SOCIAL CHAT

Two notable events of the week were the receptions given respectively at the homes of Judge and Mrs. Powers, and Mrs. A. W. McCune. Both marked the opening of two beautiful new homes, and the events were tinged with the double interest of the delightful social entertainment, and of viewing the beautiful finishing and appointments of the new homes. Another elaborate event was the entertainment given on Washington's birthday by the Liberty Chapter, D. A. R., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Parker, the program, and social details making the affair a delightful one.

The reception given on Monday night by Judge and Mrs. Powers was the largest affair of the week. The new home, "Langerhans," was thrown open to about 500 guests, and was beautifully decorated with palms, vines and cut flowers, the latter being in red and white, while flags and bunting in the national colors, combined to carry out the patriotic scheme with striking and artistic effect. Red, white and blue shaded lights illuminated the porch and a great flag draped the archway in the hall. In the rooms were vases of American Beauty roses and white carnations, the billiard room, in which refreshments were served, having streamers radiating from the center of the ceiling in all directions, while the table in the three colors underneath had broad bands and bows of ribbon in red and blue while the centerpiece was a crystal candelabra with red shades and a single candle standing at each corner, shaded in the same tint. Punch was served in the dining-room from a table prettily wreathed in smilax and the pillars on the main floor were twined with vines. The effective decorations with the beautiful costumes of the many guests made a brilliant scene, and the opening of the new home a memorable one. A delightful program was given, assisted by Mrs. John Marshall, Mrs. Ellsworth Daggett, Mrs. C. C. Goodwin, Mrs. Mont Perry, Mrs. E. O. Howard, Miss Kimball, Miss Woodward and Miss Anderson.

Another large event of Monday night was the entertainment given by the Liberty Chapter, D. A. R., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Parker. The rooms were artistically done in the national colors, silk flags being used in the hall and vases of red and white carnations in the parlor, while the staircase was entwined with streamers of bunting. The dining room was decorated with having lines of tiny flags radiating from the center of the ceiling to the corners, while the table had for a centerpiece a branch of cherry tree, with small flags and hatchets scattered over the cloth. A delightful program was given, consisting of the following numbers: Piano solo by Prof. Thomas Radcliffe; a soprano solo, "The Flag Without a Stain," by Mrs. A. D. Melvin; a patriotic address, "George Washington," by Rev. Elmer I. Goshorn; a violin solo, Miss Esther Allen, accompanied by Miss Mary Olive Gray, and a soprano solo, by Miss Zora Shaw. Assisting Mr. and Mrs. Parker were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Dunston, Miss Radcliffe, Miss Wells, Miss Sears and Miss Zora Shaw.

Another notable event of the week was the reception given by Mrs. A. W. McCune on Tuesday afternoon, a large number of her friends enjoying the delightful affair. The guests found a memorable entertainment in going through the beautiful rooms, each having its distinctive treasures of art, in the choice woods, with their exquisite polish and carving, and the artistic appointments, to make a notably interesting occasion. Delicious refreshments were served in the dining room from a table prettily done in pink and two shades of green, and an orchestra stationed on the stair above furnished delightful music during the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Smith entertained at a delightful dinner on Washington's birthday in honor of Mrs. Jack Jevne. The event took place at the Commercial club, and 12 guests enjoyed the affair. The color scheme was patriotic, and was carried out in a centerpiece of red, white and blue flowers, with a silk flag in the middle. Tiny red, white and blue hats with a candle and small flag were the place cards, while each lady had as a favor a bunch of violets.

Miss Edith Stanton celebrated Washington's birthday in a pleasant evening party at her home, the rooms being prettily decorated with patriotic emblems. Present were the Misses Edna Petty, Mabel Wells, Eva Pitcher, Louise Jensen, Hattie Tremayne, Helen Knox, Carrie Simon, Jennie Burwell, Anna Riley, Edna Davis and Edith Stanton. Messrs. Lawrence Cantlon, Ellis Bentley, Sidney Thomson, Harry Davis, George Walker, Harry Robison, Edward Spears, Richard Grey, Frank Wood, Will Gilbert, Irvin Gibson and Clarence King.

Mrs. Emma Ellerbeck and Mrs. T. D. Lewis entertained at a delightful euchre

Relief society officers, the guests numbering among them the First Presidency of the L. D. S. Church, and others. The rooms were beautifully decorated, the diningroom being in calla-lilies and American Beauty roses, and delicious refreshments were served. Addresses were made by President Joseph F. Smith, Bishop Whitney, Prof. Talmage, and Mr. R. S. Young, and a delightful time was spent.

The dancing party given by the A. F. Fraternity last night at the U. of U. building was one of the most delightful events held there. A large number were present, the hall was tastefully decorated with the university and class colors, and an enjoyable time spent. The chaperons were Mrs. Heber M. Wells, Mrs. R. K. Thomas, Mrs. George M. Marshall, Mrs. R. Little, Mrs. J. T. Kingsbury and Mrs. Byron Cummings.

Miss Elizabeth Wells was one of Monday's hostesses, the entertainment of the afternoon being "62." The rooms were effectively decorated in the day's prevailing colors, and the scores and failures were carried out in the distinctive emblems. About 40 guests enjoyed the event.

A pretty luncheon was given on Washington's birthday by Miss Beeman, covers being laid for 14. The table was decorated in red carnations and from Japan, China, Sweden, Denmark, Manila and Ireland.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Ellerbeck and Mrs. Lewis were hostesses at a Kensington, about the same number of guests being entertained. The decorations were the same, and a delightful afternoon was spent by all present.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

It will enrich the mother's milk and make the baby thrive. If it is a bottle baby, put a part of a teaspoonful in the bottle when it is fed. For poorly nourished babies and children we believe it has no equal in the world.

Creamy muslin, in which the pattern is raised in fine looped effect upon a pale background, has pale blue velvet ribbon in a narrow width for trimming, and a lace beading, through which a black panne ribbon is run with very pliant effect. The simple corsage secures the necessary long shoulder by means of a little cape which passes from the back over the sleeve and is fastened at the side of the vestfront. The sleeve has a double puff of white chiffon caught to the cuff of muslin. This is banded with the lace and ribbon. The bodice blouses softly into the fitted belt, and the skirt is shirred over cords around the hips. A shirred flounce is inserted beneath oblong tabs, these edge with the pale blue velvet baby ribbon, and the hem is finished with the ribbon-run lace, which affords the necessary touch of black to the costume.

mittee, President Paul and Miss Heath of the faculty, Messrs. Gardner, Wilkinson, Grow, Hanks, Bloom, West, Corbett, Horsfall, Robins, Midlin, Bock, er, Lundstrom, Malin, Patterson and Andrews, and Misses Jennie Knight, Ella Bowers, Clara Kinsell, Louella Brown, Bella Gibson and Enid Edmunds of the class. The party was a very successful and enjoyable one, the evening being spent in unique games and other choice diversions, including a dainty luncheon.

The Washington's Birthday party given by the ladies of the Methodist church at the home of Mrs. W. A. Price was a most enjoyable affair. The national colors and usual emblems of the occasion were seen in hatchets, cherries, etc., and an amusing game of "Telegrams" was enjoyed, while a delightful musical program made one of the features.

The party given by the senior girls of the West Side High school at the home of Miss Maud Wheeler on Monday night was one of the pleasant events marking the national holiday. The decorations included besides American flags, the red and black of the high school. The time was spent with music, games, etc.

Mrs. W. W. Riles entertained the Authors' club at her home on Wednesday, a delightful evening being spent with music, the participants being Miss Celia Sharp, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Stanley Price, and Miss Sharp, and with recitals by Bishop O. F. Whitney and Mr. B. S. Young. The rooms were artistically decorated in red and green, and delicious refreshments were served. A number of outside guests enjoyed the evening.

Miss Leda Rawlins entertained the members of her card club on Monday night, the amusement being "63." The rooms were prettily decorated in the colors and emblems of the day, and tiny hatchets and flags were the scores and tallies. Prizes were won by Miss Evelyn Thomas and Mr. Fred Smith.
