New York, 22.

The police continue to make arrests of persons who are identified as prominently concerned in the riot on St. Patrick's day. A preliminary meeting of delegates from the various churches and father Mathew temperance societies was held last evening in the basement of St. Peter's Church, for the purpose of giving public expression of their unqualified dissatisfaction at the riots and their censure of the rioters.

The Government of Honduras has directed its ports to be open for the reception of prizes in the Spanish-Chilian war. The militia are reorganized with the President in Supreme command as Lt. General.

The Herald's Charleston, S. C., special says a mass meeting irrespective of color, was held last night; only about 50 white people were present. Judge Moore, white, presided, and a negro was secretary. The meeting was decidedly radical; a resolution claiming suffrage and the right to hold office for colored men, opposing large land monopolies, and calling for a revision of the state code and a reorganization of the courts was adopted.

Washington, 22.

In the Senate, Wilson offered a concurrent resolution; the preamble recites that Jefferson Davis stands charged with the heinous crime of conspiracy to murder Lincoln, is also indicted for high treason, has persistently declared his innocence and demanded a speedy and public trial. Therefore, resolved that his longer confinement without trial is not in accordance with the demands of justice or the spirit of the laws and requirements of the Constitution; that justice and national honor unite in recommending that said Davis be brought to a speedy public trial, or released on bail or his own recognizance. The resolution was ordered printed.

The Senate, by 20 majority, concurred in the House amendment to the joint resolution appropriating $1,000,000 for the relief of the destitute at the south.

The Senate bill supplementary to the Act of June 16, 1866, to reimburse West Virginia for war expenses, was passed; it places the distribution of the money under the Secretary of War.

In the Senate, Trumbull's concurrent resolution to adjourn, on Tuesday, to the 1st Monday in December, was adopted by a vote of 29 to 16.

In the House, Myers' bill to increase the force in the Patent Office, and authorizing additional examiners when necessary, was passed.

The President's private Secretary appeared and delivered the veto message of the supplemental reconstruction bill. Wilson, of Iowa, moved the previous question and the bill was passed over the veto by a vote of 114 to 25.

Blaine offered a concurrent resolution for adjournment on Tuesday to November 11th. Blaine said that it was settled that, however bad a man Andy Johnson was conceded to be, and whatever he may have done, the people do not consider it worth while to upturn the foundations of the Government by the extraordinary spectacle of impeachment. Stevens said the people expected the House to take steps for impeachment, and said Blaine preferred Johnson for President, to Ben. Wade. Blaine acknowledged that he preferred Fessenden, in case of the removal of Johnson, and said that it was wrong in Stevens to retail private conversation.

The President's veto message of the supplemental reconstruction bill objects generally to the provisions of the bill, especially the registry; no person being permitted to vote whose names are not received, he says the military commanders may prevent the election of representatives of the popular will. He says both the reconstruction bills establish military coercion under martial law, and work political disfranchisement. He reiterates his views heretofore expressed in relation to reconstruction.

The Herald's Panama correspondence says that a British frigate appeared off Carthagena on the 23th of February, and the captain addressed a note to the President, insisting that the British Consul should receive the mails before they were sent to the local post offices, and that the President should apologize for past offences. The President evaded a decided answer to these propositions.

In the meanwhile a war steamer in the service of Mosquera, came into port and was seized by the Englishmen and the demands reiterated, under threats of taking other measures, in the event of none compliance; and the President, fearing a bombardment, succumbed, apologized, and promised to do better in future.

Ex-rebel Gen. Longstreet has expressed his opinions on the reconstruction plan in the columns of the New Orleans Times. He says there is no humiliation attached to an acceptance of the terms proposed by Congress, and that he has no reason to doubt that such an acceptance, in good faith, will secure the readmission of the southern states.

The President has been urged, by prominent Republicans and others, to release Jeff. Davis upon his own recognizance, because there is no prospect that Chief Justice Chase will hold a court in Virginia so long as that State is under the control of military authority, he deeming it beneath the dignity of a Judge of the Supreme Court to preside in a district under such control. There is good reason for saying that, within the next ten days, Davis will be released on his own recognizance to answer when called upon.

Pittsburg, Pa., 24.

The machinery works of Robinson, Red and Co., in South Pittsburgh, including a large stock of patterns, were burned this morning; loss $75,000.

Baltimore, 24.

The State Legislature adjourned yesterday. The bill admitting negroes to testify on the same footing as whites, in the courts of the state, failed to pass.

HOW THEY DO IT.

In speaking of the tariff bill the correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial thus explains how so many various interests are "protected":

The ingenious feature of the bill is the manner in which special interests have been protected by it. This can best be explained by actual illustration. In the whole United States there is just one nickel factory, employing a capital of, say two hundred thousand dollars and a force of about fifty workmen. It is located in New Jersey. The proprietors of this establishment go to their New Jersey Senators and say to them that they must get "protection." The Pennsylvania Senators say: "We can't vote to protect such an interest as that; all that we want is an iron and coal tariff," "Very well," says New Jersey, "if you don't protect my nickel factory I'll vote against your coal mines and iron factories." And so, in order to get the Jersey votes, a tariff of 40 per cent. is levied on nickel. Now it happens that nickel is a material very extensively used in this country, forming a large ingredient in the manufacture of German-silver ware. It would take a hundred such factories as that in New Jersey to supply the demand, but in order to protect that one factory the price of everything into which nickel enters is increased forty per cent. to every consumer in the United States. And this, forsooth, is protecting American industry.

Take another illustration:

There is one place in the United States where the stone used for grindstones is found and dressed. It is near Cleveland, Ohio. It would require fifty such quarries to supply the demand of the country. But this "American industry" must be protected, and in order to enable a single establishment to reap large profits, a tariff of ten dollars a ton is put upon the grindstones that come from Nova Scotia. If you don't put that in, says the grindstone member, I'll vote against the bill. All right, says New England, if you'll swallow the rest of the bill we can afford that. And so it goes.

AMONG the arrested persons in New York last year, are recorded 13 editors, 14 reporters, 793 printers, 94 artists, 44 actors, 336 scholars, 91 engravers, 122 lawyers, 139 physicians, 78 teachers, 795 merchants, and 38 officers of the United States.

A GERMAN has brought to Paris an inexplosible powder which is certainly going to make a revolution in this department of war material. This powder, invented by Mr. Neumeyer, of Leipzig, does not explode in the open air when inflamed; it burns up slowly, like so much tinder; but it explodes with more explosive power than any other powder, in a closed cavity; it is cheaper than any ordinary powder, and may be manufactured anywhere, even on board ship.
