

IDAHO'S LATEST RAILROAD SCHEME

Dream of Years is Apparently Now to be Realized Following Wednesday's Deal.

NO PROMISE MADE TO BOISE.

San Francisco, Idaho & Montana Railroad Company Shows Renewed Signs of Activity Once More.

The "News" correspondent writing from Boise, Idaho, says: The dream of years is now to be realized. The Golden Gate railroad will be built.

Donald Grant, the great railroad contractor, is at the head of the San Francisco, Idaho and Montana road. His home is in Fairbairn, Minn. The other office is located at...

As to the probability of the proposed road coming through Boise, Mr. E. R. Place of Minneapolis, who has been the representative of the men behind the building of the road in the preliminary organization, has this to say:

It is of course the through traffic that will make the road pay, and that will be the object really aimed at in the construction of the new road.

There will be no local traffic to speak of for the first few years, and it is believed that a considerable local traffic will be developed in a few years, no matter what route is selected.

OFFICIALS INSPECT CONDUIT.

And Incidentally They Raided Contractor P. J. Moran's Commissary.

A party of city officials is out inspecting the Big Cottonwood conduit today, and incidentally making a raid upon Contractor P. J. Moran's commissary department. Those who went on the trip are Mayor Thompson, Former Mayor R. P. Morgan, City Recorder Morrison, City Auditor Alf, City Engineer Kelsey, Assistant Engineer Chaney, A. S. Fowler, private secretary to the mayor, Chalmers, Leonard and Samuel Barlow of the board of public works, and Councilmen Crabtree, Hobday, O'Donnell, Carter, Tuddenham Black, Davis and Malvey. They left the joint building at 9:25 a. m. in carriages, and drove out to Camp Moran, located near the Rock tunnel, through which the conduit is constructed. A short while after they had reached the joint building at 9:25 a. m. in carriages, and drove out to Camp Moran, located near the Rock tunnel, through which the conduit is constructed.

SIX STATES EXCURSION.

Local Merchants Are Receiving Inquiries Concerning M. & M. A. Work.

Many local merchants are receiving inquiries from their customers in surrounding states, concerning the Six States Business Men's excursion, which will run from all points in Utah, Idaho, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Oregon and Nevada during June.

When is this great six states excursion to be held? Will any house be eligible to the entertainment that is being prepared? Will we get the discounts that the merchants are arranging to give? I would like to know all about this, because I will come to Salt Lake and see what the business houses there are like, and will do my regular season buying there.

This excursion will give me a chance to come to the city and make a personal examination of the lines that I want to buy, instead of making it necessary for me to order by sample only. I want to see what kind of a city you have, and have been buying some of my goods in the Oregon market, but if I can do as well in Salt Lake, there is where I will do all of my buying hereafter.

Other merchants have received letters somewhat similar to the one, and these go to show that the interest in the excursion is extending all along the line through all the surrounding states.

HARRIS ON "HANDOUTS."

Talks About the Encouragement Offered to New Business Concerns.

Cpl. C. O. Harris of the Manufacturers and Merchants' association takes exception to the expression "hand out" used in a printed article yesterday relative to the matter of possible extension of bonuses, and today makes a statement of the substance of which is his belief that it is hardly just to the association which is endeavoring to bring in new manufacturing industries to this city, as well as to the parties whose removal here is desired. He says:

"While it has been the practice in the past for communities to offer inducements in the shape of land and in other ways, it is not expected by the reputable manufacturer; but he does expect that the community will at least be friendly towards his proposition and should not be making any such offer."

This friendly feeling depends largely upon the attitude of the public press towards the proposition, as the residents of every community, irrespective of political or religious opinions, are always swayed by the press. Every director of the Manufacturers and Merchants' association is a working factor in the upbuilding of Salt Lake City and intermountain country, but our efforts will be set at naught unless they are seconded by the press.

I am happy to say that without exception the press of Salt Lake City and the entire intermountain country has done and is doing yeoman service in this direction. With its continued support and co-operation we can make Salt Lake City the hub of the business wheel of six states. Its natural geographical position, its immense territory contributing its natural resources, the volume of business done stamps it as the natural business center of the intermountain country."

SENATOR PETTIGREW HERE.

Sioux Falls Statesman an Ardent Supporter of William J. Bryan.

Ex-United States Senator Pettigrew of Sioux Falls, S. D., is a guest at the Knutsford hotel, having come west on a mining errand. The senator is a firm supporter of William Jennings Bryan as the standard bearer of the "Under-riders" Democracy in the next presidential campaign, and holds that South Dakota will go solid for him. Mr. Pettigrew entertains no doubt that Col. Bryan will be the next president, while at the same time there is no use in trying to belittle Hearst whose opportunity may come later. Mr. Pettigrew lays considerable stress on alleged disaffection over the "Imperialistic" policies of the administration, and then there is a division in the republican household over the fight against the power of the corporations. He says nothing of a revolt against the machine.

It is quite possible that Roosevelt will run again, although he says he has no intention of exchanging terms, but the nomination may be forced upon him. The emancipation of the rate bill is pitiful, as it is left now of no use whatever, and the Interstate commerce commission has no more power as it had under the law of 1887. The power of appeal to the courts will take cases before judges who have been bribed, and the attorneys, and long delays are almost certain.

The ex-senator leaves tonight for Washington.

BIG JAIL BREAK NIPPED IN THE BUD

Sawing of Steel Bars by Two Burglars Heard by an Alert Deputy.

SENSATIONAL FIND MADE.

Wholesale Lot of "Freedom" Tools Discovered in the Rotary Cells of the County Jail.

That some person or persons have been quite busy recently smuggling saws and other useful tools into the prisoners in the county jail was evidenced yesterday afternoon when Jailor Joe Burbridge detected and frustrated an attempt to escape from the jail, and probably a delivery of 10 or more prisoners. After the attempt had been blocked a search was made of the cells in the rotary by Sheriff Emery and Jailor Burbridge, which resulted in the discovery of the following tools in the cells of the prisoners: Two dozen saws, five knives and three table knives filed for sawing purposes, and a saw brace which would fit any sized saw.

HEARD SAW AT WORK.

Jailor Burbridge detected the sound of sawing shortly after the prisoners had been turned out in the corridor of the rotary for their usual exercise after the noon meal, yesterday. He secreted himself in a cell nearby and soon located the sawing in the cell of James McCormick and Frank Harrison, two men awaiting trial for burglary. The sheriff was notified, and the prisoners were at once locked in their cells. A search of all the rotary cells was then commenced, and resulted in the finding of the tools mentioned above.

BARIS NEARLY SEVERED.

An examination of the bars of all cells disclosed the fact that several of them had been sawed nearly through, and that only a few hours more of work was necessary to liberate the prisoners. The cell of McCormick and Harrison the bars were nearly through at the bottom. Two bars at the window on the west side of the cell had been nearly sawed in two, and it is evident that the prisoners intended getting out of the window after being released from the rotary.

IN EVERY CELL.

Saws were found in nearly every cell on the lower tier of the rotary, and in several of the upstairs cells, so it is evident that the prisoners had been working on the delivery. It was found out by the sheriff that the break for liberty was scheduled for this afternoon.

IN TRUSTY'S "ROOM."

In the cell of Herbert Williams was found a saw brace and three hacksaws, trapped up in the blankets on his bed. He is a trusty, and is in the jail, and it is believed that he smuggled the tools in while doing trusty work. Hereafter the jailor will search the trusties' rooms, and if he finds any tools he will return to their cells so that it will be difficult for them to do any smuggling in the future. It is also probable that visitors will be watched more closely in the future, so as to prevent them from carrying anything of the nature of tools to the prisoners.

NOW IN DUNGEON.

McCormick and Harrison, who are considered dangerous men, are now confined in the dungeon at the jail, where they will remain until they tell how they secured the tools. Ten other prisoners, who are believed by the sheriff to have been leaders in the attempted break, have been handcuffed to the walls of their cells, and water and food until they give up some information about the affair.

AMUSEMENTS.

Grand—The rendition of "The Pearl of Savoy" pleased a large audience of Grand patrons last night. The play is founded on a pretty story of French peasant life, and is entirely clean throughout. A strict adherence to cleanliness has characterized the engagement of the Ethel Tucker Stock company from the first, of which fact the patrons of the house are thoroughly appreciative. The performance last evening was a credit to every member of the cast. Of course, Miss Tucker was the favorite of the audience, but scarcely less praiseworthy was the acting of Whit Brandon. "The Pearl of Savoy" goes for the remainder of the week, with a Saturday matinee. The bill next week will be "The Inside Track," a melo-drama of the startling kind.

Orpheum—Another good house was at the Orpheum last night to witness the presentation of "The Girl I Left Behind Me" by the clever stock company Herchel Mayall, the handsome leading man, duplicated his success of the opening night, and with the other principals received considerable applause. Rehearsals are now under way for "The Party Ball" for next week, and the company has been still further strengthened by three other professionals.

Casino Park—Zinn's Merry Travesty company has apparently "caught on" judging by the well pleased audience which greet them nightly. The show is one of action from start to finish.

Lyric—The Lyric theater opens tomorrow afternoon as a popular priced stock house and "The Fatal Wedding" is announced as the opening bill. While most theatergoers have seen the play, all will want to see it again, for the picture it presents touches all hearts. All necessary scenery and effects have been built, and it is claimed this production will far surpass any previous presentation. Jane Kelton, formerly leading woman at the Burbank theater, Los Angeles, is one of the foremost leading women on the coast, and is said to possess beauty and dramatic ability of high order.

WANTS TO QUASH PROSECUTION.

Lawyers of Former Bank Clerk Seeking Dismissal on Technical Grounds.

Accused Appeared in Court But Was Recommitted to the Sheriff—Effort To Secure Bonds.

The arraignment of Arthur Brown upon two charges of forgery did not occur before Judge Whitaker as contemplated this morning. At the time set for the arraignment Attorney Kinney & Wilson, who represent Brown, filed a motion to quash the warrant issued in the two cases on the ground that the complaint upon which the warrant was issued was not verified by oath or affirmation before a magistrate as required by law. The attorneys appeared specially for the purpose of making the motion and requested that it be heard before the defendant was arraigned.

Judge Whitaker accordingly continued the arraignment till Thursday, May 31, at which time the motion will be argued and decided by the court. Brown was ordered committed to the custody of the sheriff, where he will remain until bonds are furnished for him in the sum of $5,000 in each case. Attorney Kinney expressed the belief that his client would be able to furnish bonds some time during the day.

BROUGHT INTO COURT.

Brown was brought into Judge Whitaker's court in the city and county building by Capt. Burbridge of the police department. At the conclusion of the proceedings this morning he was taken in charge by Sheriff Sharp to be taken to the county jail. The young man is charged with forging two checks one for $3,125 and the other for $3,457.50, the name forged on the former check was that of W. C. M. Orem, and on the latter P. M. Orem.

MOTION TO QUASH.

Following is the motion filed by the attorneys for Brown which will be argued next Thursday: "And now comes the defendant in the above entitled action by his attorneys Kinney & Wilson, and especially appearing for the purpose of this motion and not intending hereby to enter an appearance for any other purpose and before the said defendant has been called upon to make his plea in said action, and moves the court to quash the warrant in this action and the service thereon upon the ground that the complaint upon which said warrant was issued is not verified by oath or affirmation made before a magistrate."

VETERAN WOMAN'S BURIAL.

Widow of Lieutenant Willis of Mormon Battalion Famed, Laid to Rest.

There passed away at the residence of her daughter, 535 north Fifth West street, on Tuesday, May 22, Mrs. Mary Willis, of old age and infirmity. The deceased was born Feb. 12, 1824. Her husband, Wm. Wesley Willis, who has died many years ago, was in the very early days, a lieutenant in the Mormon Battalion. Mr. and Mrs. Willis arrived in Utah in the year 1854. Elder Willis was also a president of a quorum of Seventy in the Beaver stake of Zion.

His widow, whose death is now chronicled, was a lovely woman, a most affectionate mother, and her death is sorely grieved by the members of her family. She is survived by her two daughters, Mrs. E. H. Moorehouse (at whose home she died) and Mrs. Geo. J. Brown.

The funeral was held yesterday (Thursday) at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Brown, 624 west Third North street, at 2 p. m. Bishop Wm. McMillan officiated at the service. The speakers were Elder H. D. Barber and Bishop Wm. McMillan, who spoke in feeling terms of the exemplary life of the deceased.

The selections rendered by the Twenty-eighth ward choir were: "O My Father," "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Shall We Meet Beyond the River." The floral offerings were very beautiful. The interment took place at Mount Olivet cemetery, Bishop Wm. McMillan offering the dedicatory prayer.

PRESENT A FLAG TO THE L. D. S. U.

Thessalonian Students Raise Flag-Pole With Stars and Stripes Today.

STUDENT MAKES ADDRESS.

Emblem Raised in Front of Building With Impressive Ceremonies.

Immediately after the exercises complimentary to President Paul, the students of the Latter-day Saints' university this morning assembled upon the lawn in front of their buildings, where a fine new flag-pole and a beautiful banner of the Stars and Stripes were in evidence, the pole being erected just inside of the front gates. When the assembly had circled around the high pole, and when the members of the Thessalonian society, who made the presentation of the pole and flag to their Alma Mater, had arranged themselves around the pole for the purpose of hoisting the flag at the proper moment.

EAGLE MAKES RESPONSE.

Mr. H. K. Eakle, president of the society, stepped into the center and said: "Honored members of the faculty, fellow students—Some time ago, the Thessalonian society decided to give some function to mark the close of the season's proceedings. A dinner was suggested, as was also a theater party, and then it was suggested that the society present the school with a flag and flag-pole. The only objection to this was the cost. It was found that the necessary expense of putting in a flag-pole and of obtaining a flag to go with it was quite heavy for the twenty members of the society to carry. But after due deliberation it was decided to present the flag, even if some little sacrifices were necessary."

The society is making this presentation in order to bring the students into closer contact with the school, and the pole is to be used for the school and not for any class, or other colors. We desire that when a student walks upon the campus he shall feel proud and honored to look up and see the flag above him; that in looking from these windows round about, the flag that will be at the top of that staff shall be an inspiration to him, and cause the patriot within him to thrill his very soul.

It is our wish that those students who follow and uphold the Gold and Blue, shall be the men and women of all men and women, who will follow, uphold and fight for the old Stars and Stripes.

To foster and develop these sentiments, we, the Thessalonian society, present to our beloved school, the flag of our country.

Professor H. K. Eakle, who conducted the gathering, announced that he would call upon President Paul to make the formal acceptance. President Paul then stepped into the center and with feelings of gratitude and appreciation the splendid token of patriotism to their country and love for their Alma Mater, which the Thessalonian society had thus displayed, and he pledged, in behalf of the school, that neither the pole nor the flag would ever be used by the students for any other purpose than that for which these emblems were originally intended. He then quoted the sentiments of Richard Henry Lee in relation to George Washington and the famous sayings of Daniel Webster in relation to the American flag as it floats over a united and patriotic people, and declared that these were the sentiments of those who now raised and honored this emblem of our country.

PRESIDENT PAUL.

President Paul closed by reciting from Joseph Rodman Drake the lines: "Flag of the free heart's hope and home, By angel hands to valor given, Thy stars have lit the weakling dome, And all thy hues were born in heaven. Forever float, that standard sheet! Where breathes the free, but falls before With freedom's soul beneath our feet, And freedom's banner streaming o'er us."

A brass plate 8 by 12 inches in dimension is affixed to the pole, bearing this inscription: "The Thessalonian Society, May 25, 1906. H. K. Eakle, president; R. S. Olsen, vice president; D. G. Spencer, secretary and treasurer; E. W. Musing, Jr., P. Cummings, Jr., R. W. Young, Jr., A. L. Fuller, C. W. Lindsay, D. E. Hammond, Jr., W. Bond, S. Wells, J. T. Hammond, Jr., L. T. Perry, W. B.
