

I KNEW SHE WOULD.—Deacon W. was a staid and honest Baptist Deacon in one of the interior towns in this State, who had a vein of dry, caustic humor in his composition. The deacon had a boy of some dozen summers, who was somewhat inclined to be a little ugly when not under the parental eye. In school especially, John was a source of constant annoyance to the teacher. One day the mistress punished him for some misdemeanor, and John went home, crying, to enter his complaint, and told his father that the mistress had whipped him.

'What!' exclaimed the deacon, elevating his eyebrows, 'been whipped?'

'Ya-a-s,' sobbed the boy.

'And did you let a woman whip ye?' shouted the deacon.

'Ya-a-s. I couldn't help it.'

'Well, John, you little rascal, you go to school to-morrow, and if Miss—undertakes to whip ye agin, you jest pitch in; don't let a woman whip ye if ye can help it. Don't take a stick to strike with, but ye may strike, scratch, bite and kick as much as ye're a mind to.'

The next day the boy went to school, and emboldened by the permission given by his father, was soon brought before the tribunal of violated rules. The teacher undertook to correct him and he did as his father had told him. The result was that John got a most unmerciful trouncing and was thoroughly subdued. When he went home he went to his father crying. 'Well, dad, I got an awful bad licking to-day.'

'What!' said the old deacon, 'have you let that woman whip ye agin?'

'Ya-a-s,' whimpered John. 'I kicked her, and struck her, and fit all I could, but she lammed me orfuly.'

'Ala!' chuckled the humorous old deacon, 'you tarnal little fool. I knew she would, and she'll give ye a trouncing every time she undertakes it, and I would advise you to behave yourself in future.'

John began to have some perception of his father's motive, and ever after was a sadder and a wiser boy.

'M. D.'—During the Mexican war, a government train was passing through Texas, and camped for a night near one of the large towns. One Theophilus Witchet, a teamster, being something of a wag, went to the principal hotel and booked himself, 'T. Witchet, M. D.' Instantly, landlord, and all hands were the most polite and obsequious mortals imaginable. Soon, however, an officer came in, and gave him an order in a tone of authority. Soon as an opportunity afforded, the landlord sided up and inquired if he was not an army surgeon?

'No,' was the reply.

'Then,' said the landlord, 'what does that M. D. mean, after your name?'

'Mule Driver,' was the reply.

Estray Notices.

TWO HUNDRED DOLLARS REWARD!! STOLEN!

FROM the canyon, south of Cedar Fort, and 4 miles north-west of Camp Floyd, in Cedar valley, on the morning of the 4th inst., A SMALL BAY PONY, branded J on left shoulder, and a SMALL LIGHT BAY MARE MULE, branded R G on the left shoulder, and U S on the left hip, together with their saddles and bridles. (The saddles government pattern.)

The above animals were stolen by two young men, who were passed going up the canyon, (one of them had a light beard, and was dressed in buckskin breeches,) and were seen from the top of the mountain to go up to where the animals were picketed—they were afterwards tracked down to Cedar Fort, and their foot tracks found to have come from that place in the morning. Another mule stolen at the same time and place, was recovered the same day, tied to the bushes at the mouth of the canyon near Cedar Fort.

$50 will be paid for the recovery of each of the animals and their equipments, and $50 each for the apprehension and delivery of the thieves at this camp. Camp Floyd, U.T., June 10, 1899. 15-3
