

County's excitement and indignation will be intense. It is the adjoining county to Adams, where the Millett murderers were lynched.

FOREIGN.

Vienna, 17.—Three hundred and thirteen petitions were presented in the Reichsrath, urging the defeat of the reactionary school bill. The greater portion of the German element looks upon the measure with disfavor.

Loango, 27.—The natives have protested to Captain Pertuee of Bengo, who made a formal protest to the French authorities. They expect a conflict with the French will follow, and that H. M. Stanley will require a ship and forces for his protection. No outbreak so far, up to the date of the dispatch. The Minister of Marine explained that the occupied territory lay north westward of the Portuguese dominion. The Captain of Bengo protested, owing to the irregular form of occupation. The Minister reminded the Chamber that the French Government had recently declared they would respect the rights of Portugal. The Portuguese gunboat Douro has gone to Loango.

LONDON, 18.—In the Commons, a motion by Pell, conservative, in favor of the immediate reform of local taxation, was only negatived by a vote of 217 to 228.

The closeness of the decision on Pell's motion was loudly cheered by the Tories.

An amendment accepted by the government postpones consideration of reform measures until the whole question of local government is examined.

The Daily News says that, in the event of the Anam affair involving France with China, it is understood France will confine herself to blockading Chinese ports, being very well aware of the difficulty of an expedition to Peking. The News adds that it would be a very serious matter to stop trade between China and America or England and Germany, and it is worth while for France to consider whether Bismarck will submit to it.

Two gunboats are ordered to Tonquin.

Andrew J. Kettle, ex-suspect, has seceded from the Parnellite party.

The brig Marie, from Galveston for Queenstown, is abandoned; crew saved.

Liverpool, 18.—The man named Kingston, said to be an invincible, when arrested, struggled hard to escape. The detectives started with him for Dublin. McNulty, arrested at Wakefield, suspected Fenian, is released.

Dublin, 18.—In the Curley trial, Attorney General Porter, on behalf of the Crown declared the evidence in support of the alibi worthless and conflicting, though Peter Hanlon professed to have been in Curley's company four hours, covering the time the assassination took place, and claimed during that time that he met various persons. One witness swore that Curley was in a saloon at the same time Hanlon testified that Curley was in another place.

The Judge then delivered his charge to the jury. He spoke strongly against the reliability of the evidence to prove an alibi; pointed out that there could not be the slightest doubt that the murders were perpetrated at the instigation of the secret societies with which the prisoner was indisputably connected. The charge was completed at half-past two. The jury retired immediately, and after a short absence, re-entered the court room, finding Curley guilty as charged in the indictment. The prisoner was asked if he had anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced. He said he had not expected any mercy from the court. It was very unfortunate that the Irish bench was never without a Norbury or a Keogh. He was a member of the invincibles, but was not in Phoenix Park on the evening the murders were committed. He loved his country and could suffer for her. The witnesses for the crown perjured themselves. Curley also said he was a Fenian. After the prisoner finished, he was sentenced to be hanged the 18th of May. As the officers were taking the prisoner from the dock, he cried out in a loud voice, "God save Ireland."

Berlin, 18.—The Nord Deutsche Zeitung, answering the comments of the French press on its previous article, says if monarchy be restored in France, it is not very likely Germany would declare war forthwith. She would probably await an attack by France, which would soon be made. Under certain conditions the restored monarchy would probably be induced to declare war on Germany without warning.

A committee of Fortschritt's party in the Reichstag has issued a circular contesting the assertion in the message of the Emperor that the Reichstag is dilatory, and delaying business. It says premature voting of the budget is objectionable as the system of biennial budgets. The socialists require much remodeling, and Fortschritt's party desire to place their views on this point clearly on record in consideration of the agitation of their opponents and the possibility of the dissolution of the Reichstag.

Madrid, 18.—An explosion of dynamite in a commercial establishment in Carlsbalt, province of Orens, killed two persons and wounded several. Three houses were burned.

LONDON, 19.—Norman, Dillon, Wilson, Dr. Gallagher, Bernard, Curtin, Ansboro and Whitehead, the eight men arrested charged with being concerned in the dynamite conspiracy were again brought up in the Bow Street Police Court this morning. On the prisoners being arraigned in the court room it was announced that Norman had turned informer. The rest of the prisoners, including Bernard Gallagher and Whitehead were informally tried for treason and felony.

Norman testified that his real name was Wm. Joseph Lynch, born of Irish parents in the State of New York.

London, 19.—Lynch swore he worked in Oct. last as a coach-builder in Brooklyn. At that time he joined a secret society in New York, the object of which was to free Ireland by force. Members were not known to each other by their proper names. Members were selected to go on a mission and he was sent to Dr. T. Gallagher who lived at Green Point, L. I. Gallagher told him he was to go to London, and that he would know what for when he got there. Gallagher gave him $50 and told him to take a steamer passage on the steamer Spain under the name of Norman. Gallagher also gave him one hundred more and told him to go to London and enquire at the American Exchange for a letter addressed to him. Lynch did not want to go as he had relatives to support, but finally went. Gallagher gave him a small box. He examined this on the steamer, and finding it contained a spring which worked by pressure became alarmed and threw it into the sea.

Lynch reached London, March 22d, and met Gallagher in London, on the 27th or 28th. They walked past the scene of the Westminster explosion, and on his asking Gallagher if "That's what we are going to do?" the latter answered, "Yes." Gallagher viewed the Houses of Parliament and said, "They will make a great crash when they come down." (At this point Gallagher shouted out from the dock; "You infamous liar!")

Lynch inferred from the talk of the conspirators that O'Donovan Rossa was in the scheme. Rossa was referred to as the "old man." Lynch testified that he went to Birmingham to see Whitehead at Gallagher's request, for some material. Gallagher gave the money to buy a presentable trunk in which to put the stuff he was to get from Whitehead. Whitehead put him in the way of getting an India-rubber bag. Lynch confirmed all the evidence submitted at the hearing last Thursday as to Gallagher having called for him and Fletcher. He said when Whitehead was loading nitro-glycerine into the rubber bags, he told Lynch that 50 pounds had been taken away that day. Whitehead also told him he would soon know what that liquid was.

Whitehead here shouted, "You lie, you traitor."

Lynch further testified that Gallagher met him when he returned to London from Birmingham with the nitro-glycerine. He had never seen any persons before except Gallagher and Whitehead. Lynch fainted while his deposition was being read over and had to be removed from the court room. The examination was adjourned until to-morrow.
