

Retort Courteous to Mary Garden.

The supercilious and offensively patronizing air long assumed by the great operatic stars toward the American public, is beginning to be resented by the American press. The Duluth Tribune has the following caustic remarks to make in regard to some recent slighting remarks by Mary Garden, which are being copied pretty extensively over the country. It may be that France is a very pleasant place to be in, and also that the French have the true appreciation for art. If that is so, Mary, and a whole lot of others, more or less in her class, should take pains to keep silent about it, for if they were compelled to earn their living over there, they would find it difficult to pay their weekly feed bill at a second class boarding house. Paris has not gone wild over Mary or any other heavy weight singer. In fact it has been found impossible to get a French corporal's guard to pay real money to hear her. These people, who get a thousand dollars a night in America, are forced to be content with a few sous in Paris. Those who go to hear them are willing to pay not more than 25 or 30 cents, and the "appreciation" of their art is so keen that the houses in which they hold forth could not keep their doors open without the financial assistance of the state. When they come to the United States we are willing to pay $5 a seat at their performances, and they go away loaded down with American gold. America may not appreciate art, but it is at least the only country in the world that is willing to buy what the artist has to sell. These constant insults are beginning to have their effect, and it may be that in a few years the foreign artists will get the same kind of treatment here they receive across the water. If the houses in which these indolent and ungrateful persons appear were left empty, as they would be in any other country, it might be that after a while the Gardens et al. would have a more attering opinion of American discrimination. This is Worth Remembering Whenever you have a cough or cold, just remember that Foley's Honey and Tar will cure it.
