COUNCIL SESSION MINUTES PROPOSED

License of Low Dive is Revoked
After a Long and Wordy
Argument.

TO PROBE FIREMEN'S FUND.

Boost in Salary for Heath and Godman
Voted While Poverty is Pleaded
Where Improvements Needed.

The city council was in session exactly four hours last evening, a hearing before revoking a liquor license consumed half of that time. A number of important items were considered later, and each occasioned a considerable amount of debate. One member remarked after the proceedings were over that he was getting tired of sitting until midnight listening to a "gabfest." He expressed the opinion that the business of an ordinary council meeting could be finished in half the time that is generally employed.

The council by unanimous action revoked the liquor license of Dominick Plescia, who for three years has been doing business at No. 60 south West Temple street. The motion to close the place was made by Councilman Holley, with Mr. Fernstrom, told under oath of a visit made to the saloon two weeks ago. The conditions found there were of an unsavory character, the saloon, an adjoining restaurant and a roominghouse upstairs being so closely packed that it was impossible to tell where one began and the other ended.

In answer to questions propounded by Attorney C. Stanley Price, who appeared as counsel for Plescia, Councilman Fernstrom said that he had visited the joint and a number of other places after reading an article in the Deseret News, as to the menacing condition to be found at a number of saloons in the city. He had thought the story to be somewhat overdrawn, but investigation had convinced him that the saloon had not been told. In the saloon a woman was in the midst of a dozen or more men who looked like hoboes, and upstairs the arrest of a man and a woman was made by the deputy sheriff that accompanied the councilman party.

Plescia was put upon the stand, as were also two men named Shaw and Taylor, Shaw claiming to be proprietor of the rooming house. Neither of the men made a favorable impression upon the council, and after a short argument by Attorney Price the license was not revoked. Councilman Holley's motion prevailed by a unanimous vote.

Mr. Hall was in favor of refunding to Plescia the license money that would have applied from now until the last of the quarter, saying that it was unjust for the city to keep the man's money without giving him something in return. In this he was supported by Mr. Black, but the majority of the council was of a contrary opinion and the motion to refund was lost by a vote of nine to four.

COUNCIL RESCINDS ACTION. By unanimous vote the council rescinded its action of a week ago in the matter of instructing the city engineer to provide a cement conduit for the Mill Creek crossing of the Jordan and Salt Lake canals. The board of public works contended that the improvement was a function of that body, and upon recommendation of Mayor Brandford the council decided to let the board undertake the work.

In explaining his vote, Mr. Fernstrom said that he could not understand the board's opposition to the council's action, unless it was that the board wanted jobs for some of its inspectors, who were as numerous, he said, as "snowflakes," albeit there was little for them to do.

Later, when the appropriations for various departments were presented, Mr. Fernstrom asked that inspectors in the employ of the board of public works be required to explain what services they performed during the month of January.

Councilman Hall is opposed to the plans whereby the city will park the streets. He stated that the little stretch on Sixth East cost the municipality last summer $70 a month for sprinkling, and he thought it would be undertaking too much to park street after street. Mr. Fernstrom was inclined to take Mr. Hall's view of the situation, but Mr. Reddall strongly favored the plan to park.

The appointment by the park commission of Henry P. Heath as superintendent of Liberty park and the abolishment of park keeper was sustained by a vote of 11 to 4. Mr. Hall received $110 a month, instead of $100 as heretofore, but there will be a saving of nearly a half in the action of the commission.

FIREMAN'S FUND. On motion of Mr. Fernstrom the matter of the firemen's fund was referred to the fire committee, with instructions to investigate. Firemen will be asked whether or not they have borrowed money from the fund, and if so, they will be called upon to make good. Mr. Fernstrom said that while it was probably true that the city had no interest in the fund, the matter, the chief who was responsible for the dissipation of the fund was the city's choosing and that the municipality was more or less responsible for his doing.

The chief of police submitted the appointment of J. N. Londoner as a special policeman without pay from the city, to act in any part of the city. The appointment was promptly carried down, some of the councilmen taking the ground that it was a dangerous precedent to establish.

An increase of $100 a year was voted to S. L. Godman, license assessor in the office of the city auditor. There seemed to be little or no opposition to the raise, though the justice of the request was by no means made apparent. The assessor of the city gave the assessor of the city a letter stating that he was seriously injured while looking after the city's interests. Mr. Martin was the only one to oppose the allowance, but he changed his vote to yes and gave notice of a reconsideration.

Supervisor of Street Raleigh's appointment of Charles W. Lawrence as chief deputy in his office, at a salary of $100 was confirmed. A motion that a special officer be appointed to enforce the wide tire ordinance carried, but Councilman Wood gave notice of a motion for reconsideration.

Councilman O'Connell offered a resolution providing for an allowance to E. F. Brown, watchman at the reservoir in Parley's canyon of $10 a month for the maintenance of a horse, the animal being his own property and used in the service of the city. Several councilmen spoke of Mr. Brown's long and faithful service to the city, of the fact that he is practically on duty every hour of the day and that he was seriously injured while looking after the city's interests. Mr. Martin was the only one to oppose the allowance, but he changed his vote to yes and gave notice of a reconsideration.

A MATTER OF CHOICE. Really, as a matter of choice, we would rather have ten persons deposit $1 each than one person $10; or ten persons deposit $100 each than one person $1,000; or ten persons deposit $1,000 each than one person $10,000. True, these small deposits give us more labor in caring for them, but still we prefer them. No one, therefore, should be at all timid about bringing in small deposits. Make our bank your bank.
