The Spokane authorities made no attempt to arrest Cook, for they had not up to that the social and authorize that time received any word authoriz-ing them to do so. The other two prisoners, who escaped at the same time with Cook, are still at large, but an earnest effort will be at large, but an earnest enort will be made to recepture them. Cook had nade the proud boast that no jail could hold him, and has made good, so far. This is his second escape from the Boise jail within the last month. The last delivery was made by saw is off the steel bars of the window leading into the corridor, and then by digging a hele through the brick wall. This was accomplished during the noon hour, when most of the force was out to lunch.
