FORTY-SIXTH CONGRESS

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, 24.—The Senate received in mournful silence the announcement by Cameron of his colleague's death. Cameron made a few appropriate remarks, and offered a resolution expressive of the profound sorrow of the Senate and providing that the Senate take charge of the remains, and remove them to Milwaukee in charge of the sergeant-at-arms, and that the Senate, as an additional mark of respect, adjourn.

Pendleton seconded the resolution in heartfelt sorrow, and the Senate adjourned.

Senator Carpenter's chair was draped in mourning.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, 24.—Bowman reported back the fortification bill, recommending concurrence in some Senate amendments and non-concurrence in others. The report was agreed to. At first the republicans filibustered against the apportionment bill, but at Conger's suggestion voted generally against considering it, and the vote standing 144 to 68 in favor, it was taken up.

Republicans refusing to accede to the previous question for limited debate, after some dispute Ryan was allowed to offer an amendment making it unlawful to divide any county or parish when a district shall consist of more than one county or parish. A vote was then taken on ordering the main question, resulting 136 to 10. The Speaker voted aye, thus making a quorum. Dick, Robinson, Killinger, Washburn and Taylor, of Ohio, were the republicans who voted. Dick voted aye.

Page moved a recess, pending which the Senate amendments to the legislative bill were non-concurred in. Fillibustering movements then began.

After much consideration. Conger's motion to dispense with the further call of the roll was defeated.

Williams was excused, after reproaching the House for refusing to pay proper respect to the memory of Senator Carpenter.

An attempt was made and various propositions submitted, the object of the republicans being to discover what number of voices could be held for a larger apportionment number, and the democrats wishing to make any such test, wished to make the vote binding on the House. All finally agreed to a roll call to establish the sentiment of the House, but Conger demanded that Cox first withdraw the demand for a previous question. The chair ruled that it was beyond Cox' power.

Page appealed to Conger to allow an informal ballot, but the latter was obdurate.

AMERICAN.

SENATOR CARPENTER'S DEATH.

Who will be His Successor.

WASHINGTON, 24.—Senator Carpenter passed away quietly. His wife, son and daughter, Dr. Fox, of Milwaukee, and E. G. Williams, of Washington, were present. He sank quietly away, without a struggle, simply dying from exhaustion, incident to the disease that had spent itself upon his system. Three days ago vapor baths were tried upon him with apparent success, and elusive hopes were held out that he would recover.

Senator Carpenter's funeral takes place at 3 p. m., on Sunday, and after the inauguration will be taken by the congressional committee to Wisconsin.

Milwaukee, 24.—There is profund regret and sensation over Senator Carpenter's death.

Chicago, 24.—A private dispatch from a well-informed gentleman of Wisconsin, says: Our legislature will be notified of the death of Senator Carpenter this afternoon. Under the law of Congress, his successor cannot regularly be elected until March 9th, the vacancy not having occurred during a recess of the legislature. A suggestion has been made that the legislature adjourn, after indicating the preference for senator, and permit the governor to appoint a successor. The question might arise, however, as to the legality of such appointment and action by the legislature.

Senator Carpenter's health had been failing for about two years past. Several times he had been down, but his naturally strong constitution enabled him to rally from these several attacks. He has, however, been almost a wreck for the past six months. Though his death was caused directly by Bright's disease of the kidneys, there was a general dissolution of the vital energies. Yesterday afternoon he had improved considerably, and it was expected he might again be able to get about. During the night, however, he grew worse, and it was known he could not live. Last Friday he was out in his carriage, and called upon the President and at the several departments. He went to bed the next day and never rose again.

Arrangements for the usual congressional honors in connection with the funeral are not yet decided upon. The funeral services take place at the Senator's late residence, at 2.30 on Sunday next. The remains will then be deposited temporarily in the vault in the congressional cemetery, and be conveyed to Wisconsin, accompanied by a committee of five senators and the sergeant-at-arms soon after the close of the present session of Congress. The committee to escort the remains to Wisconsin will be named by the Vice-President to-morrow.

Ex-Gov. Dillingham and wife, of Vermont, are on the way to attend the funeral.

Milwaukee, 24.—Preparations are being made for a great memorial display in respect to the memory of the deceased Wisconsin Senator. His last wish was to have his remains cremated, and arrangements are making to carry out that wish. His law partner pays a warm tribute to his qualities of head and heart, in an interview with a reporter. The insurance on his life amounts to $50,000. The question of his successor is already agitating prominent politicians who have gone to Madison. The general belief here is that Angus Cameron or Horace Ruble will be chosen. Judge Chas. E. Dyer is not a candidate, but is decidedly mentioned. The German press of Milwaukee heralds the design of the election of Horace Ruble. Every effort will be made to secure a successor before March 9th. The opinion of lawyers is that the legislature can act immediately upon the official notification of the vacancy at Madison. Both houses [illegible] ed out of respect to the memory of Mr. Carpenter.

News from Madison of a reliable character states the combination of forces against E. W. Keys, narrows the contest between Keys and Senator Cameron for successor to Carpenter. It is believed that Cameron will succeed.

The death of Senator Carpenter will make it impossible for the republicans to control the organization of the next Senate immediately upon its assembling, even if Mahone or David Davis vote with them, for the Wisconsin legislature cannot constitutionally fill the vacancy prior to the second Tuesday after receiving the notice from the Governor of its existence. Hence no election can take place before March 8th, and it will probably be delayed beyond that date, as a number of powerful competitors for the succession are already in the field. Philetus Sawyer, who has been elected to succeed Senator Angus Cameron, comes from Eastern Wisconsin, and the western portion of the State will now claim the right to furnish a successor to Carpenter. Among the most prominent candidates are ex-Senator Howe, "Boss" Keys, Governor Pound, and possibly Senator Cameron, whose present term expires on the 4th proximo.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Secretary Sherman states, relative to the present movement of national banks to retire their circulation, that this movement of the banks to avoid the operation of the fifth section of the funding bill, which provides that from and after a certain date 3 per cent. bonds shall be the only bonds receivable as security for national bank circulation, has necessarily brought into the treasury large sums of money; that it only affects the money market in the city of New York where deposits must be made, and draws directly from the bank or street, currency needed there for business operations. Secretary Sherman says the Treasury can and will pay out this money, and also the surplus revenue, in payment for bonds for the sinking fund, if offered at par and accruing interest, but that the Treasury cannot interpose further than to apply its surplus currency in excess of the redemption fund to the reduction of the public debt. Called bonds are preferred, but if these are not offered, maturing fives and sixes will probably be taken on the same terms—namely at par and accruing interest. The bonds must be sent to Washington to be verified, but will be promptly paid.

It is said now that the Chinese treaties will yet be brought up in the Senate before the 4th of March, for action in executive session. It is asserted to the contrary, that no such understanding was reached or even mentioned in the committees.

Until further notice, the treasury department will redeem the bonds embraced within the 100 mks. call upon presentation at the department, with interest to the day of presentation.

It is learned, upon good authority, though not yet officially, that Secretary Sherman intends to pay out the five millions already received from banks.

The House will probably pass the Senate bill removing the tax on bank deposits. Influential members of both houses say this is in fact compensation for the 3 per cent. bill.

The ways and means committee, this morning, considered the Senate amendments to the funding bill. The majority were agreed to. Section four was an amendment authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to use from time to time not over fifty million dollars at any one time of standard gold and silver coin in the treasury to redeem 6 per cents., and authorizing him to apply the surplus money in the treasury to the purchase or redemption of any bonds or treasury notes authorized by this act. Section five was amended by extending from July 1st to September 1st the time when banks must deposit new bonds to secure circulation. The committee meet again to morrow.

The House Pacific railroad committee determined not to actat present on the Central Pacific case.

The conference on the Indian appropriation has resulted in an agreement. The House recedes from the proposition to abolish the board of Indian Commissioners, and the Senate recedes from the amendment providing for the board's expenses. For the next fiscal year the board will be continued without an appropriation to pay the traveling expenses or salaries of employees.

The Senate committee on appropriations has completed the agricultural appropriation bill.

The Senate committee on commerce has completed the river and harbor bill. The total amount is increased about $60,000.

The House committee on public buildings and grounds to-day took cognizance of the allegation made by Representative Murch, greenbacker, Maine, that he had been corruptly approached to vote on the bill to enlarge a government building. Representative Murch preferred the charge against Geo. Jones, of New York, treasurer of the greenback executive committee. The investigation begins to-morrow.

Hancock at the Inauguration.

NEW YORK, 24.—Gen. Hancock was interviewed to-day in regard to his intended visit to Washington during the inauguration. He declined to talk on political subjects, but said he thought it only proper for him to accept a polite and formal invitation given him. He was asked to be the guest of the chairman of the committee, but has engaged rooms at Wermeley's, in order that he may be free to receive callers without imposing upon his host. He has not decided whether his attendance will be in military or civilian capacity. It is his intention not to attend the ball in the evening, but he will be present in the Senate chamber during the inaugural ceremonies.

A Royal Wedding.

A Berlin cable says: The Prince of Wales and Duke of Edinburgh will be present at the wedding, on Sunday next, of the oldest son of the Crown Prince. Berlin is already crowded with wedding guests, including special envoys. Viscount Torrington will represent Queen Victoria. Among others present are Princes and Princess Christian, of Schleswig Holstein, Grand Duke Alexis, Grand Duke of Baden, Grand Duke of Hesse, King and Queen of Saxony, Duke of Austria, and Duke Carl Ludwig, brother of Emperor Joseph. The Prince Imun, of the Netherlands, Crown Prince of Sweden, Prince Arthur, of Bavaria, Prince Aosta, of Wurtemburg, and members of the royal families of all German states.

A Dutiful Wife.

A London special says: The grand jury has indicted Mrs. Martha Darally and her daughter, Mrs. Rebecca Corsellarus, for the murder of Armstrong, Mrs. Corsellarus' late husband. The indictment was found in the confession of one Henry Whitehead, a convict, that Mrs. Darally had confessed to him to having smothered Armstrong with charcoal fumes, and that Mrs. Darally, to cause suspicion, had shot him in the head after he was dead.

Gotham Gambling.

Chairman, of the New York Police Board, French, to-day, notified the police that gambling must be broken up. If evidence could be obtained against gamblers, their lives must be made such a burden that they would be glad to get out of the city. Any captain who was unable to accomplish this would be regarded as unfit for the position. Dr. Crosby charged Inspector Murray and Captain Tynan, of the Fourth Precinct, with failure to suppress gambling.

Whittaker's Case.

In the Whittaker court martial, Cadet Burnett, recently stationed in New Mexico, but who found Whittaker when he was bound, gave a public exhibition of the manner in which he was lying. Having a Cadet jacket, bedstead and the whole outfit in the court room, he tied himself as he claimed Whittaker was tied, and created quite a sensation.

Another Suit.

The U. S. Cable Co. begun suit today to prevent the consolidation of the telegraph companies, claiming that the terms of partnership with the A. & P. Co., made in 1874, prevents the consolidation with any other company without the Cable Co's. consent.

Dissatisfaction.

An Albany, N. Y., special to the Commercial attributed the recent visit of Fenton to Mentor to the dissatisfaction of Conkling's enemies, with a prospect of Folger's selection for the cabinet. Whitlaw Reid will call on Garfield to give emphasis to this dissatisfaction.

Grant's Name to a Failure.

The London Times says of Grant's connection with the Nicaraguan canal: This is not the first time that an American public man has lent his name to a doubtful commercial enterprise and has so helped to give it a start. The Emma mine was introduced to the world under the same kind of auspices as the Nicaraguan canal is now. The Emma mine has failed somewhat signally to come up to the promises of its promoters so that if the Nicaragua canal wants to do the same there would be at least a good prospect for it.

SAN FRANCISCO, 24.—The New Zealand postal agent in this city, states as to the agreement in favor of passing the postoffice appropriation bill with a clause remitting $40,000 of the continental charges on Australian enclosed mails, that while the Australian colonies favor the Fonda route, New Zealand will undertake to maintain the line alone if the transit charges are remitted.

Remonstrating.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., 24. — The Board of Trade request Congress to repeal the taxes upon circulation, deposits and capital stock of national banks intending to wind up to present their own circulating notes to redeem United States bonds deposited to secure notes.

Train Wrecked.

MIDDLETOWN, Z.—The mail train on the New Jersey Midland Railway, this morning, was wrecked by a broken rail, just east of Ogdensburg, N. J. The combined mail and smoking car and passenger coach went down a steep embankment 12 feet high, turning over twice. Both instantly took fire from the overturned stoves and burned up. The passengers, some 12 in number, and the train men all got out alive; some slightly scared, and all more or less injured, but none fatally. The mail was entirely destroyed. The engine and express car remained on the track.

The Canada Pacific as a Competitor.

The Tribune says: Evidently the Canadians do not expect the Pacific R. R. to draw any trade from our western States and Territories. The charter their parliament has given to the new syndicate prohibits the construction of any branches of the line within 15 miles of the American border. Instead of reaching out for our trade they are afraid our railroads will grasp a portion of that yet to be developed within their own northwestern provinces, and divert it from Montreal and Quebec. The Canadian enterprise, although a highly important one in its bearing on the settlement of Manitoba, and British Columbia, and on the problem of the Dominion's future, will not be likely to exercise any appreciable affects on the current transcontinental trade in this country. We shall have three Pacific roads in operation before the Canada line is built. They will all be competitors for the China, Japan and Australia trade and each will possess a decided advantage in the distance from ocean to ocean over the far northern R. R. to say nothing of the better climate for winter operations.

A New York Mine.

BUFFALO, 24.—A special to the Times relates the discovery of a gold and silver quartz ledge in the town of Hamburg, nine miles from Buffalo, which appears well authenticated. The names of several prominent men of that station are given in connection with it. The ledge was discovered last August, and pieces of rock subjected to a careful assay, yielded $1,150 to the ton. Mining operations were commenced last October, under the superintendence of Charles E. Reeves, formerly of California, and excavations reveal a sutiken ledge with an overhanging wall on one side. The latest assay from the depth excavated, shows $6,929.30 to the ton. A company has been organized.
