She telephoned to police headquarters for assistance, but in the meantime Mrs. Fow's brother called and learning of the situation, did not wait for the police but proceeded to thrash the abusive husband. Several well directed blows put Fow down and out, and he was taken to the city jail and locked him up.

DISCUSS MINERS' HOSPITAL.

Park City Has One Fine Institution And Would Welcome Another.

(Special to the "News.")
Park City, Utah, Jan. 3.—Park City has a fine, modern and thoroughly equipped hospital for miners. This morning a Salt Lake paper says, "Why not build a miners' hospital at Park City?" This paper also says:

"In 1897 the legislature appropriated $50,000 for the erection of a miners' hospital at Park City, providing the people of that place would donate a piece of land and raise an additional $5,000. After that action, the whole business slept."

"Park City has plenty of available space for a miners' home, and that there is a necessity for such an institution. It contains no other city up in the mountains has not taken advantage of the opportunity."

"With the $13,883.53 already in the fund, $36,000 more would be needed to be raised by Park City, a fund of $23,883.53 would be available at once for the erection and maintenance of such a home."

Park City's Miners' hospital is second to no institution in the state or in the west; in proportion to its size it has every convenience and modern aid for the sick. It is located on a bench below town has no end of fresh air and sunshine. But Park City will welcome a state institution and can accommodate one.

Woodruff and Mrs. H. O. Shepherd, Mrs. E. Shepherd awarded the prizes. There was also a musical program. FOUND DEAD IN HIS ROOM.

Tom Mooney, a Miner, Expires in Second South Street Hotel.

Shortly before 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Tom Mooney, a miner, was found dead in his room at the Lincoln house on east Second South street. Mooney was found kneeling at the bedside in an attitude of prayer. He had evidently died during the night from hemorrhages brought on by miners' consumption. Mooney left his home in Minneapolis to find a climate that would benefit his health. He arrived here on Nov. 9, and stated that he was going to the coast. His dead body was found by Officer Dwyer who had been summoned by a chambermaid after she was unable to unlock the door.

ADOPTS BRYAN'S IDEA.

Oklahoma Guarantees State Bank Deposits, Drawing Business.

A. S. Brown has returned from Oklahoma where he says there is deep satisfaction over the action of the new state in guaranteeing all deposits in state banks. One result is that people over the line in Kansas are making their deposits in Oklahoma instead of Kansas banks, which is inclining Kansas people to calling on the governor to have the legislature enact a similar law as applied to Kansas. Oklahoma in consideration of this guarantee, levies a tax on the banks, thus accumulating a fund from which any loss occasioned by failure of a state bank is made good. William J. Bryan originated the idea.

TO BECOME DISTINGUISHED.

Alexander McWhirter, Master of the Art, Will Tell How it is Done.

tion." The reading by Mr. McWhirter, whose name has figured in nobody knows how many columns of newspaper matter, will be followed by a debate. The question to be argued is: "Resolved, that poverty rather than riches tends to develop character." H. E. Enos and H. D. Volk take the affirmative and Ernest A. Hoare and Charles De Mosey, the negative. V. R. Savage will sing a ballad, and Charles Shepherd will offer a piano solo. The evening's entertainment is given by the Forensic club, recently organized, and, we trust, will be of great interest to the general public and all members of the association to be present.

MERRY CHRISTMAS NOT.

Chopping the butt of a Christmas tree in Prospect, Conn., yesterday, William Smith, a farm hand, nearly cut off his great toe. Angered, he threw the ax and it broke a window and struck a child, Mabel Scoville, in the face, inclining a scalp. Cringing under the tree, Mrs. William Scoville fell and broke an ankle. Indignant over the chain of accidents, Howard Scoville, a son of the woman, insisted on doing the rest of the work himself, and while testing the candles set the tree on fire and nearly burned the farmhouse. Believing the tree bewitched, the frightened Scoville, threw it into the hog pen, where it fell and killed a chicken.—Denver Post.

WANT TABS RELEASED.

Citizens of Washington County Ask Board to Pardon Indian.

Citizens of Washington county have petitioned the board of pardon to release from the state prison, John Tuah, an Indian who was sentenced to one year last September for alleged theft of a horse. Tuah has always claimed he believed the animal was his when he went and got it, and does not see why he should be imprisoned, particularly when he led the horse through the town of Washington where all could see what he was doing, and made no attempt to conceal his action. Warden Pratt does not think Tuah should be kept there any longer, the attorney general appears favorable to his release, and the chances are that the old man, now 30 years old, will be pardoned at the next meeting of the board.

PLANNING REVENGE.

E. Bradley of Mant, Utah, Fooled Elv Friends, But Just Wait—

He going away, ostensibly for a holiday trip to visit his former home at Mant, Utah, the friends of Emerson Bradley, well known about the town, having been employed for some time as solicitor for the Graham Mercantile company, were much surprised to receive yesterday a card notifying his employers that he had joined the ranks of the hordes marauding in the state of Idaho. Bradley, on Dec. 27, Bradley, if it was his intention to give his friends the slip entirely and get ahead of them without the least suspicion of the purposes attaching to his trip, succeeded admirably. No one suspected anything of the purpose of his trip and the surprise was a great one to all his friends.

During the time he has been here, Bradley has made numerous friends who, in spite of a feeling of resentment at his having tricked them so neatly, will without doubt join with the News in wishing both the groom and his young bride a happy married life. The friends of Bradley are planning some kind of a greeting which will eminently exemplify their wrath at being so neatly tricked by him, upon his return, which will take place within a few days.—White Pine News (Ely, Nev.).
