

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

Word was received today of the arrival at Liverpool on May 14 of the American Line steamship Pennland, which left Philadelphia on May 2 with a number of Utah people on board. All were well.

The News is requested to state that the relatives of Albertina Kællström who came to this country in 1878 from Drammen, Norway, are anxious to know of her whereabouts. Anyone in possession of the desired information would confer a favor by communicating with her aunt, Mrs. Nelson, 873 west, Eighth South, Salt Lake City.

It is stated that President Paul of the Agricultural College, who was recently succeeded by Prof. J. M. Tanner, will, on his retirement from the institution at the end of the school year, again become a resident of this city. It is also announced that he will immediately begin the practice of law, having made a special study thereof for several years past.

Bids are advertised for a site for the State Industrial school. The deaf and dumb will occupy the Reform school building on September 1, by which time the proposed new State Industrial school building will have to be ready for the Reform school boys and girls to occupy. It is expected that a deal will be made by which the military academy will be purchased for the State school.

PAYSON, May 19. — Bishop Page's store was burglarized here last night and robbed of jewelry and show case goods to the amount of $150.

The entrance was made through a back window; the rear door was found open this morning, bearing the appearance of being opened from the inside. No clue to the robbers who are supposed to be tramp peddlers who have been around town lately.

Elder Charles Twelves of the Fourth ward died Tuesday from dropsy. He was born in Lincolnshire, England, May 22nd, 1818, and joined the Church in an early day. In 1856 he emigrated to Utah and has resided in Provo ever since. Elder Twelves was greatly interested in horticulture and has been a useful, energetic citizen. A wife and three children have preceded him to the spirit world and four children and numerous grandchildren survive him.

A serious runaway was narrowly averted in the city cemetery Sunday afternoon. As one of the carriages which had been in attendance at the funeral of Sergeant Love was leaving the cemetery, the horses started to run down the hill and soon became unmanageable. Luckily, however, they collided with the inside gate of the cemetery which brought them to a stop. The driver was thrown to the ground, sustaining a slight bruise on his face, and one of the horses had his jaw badly cut. The occupants of the carriage escaped with a scare and a shakeup.

The sad death of Sister Levina Pollard Holding occurred at Spanish Fork, Utah county, Saturday morning at twenty minutes past eleven. Deceased was a daughter of the late Bishop Joseph Pollard of this city, and wife of Thomas C. Holding of the Spanish Fork Co-op., who, together with six small children, sadly mourn her departure. Her youngest child is just a little over two months old, and she has never recovered her health since its birth. Vina, as she was familiarly called, had a large circle of friends who will miss her and mourn her departure.

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho, May 12, 1896. —The weather of the week ending Monday, May 11th, was a continuation of that of the previous week—cloudy and cold with high winds, rain, snow and hail, and freezing night temperatures. The soil is too wet for working and too cold for the germination of seed. Little in the way of plowing and seeding, or farm work of any description, was done during the week. Vegetation generally is almost at a standstill, though in a few instances crops have made fair progress. Farmers are becoming discouraged and are longing for warmer weather and sunshine.

On Monday evening the Presidency of the Salt Lake Stake attended the meeting of the Fourth quorum of Elders, comprising those of that Priesthood who reside in the Sixth and Seventh wards of this city. A most interesting time was had in the good instruction given. New counselors in the presidency of the quorum were chosen, one of those who formerly held the position, Elder T. E. Jacobsen, having moved outside of the district, and the other, Elder J. Carlos Poulton, having been ordained a Seventy. Elders Christian Busath and Henry Linnell of the Sixth ward, were set apart as counselors to Elder C. H. Hyde of the Seventh ward, president of the quorum.

Lying cold in death with every appearance of having elumbered quietly away, was the condition in which Joseph Richards, the well-known sporting man, was found in his room in the Brooks Arcade, at about 5 o'clock on Saturday evening. It was at first thought that the deceased had died from apoplexy, but at a consultation of physicians held yesterday morning the conclusion was arrived at that death had resulted from a ruptured blood vessel.

Although the deceased followed the vocation of a sporting man, it can be said of him that through his many kind and charitable acts, he gathered around him a circle of warm friends, who will be led to mourn at his sudden calling away.

Mrs. Rebecca Inkley, a lady seventy-six years of age, was found dead in her bed at the residence of her daughter, adjoining the Episcopal church on First South street, Tuesday. The discovery was made by a little grandson who had been sleeping with the old lady. On awakening from his night's slumber he observed that his grandmother failed to respond to his caresses or expressions of endearment. He immediately ran to his mother and informed her. An investigation disclosed the fact that the old lady had passed into the sleep of death.

Coroner Offenbach was notified and had the body removed to Joseph W. Taylor's undertaking establishment. It was decided that an inquest was unnecessary and that death was the result of old age and general debility.

MOAB, Grand county, Utah,
May 10, 1896.

Str, talk about wind! We are having the wind of all winds today—the air is full of dust or rather sand. It is rather cold for this time of year. The fruit crop is so we can tell what we have. The early peaches are a fair crop in parts of the valley; the apple crop is short; some varieties of pears are good and some grapevines winter-killed; small fruits, crop good, sweet cherries killed; sour, good crop; alfalfa late and rather light.

There is considerable building going on. This small place is still able to support two saloons. The county commissioners have fixed county officers' salaries as follows: County commissioner, $150; clerk and recorder, $1,000; sheriff, $800; superintendent of county school, $350.

What constitutes expenses for county commissioners when out on business for county?

O. W. WARNER.

Brigadier General Young, N. G. U., has issued an order announcing that he has assumed command of the First brigade of the State militia. His staff officers are given precisely as published in the News.

Assistant Adjutant General Joseph E. Caine has issued the following as general order No. 2:

In accordance with instructions contained in general order No. 3, issued by the commander-in-chief, it is hereby ordered that all organizations of the National Guard of Utah participate in general parades at their respective stations on May 30, a national holiday observed in honor of the nation's dead.

All officers of the line, within their respective limits, are directed to co-operate as far as possible with the local authorities and civic organizations in the observance of the day.

Special orders for the guidance of the Salt Lake troops will issue hereafter.

By order of Brigadier General Willard Young, commanding First Brigade National Guard of Utah.

It is expected that on Saturday next, weather permitting, Logan will be as well filled with visitors as it usually is at quarterly conference. The occasion will be the dedication of the monument to perpetuate the memory of John D. Gibbs, who was slain for the Gospel's sake in 1884, at Cane Creek, Tennessee. All business houses in Logan will be closed during the dedicatory services, and the attendance is expected to be very large. It seems appropriate that his comrade in arms, B. H. Roberts, the man who risked his own life to recover the remains of his friend and brother, should deliver the address upon the occasion. In addition to the speeches, music will assist in rendering the services impressive. The Logan choir, the "Sage Brush" glee club, H. S. Ploddard and other vocalists will sing. It is said that the monument will remain in Logan, where it will better serve the purpose for which it was designed, than if placed directly over the remains of the departed here in the
