Earth schooks, here and at Reggio at 7:20 this morning, created a panic among the people of these two cities. Walls of houses not completely demoiished in the visitation of December were shaken down and the inhabitants of the towns rushed from the streets lowards the open country. A woman and a child caught under the wreckage sustained serious injury, the woman subsequently dying.

The carth shocks have been becoming more intense recently. The shocks of this morning were undulating and rertical and accompanied by deep roarng sounds. The first one was followed by an explosion like the roar of cannon and lasted between eight and 10

It is said that this quake was of greater severity than the fatal one of the night of Dec. 28. The wooden houses and huts erected for the accommodation of the people seemed to be thrown from one side to the other. Cries filled the air as the people fled to one side of the road. Detachments with carbines were despatched for the with carbines were despatched for the protection of the wooden huts built with American money, but which had act yet been distributed. The population fleeing in the district where walls threatened to fall upon them, rushed loward the American huts with the intention of taking forcible possession of them. Between 8 o'clock last night and 1.22 this morning a total of eight shocks was experienced.

The instruments at the university have registered a total of 10 shocks of tarying severity since 20 minutes past factors this morning. News that has come in here from the provinces shows that damage has been wrought there.

that damage has been wrought there, but it is as yet impossible correctly to estimate the extent of the disaster. Sailors, soldiers and policemen have been sent out through the district to prevent looting and give courage to the acone.

Messina, July 1 .- Six months after Messina, July 1.—Six months after the devastating earthquake of December 28, which laid waste more than a score of cities and towns in Calabria and Sicily and killed 200,000 persons. Messina and Reggio were again visited this morning by an earthquake which had they been rebuilt would have laid them a second time in ruins. It would seem that nature is determined to blot out Messina but recently one would seem that nature is determined to blot out Messina, but recently one of the fairest cities in the world.

It is as yet impossible accurately to determine the number of casualties. Some of the reports are alarming, but they cannot be verified. So far as is positively known, only a few people were hurt. One woman was killed by a falling wall and a child was seriously injured.

While minor shocks have been of frequent occurrence in Sielly in the last six months, last night they became more serious and caused much alarm. The most severe quakes came to 17.00 and 17.25 this morning and alarm. The most severe quakes came at 7:20 and 7:25 this morning and were similar to the fatal disturbance of December, being accompanied by the same roaring noises.

The population again fled in fear, hurrying to the open places of the city and the surrounding country praying that their lives might be shared

Gradually, as the confidence of the People returned, Messina had acquired a population of something more than 25,000, but today the people again are on terror and do not feel themselves afe even in the temporary huts erected for their shelter, and have fled to the country, preferring the shelter of trees and caves to the danger of falling They lack food and covering and are camping out in desolate groups.

BIG RESERVOIR IS NOW ASSURED

Water to be Stored in Upper Weber for Benefit of Four Counties.

Acting Under New Law, Persons Interested Are Meeting Today to Arrange Preliminary Matters.

The money needed to finance the Weber Reservoir, Power and Irrigation company's project, amounting to $3,-50,000 is assured and President J. H. Frant of Davis stake, J. G. M. Barnes, Heber J. Sheffield and others who are associated with them, in organizing the project are now arranging details preliminary to forming an irrigation distriet agreeable to the laws enacted by the last legislature. This news was given out today by Mr. Grant, after a lengthy meeting in this city with a number of other men who are also maving in the matter.

The project is to build a big reservoir on the upper Weber, high enough to cover between 40,000 and 50,000 acres of arld and semi-arid lands in Weber, Davis, Morgan and Summit counties, nost of it lying in Davis and Weber counties. It will include all such landying between the Hot Springs north of Ogden, and the Hot Springs about of Ogden, and the Hot Springs, about four miles north of Salt Lake. "A great deal of this land," Mr. Grant said today, "Is as good as that found anywhere and all it needs is the water, and we expect to get the water on it in 1911." n 1911.'

From the reservoir on the upper Weber it is proposed to construct canals on the north and south side of the Weber river, which shall be 340 feet above the river at the mouth of the canyon. With this altitude, surveys have determied that about 50,000 acres of land which is now almost useless for crops, may be successfully irrigated.

BENEFIT OF NEW LAW. The scheme is a big one and has occupied the attention of Davis county people and others for several years. The laws enacted by the last legislature The laws enacted by the last legislature enable the people to form what are called irrigation districts, and by means of this law it is now possible to make the completion of the project certain. A meeting of about 250 prominent citizens of Davis county was held a few days ago, at which there was not a dissenting voice on the proposition. It was decided to go ahead with the project and the committee was given every encouragement. The next step required by law is to file a petition with the county commissioners, embracing the largest acreage, stating that it is the purpose of the petitioners to organize purpose of the petitioners to organize an irrigation district. They will then order an election to decide whether such a district shall be organized, and to elect three directors into whose hands will be placed the power to make all arrangements for the completion of the work. They will be responsible for the expenditure of all funds, and it will be their duty to call an election to vote on the question of issuing bonds covering the cost of the project. The land-

MUCH PRELIMINARY WORK.

The preliminary steps in the formation of the company are expected to take about four months to complete, but in the meantime surveys will be completed under the direction of Engineer Willard Young A great deal of this work has already been done, and estimates have been gone over thoroughly as to the cost.

Chicago capitalists have been here and after looking over the proposition they have row guaranteed that the money needed will be on hand when wanted. All that remains to be done wanted. All that remains to be done is to organize the company as required by the act, which also provides that the interest only at 6 per cent per annum shall be paid during the first ten years. On the eleventh year payment of the principal will begin, no less than 5 per cent of the principal being paid that year. On the twelfth year no less than 6 per cent of the principal is to ve paid, and so on, an increase each year until the twentieth year from the completion of the project, when the total cost will have been paid and the reservoir and canals will be long to the people. It is also required that the total cost shall not be more than $125 per acre.

PLOTTING AGAINST LIFE OF THE CZAR

Evidence of Anarchist Scheme to Assassinate Him on His European Tour Discovered.

Stockholm, June 1 .- Further evidence of an anarchist plot to assassinate the emperor of Russia some time during his approaching European trip was unearthed here today. Adolf Vang, the Swede who last week shot and killed Maj-Gen. Beckman, chief of the coast artillery, and then committed suicide belonged to a group of anarchists who have been plotting the death of the Russian ruler. Eight Russian anarchists were arrested previous to the killing of Gen. Beckman, but their apprehension was kept secret. Two of them were found hiding in the palace. Varg left a letter saying that inasmuch as his Russian convades had been arrested it was impossible for him alone to kill the emperor and consequently he assassinated the first high official he

His Spirit Entered Body of Fred'k L. Thompson and Caused Him to Become a Painter of Pictures.

New York, July 1 .-- The strange story of the spirit of a dead artist taking possession of the mind of a living man and impelling him to carry on the artist's unfinished work is related by Prof. James Hyslop, president of the American Society for Psychical Research, who, with Prof. Isaac K. Funk, recently came to the conclusion that the spirit of man lives after his body is Robert Swain Gifford, the artist in restion, died in 1905, at his summer home near New Bedford, Mass, Fredrick L. Thompson, a goldsmith, had met Mr. Gifford only twice and knew him but slightly. Thompson had never indicated any ability as an artist until six months after the death of Gifford, then he did not even know that Gifford had died. He was suddenly setzed with in impulse to paint a picture, and going to work on it, he was surprised at his ability. While he was painting the voice of Gifford seemed to tell him to continue the work he had started.

Thompson continued painting pictures, always obsessed by the spirit of Gifford, and found a ready market for them. Many purchasers commented on their similarity to Gifford's paint-

Feating that his mind was giving way, in 1907, Thompson called on Prof. Hyslop. He made several sketches of pictures at the instance of what he considered to be Gifford's spirit. Prof. considered to be Gillord's spirit. Prof. Hyslop locked these up in a safe and then Thompson went to New Bedford and called on Gifford's widow, whom he had never met. One of the first things Mrs. Gifford showed him was a sketch which Mr. Gifford had made a short time before his death and which had been locked up and seen by my one. had been locked up and seen by no one until a few days before Mr. Thomp-son's call. This ketch was exactly similar in every detail to one of the sketches Thompson had left with Prof. Hyslop. Thompson had left with Prof. Hyslop.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 1 .- Although abandoned to share the fate of her husband, Panamint Joe, an Indian guide, who died while piloting a party men and women through Death or men and women through Death Valley, Maggie, an Indian squaw, saved the lives of the panic-stricken whites by leading them to water. The story of the rescue was brought here yesterday by Dr. R. A. McDonald, who returned from a trip to the Skidoo mines.

The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. J. Parks of Beatty, their grown daughter and two men named Worden and Zemki. After the death of Joe they became frightened and after deciding to abandon Maggle, for whom there was no room on the horses, started to find a way out of the burning waste. They become lost, their water gave out and they made a desolate camp. They were almost hopeless when Maggle, gaunt and silent, came stalking in among them in the dead of night. She showed them the way to Emigrant Springs, where the party got water.

PRESIDENT GOMEZ

uban Senate Having Pailed to Pass The Budget, Issues Decree Making Effective Magoon's Budget.

Havana, July 1.-As the result of the Cuban budget. President Gomez, at an early hour this morning, issued a decree making effective Gov. Magoon's budget of 1908-09, amounting to $24,285,000. The deficiency to cover the cost of the army and other increased expenses of the republic, amounting to nearly $10,000,000, will be supplied by presidential decree. This will practically repeal the conditions of the last year of the Palma rerime, when, in default of a budget the lecrees to this same end issued by President Palma were declared to vio late the constitution and percipitated the revolution of August, 1906. There is still a possibility that congress may meet tomorrow and pass the budget, in which case the president may cancel his decree; but this course is open to the objection that the con-stitution makes it mandatory that the budget be accepted before the close of the fiscal year and the fiscal year ended at midnight last night.

Each succeeding administration orders a renovation of the executive residence. Sometimes the changes, are radical and elaborate. Seven years ago about half a million dollars was spent in remodeling the interior of the White House proper and in the east and in remodeling the interior of the White House proper and in the east and west wings. President Taft will expend more than $150,000 for improvements in the main building and $40,000 including his offices. The remodelling done during the Roosevelt term will be accepted by the new administration unaltered. Provision will be made, however, for better accommodations for the scores that flock to the White House daily to see the president. It and Six of Its Directors Indicted for Entering Into Conspiracy in Restraint of Trade.

CASE HAS STRANGE HISTORY.

When Submitted to Mr. Bonaparte by Receiver Sacle He Did Not Act-Wickersham Has Nothing to Say.

New York, July 1.-The American Sugar Refining company, six of its directors and two other individuals were indicted by a federal grand jury today on a charge of conspiracy in restraint of trade. The officials indicted are Washington B. Thomas, president of the American Sugar Refining company; Arthur Dojer and Charles H. Sneff and John E. Parsons of New York; John Mayer of Morristown, N. J., and George H. Frazier of Philadelphia, all of whom are directors of the company. Indictments also were found against Gustave Kissel and Thomas B. Harnett, counsel for Adolph Segal. There are 14 counts in the indictment. The indictments charge the corporation the American Sugar company and the accused of conspiracy in restraint of trade in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. The defendants will answer to the indictments in sourt next Tuesday.

HISTORY OF CASE.

New York, July 1 .- The events leading up to today's indictments may be traced back to 1896, when Adolph Segal of Philadelphia sold to the American Sugar Refining company a refinery which he had built and for a time operated at Camden, N. J. Some years later Segal took over the old Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company of Philadelphia, which had suspended business in 1898. By 1903 Segal had a new plant in 1898. By 1903 Segal had a new plant nearly completed and was ready to compete in sugar refining. Meantime, however, he had engaged extensively in other real estate promotions and became pressed for funds. Just at this time Gustave Kissel, a Wall street broker, turned up with an offer to obtain for Segal a loan of $1,125,000, which was accepted. It afterwards developed that the loan came from the treasury of the American Sugar Refining company, but Segal claims that at the time he did not know this. To secure the loan for his real estate operations, the loan for his real estate operations, Segal entered into a bond with Kissel by which the borrower turned over, along with other security, 26,000 of the 50,000 shares of the Pennsylvania Refinso, we shares of the Pennsylvania Renning company and agreed that the sugar securities should be put in a voting trust which gave Kissel or whoever he represented control of Segal's company. The new controlling interest in the The new controlling interest in the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company forthwith elected a new board of directors and this board soon afterward adopted a resolution that the Segal refinery should not be operated at that time. Segal also borrowed heavily from the Real Estate Trust company of Philadelphia, with which he deposit-ed the securities of the so-called sugar trust loan. President Hipple, of the Real Estate Trust company, had been made custodian of these securities. The trust company became involved hope-lessly and suspended. President Hipple committed suicide.

EARLE'S CLAIMS. After George H. Earle had been

company on Aug. 28, 1908, he claimed the difficulties of the trust company were due to the pressure brought by the American Sugar Refining company upon Segal for the discharge of his ob-ligations, while at the same time Segal, not being permitted to operate his re-finery, was helpless to pay. Mr. Earle appealed to the department of justice, alleging among other things that the minority interests associated with Segal in his sugar refinery were being de-trauded and that the "trust," in keeping the refinery closed, was acting in restraint of trade and in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. Representations made by Earle to Justice Moody, then attorney general and subsequently to Atty. Gen. Bonaparte continued, but without the relief sought. It is understood the attitude of the demonstration of institute was that so for ay partment of justice was that so far as representations had been made the fact dld not differ in theory from the Knight case in which the federal courts had case in which the federal courts had held that the acquisition of four competing refineries by the American Sugar Refining company did not constitute a violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. Suit was then brought in the United States district court at New York, the Pennsylvania Sugar company seeking damages of $30,000,000 from the American Sugar Refining company. After a trial of two weeks a compromise was effected on June 8, The exact terms of the settlement have not been made was effected on June 8. The exact terms of the settlement have not been made public, but it is understood the sugar "trust" cancelled the Kissel note of $1.125,000, paid Segal $2,000,000 in cash in lieu of losses which he claimed he had sustained through the idleness of his refinery and returned to him the 26,000 shares of the Pennsylvania company which had been deposited as security for the loan of 1903. curity for the loan of 1903.

It was this victory over the American Sugar Refining company which seemed to open the way for a federal suit against that corporation along the lines drawn by Mr. Earle three years

WICKERSHAM'S OPINION. Washington, July 1.—With respect to the indictment found in the New York, sugar cases, Atty-Gen, Wickersham, said today that the indictment spoke for itself and he had nothing to add. In his opinion the administration of Justice should be quiet, though effective and impersonal and it was his intention that this should be so in the sugar cases as in other cases under
