IN ST. LOUIS.

The President and Party Guests of the City.

St. Louis, Oct. 3.—The drive to the fair grounds was made at a trot. It was children's day, and the youngsters were out in great force. They, with mothers, nurses and friends, packed the south of the amphitheatre and the surrounding promenade to the amount of sixty thousand. A brass band on the parade in the center attempted to make itself heard, but the shrill voices of the children rendered everything but the bass drum inaudible.

The visitors did not alight, and after driving around the amphitheatre track the half was made, and Mrs. Cleveland was presented by the lady superintendent of kindergarten schools with a handsome basket of flowers.

THE CHILDREN.

led by the hands, sang "Hail Columbia," and the cortege drove through the fair grounds, made its way back to the city where they went directly to the Merchants' Exchange. Mrs. Cleveland did not accompany the President to the Exchange, but was left en route at the residence of Mayor Francis, where she was met by Mrs. Scammon, one of the society ladies, where the ladies of St. Louis had an opportunity to pay their respects.

On arriving at the Merchants' Exchange the President was met by the director's room where a large number of representative citizens from the interior of the state were introduced to him by courtesy. When this ceremony was over, was escorted to the main hall of the Exchange.

THE PRESIDENT

The hall, which is 225 feet long and 150 wide, was jammed to its utmost capacity with people and the President had difficulty in getting from the reception room to the platform.

On the first appearance of the President the enthusiasm of the people was such that the President was unable to get to the platform, and as he ascended the platform, the enthusiasm of the people was such that the President was unable to get to the platform.

THE RECEPTION

At 5 o'clock Mrs. Cleveland, having rejoined her husband, the doors of the hotel were thrown open and the public were admitted to shake the hands of the President and his wife.

The reception began promptly at 5 o'clock and continued till 6. The President and Mrs. Cleveland received the visitors standing in the middle of a large parlor under a rich chandelier.

A score of the leading society ladies of St. Louis assisted Mrs. Cleveland. The President received as he always does. He has become very expert in the discharge of his part of the work of managing to greatly facilitate the passage of the line inspired, apparently, only by a desire to give the coveted opportunity to as great a number of people as possible.

He never gets fatigued his appearance fails to give evidence of the fact. Submitting as he does good naturedly to the familiar, salutation of many who approach him, he takes the liberty sometimes to give a little pat on the head of a child, or to move and often, with half a dozen words, manages to answer the kind greeting of many callers.

Cleveland acknowledged the greeting of visitors with a smile and a bow, but did not take their hands. The doors were closed the crowds of disappointed ones in waiting numbered in the thousands. Col. Lamont estimates that 9,000 persons took the hands of the President this afternoon.

The reception to Mrs. Cleveland this noon, given by Mrs. Mary Scammon, was attended by about 100 guests, the most fashionable and beautiful of St. Louis. The ladies were presented to Mrs. Cleveland by Mrs. Scammon, who pressed their hands and had some.

have now in Utah 87 churches. These churches have established and control 87 schools with an aggregate of 6,688 pupils and 230 teachers.

Since the passage of the Edmunds law in 1882, 341 persons have been indicted for unlawful cohabitation, and 289 of these were convicted.

The number convicted of polygamy was 14. Many of the persons indicted have tried to escape arrest. On the enforcement of the law the report says: The officers of the federal courts in Utah are entitled to special commendation. The national laws relating to the subject of polygamy have been in effective operation for about three years. The Mormon leaders and their obedient followers have made no concessions to the supremacy and the issue is squarely maintained between assumed revelations and the laws of the land.

The report then cites the already published results of the election under the registry law in the fall of 1886, and of the convention in June and the subsequent election participated in by the Mormons, in which a constitution was adopted with a view to application to Congress for admission as a state.
