

BREVITIES.

The wicked flea. "It ain't so much the biting, if only the plaguey thing wouldn't keep getting up and sitting down all the time. Exactly."

The Lancet asserts that night work is not injurious to adults under certain conditions. The hours of sleep should never be curtailed, and the light should be white, powerful, steady, and concentrated by a shade upon the work. It argues that an insufficient, flickering or too diffused light is one of the most serious causes in producing brain irritation which troubles night workers.

A party of twelve persons is said to have left Chicago recently to join in the establishment of a "community" similar to the Onondaga community in New York, on Valer's island, in Lake Champlain, the foundation of the society being "absolute social freedom," and its only governing law "complete universal love." The chief mover in the enterprise is said to be Colonel John Wilcox, of Onondaga, Wis., and accessions are expected from Chicago, Wisconsin, Iowa and Michigan.

Speaking of ten-pins, a correspondent says: "You see, while a man chooses a ball he can handle with a graceful swing of the right arm, the girls are bound to select the biggest one they can find. 'Toting' it to the starting place, they go on a waddling run half way down the alley, and then let go their burden with a spiteful shove, give a sigh of relief, straighten up and walk back with a dignified and unconcerned air, as if they didn't care where that ball went or whether it knocked down any pins or not."

The Rev. Theodore L. Cuyler, while in London, went to hear Spurgeon, and writes as follows of the great preacher: "He just plants that broad, fat figure of his before the crowded thousands, and opens his homely mouth, and a ceaseless stream of ray English, pure gospel truth and trenchant appeal to the conscience pours out as steadily as water from a Cretan reservoir. His notes would not cover more than the back of an ordinary envelope. He never preaches one sentence. But he has the whole Bible on the end of his tongue, and uses it with rare discretion and point. His versatility is wonderful. He superintends a church of 5,000 members, a theological school, an orphanage and several other institutions, edits a newspaper, preaches three sermons a week, writes books of Biblical commentary, publishes his own almanac, and has made the 'Book of Fifty Hymns.'"
