EVENING NEWS.

PUBLISHED DAILY, SUNDAYS EXCEPTED, AT FOUR O'CLOCK.

DAVID O. CALDER, EDITOR AND PUBLISHER.

Friday, . . . May 7, 1875.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

——The mutineers of the schooner Jefferson Borden have been turned over to the U. S. consul.

——A daring attempt was made, early this morning, to rob the Adams' Express messenger on the railroad between Lima and Forest, O. The messenger refused to surrender the treasure, and was shot twice by the robber; he then returned the fire and shot the ruffian dead.

——S. F. Odell, Hawaiian consul, at Brooklyn, N. Y., is dying.

——There was a somewhat interesting debate in the British parliament last night, in the course of which Disraeli made remarks which were severely criticized by Gladstone. For particulars see telegrams.

——The award for a new revenue steamer, for use in Pacific Coast waters, has been made to the Oregon Works, Portland.

——The Spanish government has paid to the United States the last of the Virginius indemnity.

——The revolutionary trouble at Port au Prince, has been suppressed and tranquility restored.

——A new iron steamer, the City of San Francisco, for the P. M. S. S. Co., built by John Roach, was launched at Chester, Pa., yesterday.

——The cholera prevails at Baroda, a city in the East Indies.

——The Christian Convention, which recently assembled in London, has adjourned; it has been a great success.

——The grand jury of the District of Columbia have dismissed the charge against C. A. Dana, of libelling ex-Governor Shepherd.

——The strike among the coal miners of Pennsylvania continues, and there is said to be no likelihood of its termination. Acts of violence and incendiarism are being committed by the strikers.

——The harbor of Buffalo, N. Y., is gorged with ice, and the prospects for early lake navigation are not promising.

——The Chinese government has engaged the ex-confederate General Ripley to construct an extensive system of defenses for the coast and principal rivers.

——It is said that six thousand German families will leave Russia because of an oppressive conscription.

—— A Washington special is credited with the following—a gentleman called upon President Grant, yesterday, to expostulate with him respecting the summary dismissal of Commissioner Douglass; the President informed him that he was going to show politicians that he was President of the United States, and that hereafter he intended to remove from and appoint to office without stating to them his reasons for so doing.

——Fifty thousand dollars damage by fire at Tompkinsville, N. Y., to-day.

——Mr. Evarts stated in the Brooklyn City Court, this morning, that the Beecher-Tilton trial was drawing to a close.

——Specie in the Bank of France has increased over eleven and a half millions the past week.

——A board of directors for the Kansas Pacific railway was elected yesterday.

——Sturtevant, the triple murderer, was hanged this morning, at Plymouth, Mass.

——Count de Harcourt has been appointed French Minister to London.

——The Straits of Mackinaw are free of ice, and navigation is open.

——Fifty thousand dollars damage by fire, at Black Rock, near Buffalo, N. Y.

——The report comes that parties are organizing in various places, for the Black Hills and an immense emigration thither is anticipated.

——Vice President Wilson made a speech at Nashville, Tenn., last night, for a report of which see telegrams.

NEWS NOTES.

Pigeongram is what they call dispatches sent by carrier pigeon post.

The Moody and Sankey excitement and success are making revivalism not only popular but fashionable in England.

It is remarked as a curious circumstance that Mr. Beecher should not have shown conscientious scruples about kissing anything but the Bible.

In Clinton, Ind., the women still keep up the crusade, and pray out of town every adventurer hardy enough to attempt to open a saloon.

It is announced that the Marquis of Lorne and his wife, the Princess Louise, will make an extended tour through the United States this Summer.

"At the earnest solicitation of my wife and children, I have consented to become a candidate for county treasurer," is the way a Mississippi candidate puts it.

Orton Demonstration—I don't care whether he's Orton, or Tichborn, or Cashtro, or who he is, but I hate to see a poor man kep' out o' his property.—Punch.

On Duck River, Tenn., a steamboat, drawing only twelve inches of water, and having a grist mill on board, wanders up and down, stopping wherever she is wanted to grind a bushel or two of corn for the farmers.

Judge Mackey, of South Carolina, has just ruled that "in the trial of an issue of fact involving the examination of a written or printed instrument it is good ground of challenge to a juror that he cannot read."

The designs for the alteration of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, have been completed, and are to be exhibited. The English papers say that the sum of £40,000 is available for the proposed changes.

Strawberries, the first of the season of English growth, made their appearance in the London markets on the 23d of March, this year. They were sold at the rate of from half a crown to five shillings for small baskets containing six to nine strawberries.

A quack-doctor has been sentenced to death at the Liverpool assizes for causing the death of a woman in the exercise of his craft. The jury recommended him to mercy, but Mr. Baron Pollock, in passing sentence, held out no hope of mercy.

The London Times thinks "there must be something not altogether without real vitality where 20,000 people assemble from day to day, without any selfish interest, to hear the same teaching in almost the same phrases."

The London Times devotes a leading editorial to the announcement with which it opens: "The Arctic expedition of 1875 is to sail without a chaplain. No cabin accommodation, it appears, can be found for such a functionary."

The practice of offering a dictionary as a prize to the best speller in the matches now in vogue reveals the fact, says the Cincinnati Enquirer, that the person always gets the dictionary who has the least need of it.

The New York papers print regular returns of the workings of the compulsory education system in that city and State. The general verdict is one of decided approval, and there are very few features of the measure in which change seems desirable.

The Tichborne madness runs so high in England that Lady Radcliffe—the cousin of Kate Doughty of the story—has been compelled to leave her residence in Staffordshire in consequence of the brutal impudence of the people of the lower classes.

G. G. Bennett, of Washington, Iowa, having been tendered a farewell dinner, by his associates at the bar, the ladies of the town gave Mrs. Bennett a supper. Among the toasts were these: "Mankind—a bad lot, but a necessary evil, from which we try to evolve some good;" and "The Family Baby—may its shadow never grow less."

HARD TIMES IN MISSOURI.—The Sacramento Record-Union publishes the following extract from a private letter written from Northwestern Missouri, April 24, to a Missourian in California—

"You ask what the prospects are here for farming. They were never darker. I think fully one half the stock in this vicinity has died during the winter for want of food. People are running very short for something to live on. They can get no credit, and I fear many of them will starve before we can raise another crop. Good men (naming them) tell me that they have to quit work because they have no feed for their teams, and that they actually cannot keep their families from starving, unless they can get credit or borrow money. To borrow money or get credit is almost an impossibility. I do not know what in the name of God they will do.

"And more than all, there is no prospect of raising a crop this season. The grasshoppers are hatching out by the millions. There seems to be one for every inch of surface. They are devouring every thing green. Cooksey writes me from Bates county that they have taken all his flax, oats and garden. I fear they will complete our ruin. It is the blackest prospect I ever saw."

The same paper has the following also—

"Another letter received by the same gentleman from his wife states that the wheat in that part of the State is very badly Winter killed and will be almost a total failure. The gentleman to whom these letters are written moved from Michigan to Missouri some seven years ago, and since that time he has harvested but one crop of wheat, the chinch bugs having destroyed his crops six years out of the seven. They take not only the wheat but corn, and nearly all other crops. They have been steadily increasing, year after year—there having been ten the last year where there was one on any previous year. In consequence of the bug and the grasshoppers the price of land has fallen in that part of the State very much. The same farm for which this gentleman paid $25 per acre seven years ago he cannot now sell for $5."

UNUTTERABLE INFAMY.—At the late Assizes at Leeds, England, one Mr. Hopkinson, a wealthy farmer of Tickhill, near Doncaster, was convicted on a charge of seducing Miss Shaw, while visiting as an intimate friend of the family, and under treacherous circumstances. The jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff, damages £800, and the Judge, Lord Coleridge, in summing up, characterized the defendant's conduct as marked by such infamy as no words in the English language could adequately express.

"If such conduct as the defendant was convicted of is so inexpressibly infamous, how is it that a paltry fine of £800 is made by the law a sufficient punishment for it? Why is there not some terribly condign punishment provided for such unutterable criminality? How is it that legislators have looked so leniently upon crimes of this infamous class as to provide no punishment therefor in anywise commensurate? Why are the penalties provided so ridiculously inadequate? Surely there is something wrong and rotten in all this glaring inconsistency?

A TEN MILE TROT.—There are some sporting gentlemen in Utah who own or admire fast nags. Here is a paragraph for them, from a New York paper—

"A trotting match for £400 came off in Yorkshire, England, April 14, the competing trotters being Jack Rooke's mare Steel Grey, of Birmingham, and H. B. Craig's Peeping Tom, of Glasgow, Scotland. The match was made to trot ten miles on a fair turnpike road, half way between home and home, for £200 a side, Feb. 9, and the chosen point at the finish turned out to be the famous trotting locality of Leeming lane; but owing to the bad state of the weather a postponement was necessitated. Opinions ran high in favor of Peeping Tom until March 9 last, when, in a match against time, Steel Grey accomplished ten miles with a bit in hand in 29.45 over the Royal Oak Park Trotting Track, Manchester. This performance put all doubts to rest as to the staying powers of the mare. The betting was £9 to £4 on the mare, who won by over fifty yards, after trotting the distance without a break in 27 min. 56½ sec. Peeping Tom broke several times. The fastest time for the distance in this country is 28.02½, by John Stewart."

This is an average of a little over 2.47½ per mile for ten successive miles, and, in the case of the winner, without a single break in the entire distance.

FRUITFUL VINES.—John Hepner, a German, now a resident of Reading, Pa., has had three wives, one after the other, and is sixty years old. These three wives have borne to John 41 children, in this wise—

First wife—two pairs twins, four sets of triplets, and one single birth; in all, seventeen children in eight years, and then she died.

Second wife—two single births, five pairs of twins, and one set of triplets; in all, fifteen children in nine years, and then she died.

Third wife, a widow with one child when he married her—by him nine children, and she still living.

In the science of reproduction Mr. Hepner and his trio of wives must be considered a notable success. We note this matter as a curiosity, not to incite emulation.

TO-DAY'S DISPATCHES.

EASTERN.

A New Steamer.

PHILADELPHIA, 7.—An iron screw steamship, belonging to the Pacific Mail S. S. Co. was launched from Roache's Delaware River iron ship and engine works, at Chester, to-day; she was christened City of San Francisco. A number of prominent invited guests from New York, Philadelphia and Washington were present, among them Jay Gould, Sidney Dillon, Geo. Scott, Jno. C. Scott, Naval Constructor R. W. Steele and others.

Dying—Tranquility Restored.

NEW YORK, 7.—Samuel F. Odell, the Hawaiian consul, is dying at his residence in Brooklyn.

A special dated 2d, from Port au Prince, says that the revolution was, at the first moment subsequent to the outbreak, put down by government troops. Generals Price, Brice, and Pierre were killed. The foreign consulates were immediately crowded with refugees, who sought shelter from the violence of the natives. Martial law was proclaimed, and a proclamation containing a promise of amnesty to those who would surrender at once to the officers of the government. Tranquility has been restored.

Adjourned—$50,000 Fire.

A dense crowd of spectators were in the Brooklyn City court room this morning, the numbers being largely in excess of previous days. Beecher and his wife were in court before the proceedings opened, which were delayed by the late arrival of some of the counsel. After the formal opening Evarts said that Beech and Sherman were compelled to be absent and, as the case was now reaching a close, the difference of adjournment for a day or so would not matter much, he suggested therefore that the court should adjourn for the day; Judge Neilson entertained the suggestion and the court adjourned until Monday next.

A fire at Tompkinsonville, early this morning, destroyed property of $50,000 value.

A Robber Killed.

CINCINNATI, O., 7.—At two o'clock this morning an attempt was made to rob the Adams express messenger, on the train between Lima and Forest, Ohio. The robber sawed through the end of the car door of the express car and effected an entrance, when he demanded a surrender; Messenger Price refusing, the robber shot him twice, once in the cheek and once in the shoulder; Price then shot the robber, killing him instantly. The robber proved to be a recently discharged conductor, named Brinkley, formerly conductor of the accommodation train of the Pittsburg and Ft. Wayne railway. Price's wounds are not serious.

Will Disregard Politicians.

CHICAGO, 7.—The Times' Washington special says of the abrupt dismissal of Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Douglass, that politicians think it the beginning of a new departure in the matter of executive appointments. The President informed a gentleman who called on him yesterday, to remonstrate against Douglass' sudden taking off, that he was going to show politicians that he was President of the U. S., and that hereafter he should remove and appoint men without giving any one reasons for his action.

Speech by Vice President Wilson—Black Hills News.

A Nashville, Tenn., special gives the following report of a speech by Vice President Wilson, on the occasion of a serenade there last evening, when he was introduced to an immense crowd by Governor Porter—

"I am grateful for the many kindnesses shown me by the officials and people of Tennessee. We have all passed through trying scenes, and I don't believe the late struggle could have been prevented. All compromises would only have delayed what was inevitable. Being in the struggle I was compelled to take sides, and sided according to my best judgment. I have never entertained a feeling of hatred to the people of any section of the country. While the war was in progress, I was for an active prosecution of the war, but now that peace has come upon us, I am for an active prosecution of peace. (Loud and prolonged applause.) All of us should do, by word and deed, all that we can to more firmly bind together the people of the nation. (Immense applause.) I am gratified at the many expressions of kindness I have met with in Kentucky and Tennessee since I crossed the Ohio river. I have not come on a political mission, but to see a portion of my country I have never before beheld, and I will leave with a heart throbbing with gratitude. I will pray God for the prosperity of this city and State. All her suffering will soon pass away, and the whole nation be bound together by a spirit of patriotism, humanity, liberty, and love for our country. We should strive to elevate our country and add to its glory. I believe our republic will never be separated, but will become one of the leading, if not the leading, nation of the world. (Loud applause.) Both races are here, and here they will both remain. We should do away with all prejudice, and strive henceforth only for the advancement of our country. I again return you my heartfelt thanks for your courtesy."

Cries of—"How are you on the third term?" were frequently made, but the vice-President did not respond to them.

The following special reference to movements in the Black Hills country are published here this morning:

"Ft. Laramie.—Louis Richard, from the agencies, says that Indian delegations will be here to-morrow. It is not certain whether they will go to Washington. Red Cloud and Spotted Tail want to confer with the President by telegraph themselves; they distrust agent Saville. There has been much quarrelling among themselves as to who should go to Washington. One Indian, Sitting Bull, was beaten by his band for saying that the whites would have the country anyhow. Two bands of Indians, on the war path, are supposed to have crossed above here. Miners who left Spotted Tail for the Hills have not been found yet by the troops in pursuit. Prof. Janny's party will not be here for two weeks; the expedition does not leave before June 15th."

Directors Elected.

LAWRENCE, Ky., 7.—At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Kansas Pacific Railroad Co., held here yesterday, the following were elected directors for the ensuing year: Robt. E. Carr, Adolph Meier, John D. Perry, S. M. Edgell, C. S. Greeley, B. F. Lewis, jr., of St. Lewis, Thos. A. Scott, of Philadelphia, Sidney Dillon, Jay Gould, Jas. S. Smith, of N. Y., and Oliver Ames, of Boston.

Navigation Opened.

DETROIT, 7.—The Straits of Mackinow are fully open; a steamer passed through yesterday.

$50,000 Fire.

BUFFALO, 7.—The blacksmith shop and bolt factory of Pratt's rolling mill; Blackrock, were burned this morning; loss $50,000, insured.

Hanged.

PLYMOUTH, Mass., 7.—Wm. E. Sturtevant, the triple murderer, was hanged this morning, in the yard of the county jail; to the last he maintained the stolidity which has characterized him throughout. For the first time in this State the old drop scaffold was discarded for the more modern instrument of death, the cross beam and weights. The sheriffs of several counties were present.

Going to the Black Hills.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., 7.—Thirteen men left here to day, via the Kansas Pacific R. R., for the Black Hills. Col. Carpenter's expedition starts on Monday. The interest in this matter is increasing in this section of the country, and an immense emigration is anticipated.

Organizing.

SIOUX CITY, Ia., 7.—Two more expeditions are being organized here to start for the Black Hills and Big Horn country about the middle of this month. The pony express which arrived to-day reports the first expedition within one hundred miles of the Hills; they had seen nothing of the military.

Ferry Boat For the Platte.

OMAHA, 7.—A large ferry boat has been constructed here for the Platte, on the Sidney route to the Black Hills; it will be in place within a week at Court House Rock. Fifty soldiers went west to day; they leave the railroad at Columbus, and will march north to stop the Black Hill adventurers who left Sioux city recently.
