

MINING AND REALTY.

R. C. Chambers and the Pacific Mining and Trust Company.

AT THE REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE.

Midway Company for Western Wyoming—Proposed Reserve in Sanpete. Floating Sugar Beets—Soda.

R. C. Chambers is engaged in a new scheme for the placing of mining properties upon the English and other markets. His associates in the project are Pacific Coast capitalists, and the papers of the Francisco, to whom city Mr. Chambers recently made a trip, state that in a few days there will be filed there his papers that will have in one of the western corporations ever organized in the state. It is well known that for many years the mining industry in the west has been languishing because foreign capital could not be secured. This is believed by the projectors of the scheme, is due to a lack of confidence in the representatives and afraid to negotiate with them. In many instances the public has demanded such prices for fair projects as to make it practically impossible. Several weeks ago some of the gentlemen made a trip to Europe to visit the chief mining centers of the east coast and called the situation over. The result of that conference was a decision to organize a corporation to be called the Pacific Mining and Trust Company. The projectors in this case, in view of the existing situation, water and water rights and all similar situations, the company will not buy or sell any interest of its own. "It will do the business of mining only." The idea is to get international capital and to apply it in the same conditions as real estate. Thus arises desiring to buy all a man can find what they do at the new company's office. This is claimed to be the principal new feature which will facilitate the development of mines. The capital of the Pacific Mining and Trust company is $200,000. The director of the company will be Lewis C. Morris, Irving M. Scott, W. F. Morrison, T. N. Morrison, George Clegg, and Frank J. H. Neff of Uintah county, Col. and R. C. Chambers of Salt Lake. The secretary of new corporation will be W. C. Rains, who is at present managing superintendent at Rockwood, and who was made so reduced by President Cleveland soon.

AT THE EXCHANGE.—The Real Estate Exchange meeting today was only by a discussion of the advertising scheme of Messrs. Dickinson and St. George. The exchange persons felt to endorse the plan of these gentlemen, but that there was a matter of $500 which it is necessary to raise to release the pictures and get them to Chicago. Mr. Neff had wanted to take this amount by making a personal loan to the men, and the exchange was willing that this should be done, but on the understanding that these efforts did not wish to be undertaken assuming any financial responsibility further than for the advertising plan. The proposition was finally referred to the exchange committee on advertising, to report on Monday evening.

There were a number of sales and purchases by the brokers. Among the others were the shares of the Star mine at Hildreth, Idaho, at 25 cents per share, and 20 shares of the Bank of Utah at $10 per share.

AT THE LAND EXCHANGE.—A private letter from a Fairview citizen, there is considerable fluctuation in the market for the effect that a recent scheme was one of the future possibilities. Elastic capitalists have been in the project and have been looking at the land in the valley and the land to come under the domain. The site has been pronounced fine, and without doubt the market will receive considerable attention. The value of the land and the dimensions of square of mining land in the Snake valley being only 100 feet to make it as productive as the already fertile areas. On the eastern side of the valley, especially, it would require an enormous amount of land and add a third to the cost of the country. The plan is very feasible and we hope the market will receive due attention.—At the Land Exchange.

Mr. C. A. Granger and Mr. George Austin, when they were at Roosa Park this spring representing the best interest among the farmers for the sugar beet, says the last summer, when Mr. Stoddard first mentioned or the project, he contracted for 500 acres of land which would give him a new lot. He has got gas beyond the acreage, exceeding somewhat like 100 acres. Therefore says Mr. Austin had a bill in the legislature which sent to him, that he be allowed to contract for 1,000 acres. He has contracted to that amount, and the bill purchased by Mr. Stoddard, was $15,000. They paid the bill and Austin are delighted at the good prospects it has given. No one has been located or sold at this time of the year. The sugar company have done all that possibly could be done to get the market in good condition. The sugar mill means in getting the best of the market, and the market is good. The buyers have taken hold with determination to make this year's crop a paying one. They have taken great pains to get the land in the best of trim for the seed, and everything is in the best condition. The market, and the government are in high gear, and the outlook is bright, and the market is good.

In addition to Mr. Granger and Mr. Austin, who are the initiators of the factory, there are now two others, one among the family, Mr. Granger, and Mr. W. W. Edwards, son. It is to be hoped the market and the farmers will be disappointed in their busi-ness prospects, and should they be bad next fall, will be one of the easiest towns to which the money will go through the sugar and canning factories, will give a boost of the right size.

THREE KILLED IN ACCIDENT.—A terrible accident occurred at the limestone quarry at Laramie, Colorado. The accident was in the course of the tunneling and resulted in the loss of three lives, seriously injuring one person. Two men were quite seriously wounded, several others were of less severity, but without a moment's warning completely bursting three men beneath their weight. The killed are Herman Matson, Eric Johnson, Edward Lewis, the injured are Herman Matson, a man who was captured and released from hospital, his injuries may prove fatal. George Johnson, an experienced hunter, and severely cut about the head. A. O. Davis, while severely injured, escaped. There were six men in the tunneling crew, who quickly and skillfully did all they could. Hence those who were buried must have been at the sound of the falling rock. It was all over, and their companions endeavored to give what help they could. The following morning was the flood of the tunnel, where the miners were at work. The rock has been exhausted out the day before, and had been "prolonged" since, and the men were still working, trying to get out of the tunnel. The men who were buried were buried under the rocks, and covered by the remaining remains of three more of their comrades.

The boring of a well for gas at Ogallala was resumed yesterday.

A large stock changed hands today at $100 per share.

A large stock was sold at the Needsville, California, on Wednesday, to which P. Egan, manager of the needsville offices, shot and severely wounded James Dugan. Dugan in writing his name was pursued by the police, and Frank Kelly, who was in the office, shot and severely wounded him. Dugan, who was the leader of the bandits, was followed by the police, and the bandit was captured.
