry went north on the main line to Pocatello, on Thursday evening.

The Logan section's quarterly report for the quarter ending June 30th, was presented at the last city council meeting, showing a total of 10 deaths; 6 males and 4 females.

The men hired in Logan for sheep work and firewood, have been ordered to report to Capt. C. W. Foster, at Pocatello. They are promised work for a long period.

At the firemen's practice last Wednesday, Chief Kaine treated the boys to an unlimited supply of ice cream, cake and lemonade. This was the first practice since the return from Salt Lake with his family.

Mr. John Carleton, formerly a resident of Logan, but now freight agent at Hanksville, has been paying Logan a visit. He took with him in the return, Mrs. Emma Carleton, now King, daughter of Andrew King, of the Fifth ward. The Logan Temple was entertained Wednesday in the Logan Temple.

J. M. Stewart Jr., one of the recent graduates of the law department, University of Michigan, has returned home and will commence his practice in Logan.

C. H. Burkhardt, of the C. & N. W. Ry., has been visiting and is delighted with Logan.

H. W. Hall has gone to Tullahoma, Tenn., to work at the mine there.

The "old people" are to be fed and fed today at the resort, under the auspices of the various Logan Relief Societies.

The Logan summer school is making magnificent progress in the various lines of study. More than one hundred teachers and advanced students are in attendance.

W. W. Riser, of Salt Lake, returned home on Friday morning. He has been spending a few days in Logan looking after his business interests.

A WILD COW.

She Cries: "Hear, Among the People and Before the Court."

A wild cow came very nearly doing up the town here Friday last. The brute came in contact with Mrs. Hagg, who was carrying a child in her arms. The lady was knocked over and escaped with slight bruises.

Mrs. Ella Halliday was the next one in the animal's path. She had her clothing badly torn and received a frightful gash in the thigh. Mr. Andrew Hansen came to the woman's aid and succeeded in driving the cow off.

The animal kept on in her mad career, her next victim being Mrs. Susan Nell, whom she gashed into a water ditch, getting down on her knees to give the unfortunate lady. Mr. Hansen, who had followed the cow, came to the rescue last in time to save Mrs. Nell's life. Neighbors came and assisted the lady, who had the appearance of a dead woman, but a few minutes later she was on her feet.

The ladies are pretty sore and lame and otherwise afflicted from the terrible ordeal. Mr. Hansen was called upon to assist the lady, who had the appearance of a dead woman, but a few minutes later she was on her feet.
