

ARTHUR BROWN MUST ANSWER
Young Man Ordered Held to the District Court to Answer.

THE HEARING THIS MORNING.

Examination Was Only Upon One of the Cases Filed Against Him in Forgery Matter.

The preliminary hearing of Arthur Brown was held before Judge Whitaker in the city court this morning and at its conclusion the defendant was bound over to the district court and his bond was fixed at $5,000, the same amount as originally fixed by the court. The hearing this morning was only upon one of the cases against him charging him with forgery and uttering a forged instrument. At the conclusion of the hearing Asst. County Atty. Hanson stated that there was a slight clerical error in the other complaint against Brown and he asked that it be dismissed. The order of dismissal was made and immediately a new complaint was filed correcting the error. The preliminary hearing in the second case will be held this afternoon.

QUESTIONED JURISDICTION.
When the case was called this morning Atty. C. Kinney entered a plea to the jurisdiction of the court in behalf of his client. The plea set out that the court had no jurisdiction over the person of the defendant because the complaint was not issued according to law. The court overruled the plea, whereupon Atty. Kinney objected to any further proceedings in the case for the reason that the court had no jurisdiction and because the warrant issued was illegal. This objection was overruled. The attorney then objected to the defendant being compelled to plead to the charges but this objection was overruled. Both of the complaints were then read to the defendant and he entered a plea of not guilty in each case.

OREM'S TESTIMONY.
The first witness called was W. C. Orem, the manager of the Utah-Apex Mining company, whose name was forged to a check for $4,125. He testified that Brown was employed by the company as bookkeeper and purchase agent. He identified the handwriting in the body of the check and the endorsement as that of Brown. The check was dated on May 21, and was payable to Brown, but Orem's name was forged.

R. R. Sharkey, receiving teller at the Commercial National bank, was then called to the stand and identified the writing on the check as Brown's. He said that the check was presented to him on May 21, and was deposited to cover an overdraft against Brown's account.

The next witness was G. W. Heywood, a handwriting expert. He stated that the handwriting on the body and endorsement of the forged check was identical to that of Brown's on legitimate checks, which were introduced in evidence by the state.

CAPTAIN BURBIDGE.
Capt. J. B. Burbidge of the police department, was the last witness. He told of the arrest of Brown at the Short line depot on May 22 and stated that when arrested the defendant had something over $500 in money on his person. When the state rested its case Atty. Kinney moved that the defendant be discharged on the ground that the state had failed to make a case against him on either count in the complaint Judge Whitaker at once denied the motion and ordered the defendant bound over to the district court.

The second complaint against Brown was then dismissed by Attorney Hanson, and a new complaint filed, and the court will proceed with the preliminary hearing on the new complaint this afternoon.

AMUSEMENTS.

Orpheum.—The biggest business to date during the present Orpheum stock season is the story so far this week at the Orpheum, where that good old southern play "Alabama" is being produced. Meantime the company is working hard on "Old Heidelberg." Meyer Foster's masterpiece which was written for and produced by Richard Mansfield. Mr. Mayall is cast for Prince Heinrich, eight more actors have been added to the company and a male chorus engaged so that the production undoubtedly, will be a red-letter one.

Grand.—The old time familiar play of "East Lynne" will be ordered by the Ethel Tucker Stock company commencing tonight.

Casino Park.—The elements are evidently in conspiracy against the Zinn Travesty company, but it is to be hoped that the weather man will allow a performance of "The Mascot" tonight. Whenever the weather permits a good crowd is in attendance.

Lyric.—The "American Girl" at the Lyric is in its last performance and commencing Saturday afternoon the company will present the melodrama entitled "For Her Children's Sake." The advance sale of seats is already going on.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Yesterday Miss Mary Sharp and Mr. George T. Badger were married in the Temple and in the evening a delightful reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Sophia Sharp. The rooms were beautifully decorated, the hall in pink, the parlor in white and green with bright wreaths, bride's roses and green-shaded lights, the library in red with a profusion of red roses and peonies banking the mantel and arranged in vases about the room, while the dining room was in yellow and pale green, the centerpiece for the table being of orange blossoms, while sprays of dainty flowers tied with bows of pale green ribbon were at the corners, and streamers of white tulle extended the length of the board strewn with fern leaves, and above the table green shaded lights added to the pretty effect. The sideboard was smothered in syringas blossoms and buttercups, the dainty flowers being bedded in white tulle.

In the parlor the bride's party stood in the bay window, which was festooned in white and green, white roses and syringas mingling with smilax and ferns. The bride wore a handsome gown of white crepe de chine over silk with bertha of red lace, while a long veil of tulle, fastened with orange blossoms and shower bouquet of the same flowers completed the costume.

Receiving with the bride couple were Miss Mattie Whitney, Miss Abbie Wells, Mrs. R. R. Romney, Mrs. Frank Moyle, and assisting Mrs. Frank Moyle, the mother, and Mr. R. C. Badger, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Jones, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jennings.

the diningroom Mrs. John N. Sharp and Mrs. Julia Taylor presided, and assisting were Miss Letta Pyper, Miss Daisy Raybould, Miss Ella Manton, Miss Marguerite Ellerbeck, Miss Alma Crismon, Miss Evelyn Thomas, Miss Anna Adams, Miss Geneva Clark, Mrs. Al Cowan, Mrs. Elliott Kimball, Mrs. John T. Rich and Mrs. B. M. White. Punch was served in the library by Mrs. William Ray and Mrs. Charles Cain Crismon. An orchestra rendered delightful music during the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Badger left afterward for a trip to Portland, the bride's gown being an Alice blue silk with hat to match. They will make their home at 439 South Temple.

An elaborate church wedding of yesterday was that of Miss Helen Ransberger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Ransberger, and Arthur Beal of New York, the ceremony being performed at 8 o'clock at the temple B'nai Israel with Rabbi Freund officiating, and a wedding supper being served afterward at the Alta club for the bride party and relatives. The decorations were perhaps the most beautiful and elaborate of any church wedding that has taken place here. The altar was a veritable bower of ferns, roses and carnations, while about the organ were palms and ferns with bunches of white marguerites tied with white satin ribbon while the windows were banked with marguerites and carnations and the pews also decorated with sprays of marguerites tied with white ribbon. The party entered to the strains of the Lohengrin march played by Mrs. Pearl Rothchild, the sisters coming first, then the two bridesmaids, Miss Eloise Sadler and Miss Susan Sawyer, who were followed by the maid of honor, Miss Mamie Sappington, while the matron walked with the bride, the two little flower girls, Dorothy and Elsie Bamberg, and then the bride on the arm of her father. The bride's gown was a beautiful creation of white Duchesse satin, elaborately trimmed with Duchesse, her long veil being of tulle. She wore a long necklace, the gift of the groom, and carried an exquisitely bound bible in her hand. The maid of honor and the bridesmaids wore gowns of white lace over pink tulle, and the matron white net over tulle of the same color. The two little flower girls being also in pink and white. Mr. Lewis Beal of Philadelphia was best man, and the ushers were Benjamin Siegel, Julian and Sidney Ransberger, J. A. Greenwald and Dan Johnson. At the Alta club the decorations were also in pink and white, the centerpiece being a long bed of pink roses and the lights shaded in pink, while the place cards were wedding bells. Mr. and Mrs. Beal left after for Europe, and upon their return will make their home in New York.

Another charming wedding was that of Miss Irma Wagner and Mr. John B. Millan, Jr., the ceremony being performed in the evening at St. Mark's church with Dean Brewster officiating, and a large reception following at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Henry Wagner. The church was handsomely decorated in white and green, and at the home the decorations were carried out in the same colors in the parlor while the library was in red and the dining room in yellow, the latter being a picture with its prettily decorated table. At the church James Hogle and George Walker acted as ushers, and while Miss Wagner as maid of honor, while little Margaret Brown was ring bearer, and Bernice Brown and Adelaide Lipman were flower girls. Mr. Will Seely acted as best man. The bride was gown in a charming costume of white satin with trimmings of real lace and a veil finished with long veil of tulle. The bridesmaid wore a gown of pale blue crepe over silk and carried American Beauty roses. The little girls were in blue and white.

At the reception Mrs. Wagner was assisted by Mrs. J. D. Millan, mother of the groom, the Misses Martha and Margaret Wagner and Mrs. C. O. King. Miss Elma Young, Miss Emma Carrington, Miss Gertrude Riley and Miss Berrie Light. Punch was served during the night by Mrs. Arthur B. Wither and Miss Elma Wagner. Mr. and Mrs. Millan left last night for Los Angeles and will return later to their home at 75 G street.

Today in the temple Miss Emily Whitney and Mr. Winslow Smith were united in marriage, and later a luncheon was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Whitney, followed by an informal reception to the family and friends from 2 till 5 o'clock. The rooms were bright with spring flowers, and a number of the intimate friends assisted in receiving and entertaining. The parlor and library were in red roses and peonies, the bride couple standing under a pretty floral bower, and all were in pink, roses and syringas and the dining room entirely in yellow roses, while yellow shaded candles lighted the table. Assisting here were the Misses Margaret Whitney, Blanche Squires, Rehan Spenn, and Luby Munford. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Whitney and the groom a son of George A. Smith, and both have hosts of friends who will wish them happiness. Mr. and Mrs. Smith will make their home here.

Tonight the wedding of Miss Ardella Bitner and Benjamin Tibbey takes place, the ceremony to be performed at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. George Derr and a large reception to follow.

Mrs. Adelbert Roudy and Miss Dorothy Roudy leave next week for Australia.

Mrs. John McVicker entertained at an informal tea this afternoon.

The wedding of Miss Pearl Kimball and Alfred Davis took place today in the temple and tonight a reception will be held at the bride's home.

EXCURSION POSTPONED.
Big Six States Event Comes With Good Summer Weather.

Owing to the fact that there is such a backward spring in Salt Lake, with every prospect that it won't really arrive till next summer, the Manufacturers and Merchants' association have postponed the annual excursion into Salt Lake until later in the summer. It was proposed to make it an August affair, or a late July event, June seems to promise much rain and a long, hot, dry summer with little time to consider that report.

Mr. Burrows—Mr. President, I am directed by the committee on privileges and elections to report the action of the committee upon the resolution referred to that committee to inquire into the right and title of Reed Smoot to a seat in the senate of the United States as a senator from the State of Utah, and to say that the committee reached a conclusion at its last meeting and authorized the chairman to report to the senate that the senior senator from Utah is not entitled to a seat in the senate of the United States. The committee directed the chairman to make a formal report, which will be done some time during the coming week.

An expression of opinion was had by the committee upon what steps would be necessary to take if the report of the committee was adopted by the senate, and the committee decided that the committee would be followed by a resolution to expel the senator from Utah or whether a declaration that he is not entitled to a seat would be sufficient. That will be a matter, however, for the senate to determine.

I was also directed by the committee to say to the senate that it is the desire of the committee to take up this matter at the earliest possible day and that if it would be agreeable to the senate, to fix a day now when the matter could be taken up. Of course it is a privileged question, but it is not the desire of the committee to interfere with the necessary business of the senate and it was thought that perhaps the senate might now consent to a day when it would be taken up. I would suggest a week from next Monday, if that would be agreeable to the senate, and I am sure that the committee has no objection to that. The case is set down for a hearing a week from next Monday.

Mr. Bacon—Mr. President, it was impossible to hear anything the senator had to say.

Mr. Burrows—I ask unanimous consent that this question may be taken up in the senate a week from next Monday and disposed of.

REPORTS ALMOST READY FOR SENATE

Those on Case of Senator Smoot Expected Tomorrow or Monday.

LAST WEEK'S DISCUSSION.

What Members Said in Deferring Action on the Matter for One Week More.

Unless there is some unexpected turn in the case of Senator Smoot reports will be forthcoming tomorrow or Monday at latest. Burrows will submit a majority report, and Foraker a minority finding.

Airports of the case the discussion which took place on Saturday last is chronicled in the Congressional Record is of interest. It is as follows:

Mr. Burrows—Mr. President, I am directed by the committee on privileges and elections to report the action of the committee upon the resolution referred to that committee to inquire into the right and title of Reed Smoot to a seat in the senate of the United States as a senator from the State of Utah, and to say that the committee reached a conclusion at its last meeting and authorized the chairman to report to the senate that the senior senator from Utah is not entitled to a seat in the senate of the United States. The committee directed the chairman to make a formal report, which will be done some time during the coming week.

An expression of opinion was had by the committee upon what steps would be necessary to take if the report of the committee was adopted by the senate, and the committee decided that the committee would be followed by a resolution to expel the senator from Utah or whether a declaration that he is not entitled to a seat would be sufficient. That will be a matter, however, for the senate to determine.

I was also directed by the committee to say to the senate that it is the desire of the committee to take up this matter at the earliest possible day and that if it would be agreeable to the senate, to fix a day now when the matter could be taken up. Of course it is a privileged question, but it is not the desire of the committee to interfere with the necessary business of the senate and it was thought that perhaps the senate might now consent to a day when it would be taken up. I would suggest a week from next Monday, if that would be agreeable to the senate, and I am sure that the committee has no objection to that. The case is set down for a hearing a week from next Monday.

Mr. Bacon—Mr. President, it was impossible to hear anything the senator had to say.

Mr. Burrows—I ask unanimous consent that this question may be taken up in the senate a week from next Monday and disposed of.

Mr. Bacon—I will have to say to the senator again that we have never heard what preceded that. So I ask to what matter he refers.

Mr. Burrows—I was reporting from the committee on privileges and elections, by direction of the committee, in response to the resolution that the committee to inquire into the right and title of Reed Smoot to a seat in the senate of the United States as a senator from the State of Utah, I stated that it had been passed upon by the committee, and the committee has determined that he has no right to a seat in the senate; and the chairman of the committee was directed to make a written report to that effect to the senate, which will be done some time next week.

It was also requested by the committee that I should ask the senate to fix a date for the consideration of the matter, and I suggest, as the report may not be brought in until the middle of the week, that the matter be set down for the consideration of the senate a week from next Monday.

Mr. Beveridge—Will the senator add to his request for consent a disposition of the matter? I think it is not proper directing the chairman to make the statement there was included a request that it should be disposed of, so that a vote on the substantial questions may be had in the senate.

Mr. Burrows—Let me suggest to my friend that it could be disposed of in many ways; so that would not be very effective. I think the main point is to have a time fixed for its consideration in the senate.

Mr. Hale—If the senator gets his measure up, he will then, like every senator who has charge of any matter, be at the disposition of the senate as to what it will do afterwards.

Mr. Burrows—Absolutely.

Mr. Bacon—We can not hear the senator from Maine on this side.

Mr. Hale—I was suggesting that if the senator gets his measure up on Monday week he will then be under the control of the senate as to what he shall do and I do not think it would be advisable to do any more than let it that it shall be taken up. Of course that, as we understand, does not interfere with appropriation bills and conference reports, which would naturally come in, or with the undisturbed business. I do not see the senator from South Dakota here looking out for his rights.

Mr. Gallinger—He is here.

Mr. Hale—Of course it ought not to interfere with that.

Mr. Burrows—Of course I agree with the senator as to the suggestion of my friend from Indiana that the matter shall then be disposed of. There are many ways in which it can be disposed of. It is quite unnecessary to make that request. I simply want to let the senate know the desire of the committee that it shall be taken up for consideration a week from next Monday.

Mr. Teller—Mr. President—Does the senator from Michigan yield to the senator from Colorado?

Mr. Burrows—Certainly.

Mr. Teller—We did not hear very well here. I should like to ask the chairman whether he has made a report in this case?

Mr. Burrows—I stated that by direction of the committee I was authorized and directed to make this announcement, and I was also directed by the committee to report formally to the senate. The report is being prepared, and will be presented to the senate next week, probably about the middle of the week.

report comes in, but in my experience in the senate I have never known a case set before the report was before the senate, so that senators might examine it. I shall object now to fixing a time. If the senator will put in his report this morning so that I can get the benefit of it I shall not object.

Mr. Burrows—I will say to the senator I have never known of such a case either, but I am carrying out the direction of my committee.

Mr. Dick—Before the chairman is through I have a question. Can he inform the senate as to the probable length of the report? Will it be a very lengthy report?

Mr. Burrows—I cannot yet say.

Mr. Dick—That might perhaps help us in fixing a time.

Mr. Beveridge—Mr. President, while it is clear there will be no consent to the request of the chairman, which he makes on behalf of the committee, upon motion unanimously adopted by the committee, for fixing a day to dispose of the matter at this session, the discussion has served a useful purpose, because I think it has indicated that all wish that the substantial subject itself shall be voted upon and concluded at this session.

I will state, in the absence of the senior senator from Ohio (Mr. Foraker) who is my senior upon the committee, and who entertains the views of everybody who voted against the resolution of the committee, that it is earnestly desired that the matter should be submitted to the senate and determined at this session, and that based upon motion was concurred in by the entire committee.

So I think, Mr. President, that the request of the chairman of the committee has served the admirable purpose of revealing the sentiment of the senate that the question itself shall be disposed of, voted upon and concluded at this session.

Mr. Spooner—Mr. President, I am utterly unable to discover any evidence, in this discussion of a few moments, of the desire or purpose of the senate to dispose of the matter at this session. That may happen, but I rather inferred from the observations of the senator from Colorado that he is possessed of the old-fashioned notion that he wants to know something about the matter and that he wants the committee to explore a couple of years has had it under consideration before he agrees to a time for taking it up. I have not heard any request as to the time for disposing of it or any expression from any senator here as to the time of disposition of it. I shall not make it a matter of privilege, more or less.

Mr. Beveridge—Would not the senator be willing that it shall be voted upon at this session?

Mr. Hale—Mr. President, I must call for the regular order. I do not think we ought to anticipate the discussion on this matter.

Mr. Teller—Mr. President, I claim the privilege of saying just a word.

I have no objection to taking up this case at a regular time, but I am under the impression that this is one of the kind of cases that the senate is not in the habit of rushing through without a proper examination. For myself, I am not willing to take a time now with the senator from Colorado. I may know, in a general way, the report is, but I want to know the ground upon which the report is based.

I should feel that I am derelict in my duty if I did not give this case some attention. As far as I am concerned, I expect to consider it here, not upon the public clamor, but upon questions of right—constitutional right. I expect to act upon my oath. As I said on another occasion, a question of this kind is a question of conscience as well as of law, and we can not take up this case and dispose of it in 15 or 20 minutes or in a day. The committee has taken testimony on it for two years. I understand.

Mr. Burrows—Mr. President—The Vice President—Does the senator from Colorado yield to the senator from Michigan?

Mr. Teller—I propose, as far as I am concerned, if I am going to have a vote on it, I expect to have it. I will give some attention to it, and consider it, and I hope every other senator will.

Mr. Burrows—Will the senator yield to me for just a moment?

Mr. Hale—Mr. President, I must call for the regular order.

The Vice President—The regular order is demanded.

Mr. Burrows—Just one word.

Mr. Hale—Then somebody else will want a word.

Mr. Burrows—I think not.

The Vice President—Is there objection?

Mr. Hale—I ask for the regular order. The Vice President—Reports of standing and select committees are in order.

SCREAMED AS SHE RAN.
Insane Woman Breaks From Home Where She Was Under Treatment.

A woman's screams in the neighborhood of 463 west Seventh street, attracted to the scene a large number of people at an early hour this morning. It was thought that violence was being done to the woman, but it was soon found that she was insane. Her name was Nellie Himes, and for some time her mind has been unbalanced and she has been under the treatment of Dr. Whitney. For the past few days Mrs. Himes has been more violent than usual, and she has been locked in her house. This morning, however, she managed to stealthily leave the house, while her husband was busy about the premises, and she fairly flew along the street screaming terrifically as she ran. The unfortunate woman was not overtaken until Third East and Eighth South streets had been reached. There she was detained until the arrival of the patrol wagon from police headquarters, in which she was conveyed to the county jail, there to await an examination as to her mental condition. It is most probable that Mrs. Himes will be sent to the Mental hospital at Provo.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE.
Party in a Wagon Crashed Into by R. G. W. Freight Train.

A report gained currency on the streets this morning that a man and woman had been killed by a Rio Grande train, which crashed into the wagon in which they were riding. After considerable difficulty in running the story down, it was learned that an accident had occurred, but there were no fatalities.

James Martello was driving a wagon across the railroad tracks near Sixth West street. With him was his wife and several other women. A Rio Grande freight train, which was moving very rapidly, crashed into the wagon. The occupants were thrown in every direction, but all were instantly upon their feet and it was found that none had been injured, except the driver and his wife. The unfortunate couple were taken to St. Mark's hospital.

Mr. Burrows—I stated that by direction of the committee I was authorized and directed to make this announcement, and I was also directed by the committee to report formally to the senate. The report is being prepared, and will be presented to the senate next week, probably about the middle of the week.

BIG "U" NIGHT AT BANQUET BOARD

Twentieth Annual Gathering of Kind and One of the Best Yet Given.

DR. PARK'S NAME CHEERED.

"Our Boys," "Our Girls," "The Faculty," "The Regents" and Other Sentiments Indulged In.

Last night the twentieth annual reunion of the alumni association of the University of Utah was held. It was the largest number that has yet assembled to do honor to the occasion. The reception was in the main hall of the gymnasium, and the banquet was in the lower hall, both rooms being handsomely decorated in the white and red of the University. In the banquet hall streamers of red and white bunting were festooned about the ceilings, and the long table set in the form of a mammoth U, which filled the entire hall, was also bright with the same colors, the long boards having candles with red and white shades alternating, while all other decorations and details of the menu were carried out in the college colors, the menu cards being in red, with a huge U for their adornment.

PICTURE OF DR. PARK.
The central object in the room, however, was the large portrait of the late John R. Park, painted by Lee Green Richards, which hung at the head of the hall, and to which loving reference was made by nearly all the speakers, the name of the revered president being each time greeted with cheers. After the banquet Mr. Theodore Nyström, president of the occasion, made an address, giving a brief sketch of its present condition and the things necessary to insure its future welfare. Then he introduced

TOASTS AND SPEECHES.
The toastmaster, Mrs. Alice M. Horne, in a happy speech referring to her many accomplishments, and achievements, and the lady responded with an appropriate reply and introduced as the first on the program Miss Valentine Murphy, with the toast of "The Little Father." Miss Valentine responded in a witty speech interlarded with verse in imitation of Longfellow, which paid ample tribute to her subject, the all potent janitor of the University, August Nordvall.

"THE BOYS."
Mrs. Elizabeth Wilcox responded to the toast "The Boys" in one of the happiest efforts of the evening, paying tribute to the older graduates of the U. of U. who have brought honor to its name through their careers.

"THE GIRLS."
To Mr. John M. Young was given the difficult toast "The Girls," that is, the "old girls" of the alma mater, and most delicately and sympathetically was the theme handled. He referred to the difference of their day and the present in the way of opportunity, and advantages, and pointed out the notable record they have made under their comparatively adverse circumstances. Their effort has helped to bring about the present happy condition, and too much honor can not be paid them. Elizabeth Thomas responded effectively to the "The Engineers," ending his peroration with a gem of original verse which "brought down the house."

FACULTY AND REGENTS.
Regent Waldemar Van Cott paid a tribute of most sincere praise to "The Faculty," stating some of the problems with which they have to grapple and the efficient way in which it is done.

Mr. N. T. Porter responded to "The Regents" with a brief review of what their position implies and some of the results of their careful interest in the institution.

During the feast of vials and toasts, the college songs and toasts resounded throughout the hall from the many students, and some choice bits in their improvised verses on all the notables of the University and in the interim an orchestra rendered choice musical selections. Afterwards the assemblage repaired to the dancing hall, where the festivities were continued to a late hour. Following is the program of toasts and sentiments:

Address and Introduction of Toastmaster ... Prest. Theodore Nyström
Response of Toastmaster ...
The Boys ... Mrs. Alice Merrill Horne
The Little Father ... Miss Valentine Murphy
"Thinkst thou there is no tyranny but that of blood and chains"—Byron

SALOONKEEPER ARRESTED.

Will Have to Face Uncle Sam's Representative This Time.

M. A. Brandt, a saloonkeeper doing business at the corner of West Temple and Third South streets, was arrested shortly before noon today by Deputy United States Marshal L. H. Smyth, on a warrant charging the former with the commission of a felony.

Brandt is April, 1906, violated the provisions of sections 3344 of the federal statutes, by withdrawing and adding in the withdrawal of certain liquor, to wit beer, from a barrel, without having first defaced or destroyed the revenue stamp thereon. The complaint is sworn to by Archibald Stuart, deputy revenue collector for this district.

Mr. Brandt was taken before United States Commissioner Charles Baldwin this afternoon for arraignment.

The penalty for violation of the section under which the indictment was returned is that the offender shall be fined $100, and may be imprisoned not to exceed one year. From a reading of the law covering the case, it would seem that there is no discretion allowed the court so far as the fine is concerned—big fine "shall be" imposed, but the term of imprisonment may be for any period not to exceed one year.

Articles Filed.—The Upper Brush Creek Irrigation company of Vernal, Utah county, filed a copy of its articles of incorporation in the secretary of state's office today. Its capital stock is $2,475, divided into shares of the par value of $10 each. J. O. Evans is president; William Boon, vice president; Ira Bryant, secretary and treasurer.
