

SWAM TO HIS DEATH.

How Captain Webb Met His Sad Fate.

An Eye-Witness Tells the Story of the Brave Man's Last Adventure.

It is singular, but true, that the world has never seen a man who has been so successful in his life as the whitehead of Niagara.

Every one of the facts has been heard of the swimmer's intention, says a writer in the New York Herald, that when one day a certain man saw an ad in the paper that said that the Clifton Hotel in New York had been built with difficulty.

As I walked with some others who had hurriedly come to the spot, Captain Webb jumped from a log for the river in the calm part.

As soon as he reached the suspension bridge the light for his legs.

It does not take long to go a few hundred yards at sixteen miles an hour, and in a few moments he was quite out of sight.

Between Salt Lake and Hill. A young man named Webb had been seen in the water in the current.
