

BIG INCREASE IN LICENSE FEES

Mayor Bransford Expects to Take in $25,000 Additional
By Rigid Enforcement.

CAREFUL FINANCIAL POLICY.

Executive Declares the Times Demand
It Both for Public and for Private Life.

That the only proper policy for 1908 in Salt Lake is a tight sitting on the financial lid, is the conclusion of Mayor John S. Bransford. The cause for it is assigned to be the general financial reverses of the country, which call for the most conservative policies in expenditures.

"The fact that hundreds of men are out of work," declares Mayor Bransford, "is cause enough to show us that, as a section of the country, we are up against conditions that we cannot get away from. Until all the people are employed again, and general commercial enterprises are more active, there is no justification for freely spending, either in public or in private business."

"For private business affairs," he should say that these are times for the most cautious kind of retrenchment. For Salt Lake as a public corporation, I do not look for any shrinkage in the revenue. Our 1907 revenue should be more than our 1906 revenue, for the reasons that assessable values have fallen very little.

INCREASE IN LICENSES.

Yesterday three women called upon the mayor.

"For years," they said, "our license has been $50 per year. They were the owners of a well known hotel."

"This year," they continued, "our licenses require us to pay $150 per year. Why this enormous raise?"

"What did the license collector give us the reason for the raise?"

"He said that our hotel had the number of rooms for which the ordinance require a license of $150."

"Then you can't get any relief here that I can see."

Mayor Bransford, after carefully going over the matter with other city officials has come to the conclusion that the license regulations are capable of bringing in $25,000 more each year, which they actually produce, all this through their more rigid enforcement.

The fact that much less business promises to be done by merchants in 1908 than in 1907, is a matter which will affect keenly the total net revenue, but this is a matter which the merchants and not the city must worry over, according to the mayor, whose view is that taxes will be just as high as values of property are yet to slump from the hard times.

CHOCOLATES FROM PARIS.

Collector Greenwald of the Salt Lake custom house reports a big rush of imports for the current month.

These include 25 boxes of hops, tea, cigars, chemicals, laboratory glassware, asbestos packing, silk hats, absinthe, champagne, wines, butter from Sweden, linen towels, chocolates from Paris, etc. The collector hopes to be able to take, next month, the vacation that he has been waiting for, for several years.

DULL IN DENVER.

W. G. Tuttle has returned from a business trip to Denver. He reports the real estate situation there as dull and not at all promising.

One citizen who paid $30,000 for an elegant residence within two blocks of the city took back in the boom times is now ready to take $14,000 for the same property, with no takers. Property in Denver is worth less now than it was years ago, because in his opinion the town has been overdone. Mr. Tuttle found hundreds of vacant residences, and many vacant stores—quite different from conditions in Salt Lake, and there is no telling when property will pick up, and assume anything like a lively shape, although Denver has a population of 200,000. He says Salt Lake has not been overdone, and therefore is in a good condition as regards valuations.

VIEW PICTURESQUE UTAH.

Gen. Secy. Cox of the Y. M. C. A. sought to give Mr. Arnold of the international committee of New York, a "rich treat" this morning, so took him up to Fort Douglas in an automobile to show him the incomparable view of the broad valley from the foothills. But when they got there the snow was lying so thick that instead of viewing an inspiring vision of the valley of the Great Salt Lake, it was necessary for Mr. Cox to walk ahead of the auto to warn Mr. Arnold, who was driving, of the approach of unseen vehicles from the other direction. They both

SQUIRES AND BARRATT.

Both Young Salt Lake Artists Recognized in "Life's" January Issues.

In an announcement of the Life Publishing company, concerning its 1908 calendar, C. Clyde Squires is given rank among the country's best illustrators, mentioned by name. "The principal drawings," says Life, "are by W. Balfour Kerr, R. M. Crosby, C. Clyde Squires, Henry Hunt, Bayard Jones and others of Life's best artists." The calendar contains two drawings by Squires, who is a Salt Lake boy, one of them being his "Only Girl I Ever Loved," and the other a more recent sketch. In the issue of Life for Jan. 3, George W. Barratt's automobile picture entitled, "A Deserted Village," is printed in miniature among a number of small reproductions of famous pictures of the year.

S. K. BROWN ARRAIGNED.

In Justice of the Peace Dana T. Smith's court this morning, S. K. Brown was arraigned on the charge of embezzling $1,000 from Metcalf & Son, a soda water firm. Brown entered a plea of not guilty, and the case was continued without date. His bail was fixed in the sum of $500, and was furnished.

NEW DUTIES FOR POLICE

Stranger Attempts to Check a Parcel
Of Dynamite With the Desk
Sergeant.

A stranger, having the appearance of being a miner, walked into police headquarters this morning and stated that he would like to leave a package there in care of the police. He explained that he was intending to take a train out tomorrow morning and had no place to leave the parcel other than at headquarters. The bundle he carried looked innocent enough but Captain Burdick asked what it was.

"Oh, it's just 10 to 12 pounds of giant powder an' some caps," quietly explained the stranger.

"Well, you can't leave it here," said the captain.

"Can't he?" asked the stranger, "well, we'll see if I can't. What's the police station for, anyway? Of course, I'll leave it here. Ye don't think I'm agoin' to carry 't stuff about town with me, do ye? I ain't got no other place to leave it an' here I'll stay 'til I take the train."

The man evidently meant what he said and was preparing to depart, minus the giant powder and caps, when Captain Burdick hauled him back. In his meantime there was a stampede on the part of several officers for fear there would be an explosion. The stranger was finally impressed with the fact that the police station was not a powder magazine and departed with his precious freight.

BURGLAR GETS A GUN.

Tedesco's Saloon Entered and a Revolver and Cigars Stolen.

A burglar entered Tedesco's saloon, 327 south West Temple street, some time after last midnight and stole a .45 Colt's revolver and some whiskey and cigars. The thief got into the saloon by climbing over the rear transom. The matter was reported to the police, and they have the case under advisement.

MEMBERS IN DISTRESS.

Salt Lake Typographical Union Declares That It Cares for Them.

The typographical union of Salt Lake, in a letter signed by its president, M. H. Daniels, and A. Thompson, its secretary, calls the attention of the "News" to its efforts to care for a member of the union who applied to the Salt Lake Charity association for support. The letter refers to an article in the "News" stating the case of the application with a statement from Capt. Woods to the effect that the union was needed at the present time, to do all they could for members of the various crafts, and thus help to carry the burden of relieving distress in the hard times. As an instance of where help had not yet been given, the fact was stated that a union printer had applied for help, and that a union secretary called, but evidently did nothing, as the man was back seeking help the next day. The secretary of the union stated that the immediate wants of the man, and with other members, "The Salt Lake Typographical union is ever on the alert to relieve its sick, unemployed members," continues the letter.

PIONEER LADY DIES.

She was of age, was well known and highly respected throughout the county, and had in her time been very active in Church work. She was the widow of the late Orrin Hatch, who died 18 months ago. Twelve children, all married, survive her. Old age and general debility caused her death. Funeral services will be held Sunday at 1 p. m., in the South Bountiful meetinghouse.

JONES CASE AFFIRMED.

The supreme court has affirmed the judgment of the first district court in the case of William Jones against John Blythe and has taxed the costs of the appeal to Blythe, who was the appellant.

This case is one in which Jones sued Blythe for damages on an allegation of trespass. Jones alleged in his complaint, and the testimony agreed with the allegation, that Blythe wilfully and maliciously permitted a herd of his sheep to trespass upon Jones' land, which was unfenced and held them for sheep for cattle pasture and for a cattle would not feed on it. Judgment was awarded Jones for $250.

The principal citation of error by Blythe was that the court had refused to instruct the jury which tried the case, to the effect that the verdict for Blythe on the ground that the pasture in question was unfenced. The opinion as handed down today holds that while the statute denies the right for the owner of unfenced land to impound trespassing animals and hold them for damage done, still the laws of the state do not deny the injured party to enter suit to recover judgment for damages done.

DISTRICT COURT REVERSED.

Supreme Court Hands Down Ruling in Another Durand Case.

The supreme court has answered the questions put before it in relation to the certain proceedings of L. P. Lund against Ellen Ivers which was "Has the district court, in such a proceeding, the right to go behind the face of the abstract and inquire into matters presented to it on a new motion?" The answer of the justices of the supreme court is negative. The history of the case is somewhat unique. Two years ago an abstract of judgment from the justice's court at Murray was filed in the fourth district court at Provo, the judgment being in favor of Lund against Mrs. Ivers. Mrs. Ivers then entered the court with a motion to cancel the filing and asking that it be vacated. Her ground for action was that she had never heard of the action being brought in the Murray court. She also pleaded that she was never indebted to Lund. Her motion was granted. Lund took his case to the supreme court.

The supreme court says that the docketing of the judgment in the fourth district court not give that court jurisdiction of the action in which the judgment was rendered. The supreme court orders the judge of the fourth district court to annul the order cancelling the filing of the judgment, the abstract having been in conformity with the statutes.

EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGED.

Frederick Brown's Method of Business Not to Metcalf's Profit.

Frederick K. Brown, according to a complaint lodged with the county attorney's office by James Metcalf, Sr., had a profitable method of conducting his business affairs, but to the detriment of his employer to the tune of about $1,000. Brown was formerly one of the lessees of the Metcalf Bottling works and on the expiration of his lease was given a job with the company as a driver. He was assigned to the company's territory in Murray and Bingham Junction. Every day he left the bottling works with a wagon loaded down with soda pop and other sparkling wet goods. He delivered the goods to customers and collected the money for them. Then he told his employers that the goods were to be charged. When the company began sending out its monthly statements, the customers complained that they were being charged twice for the same goods and Brown's arrest followed the issuance of a complaint charging embezzlement.

ASKS WRIT OF PROHIBITION.

John Lithgo has filed a petition for a prohibitive writ in the third district court to be directed to Justice of the Peace Brown at E. C. Bant and others. Lithgo claims that a judgment was wrongfully entered against him in the notorious Murray court and asks that the persons who exhibited from acting under its provisions.

ONE NEW WARD IS COMED FROM TWO

Twelfth and Thirteenth Ecclesiastical Divisions Have Been Combined.

IS NOW TWELFTH-THIRTEENTH

On Account of Enroachment of Business District and Other Reasons,
Union is Deemed Advisable.

The ecclesiastical district bounded by Main, South Temple, Sixth East and Third South streets, will hereafter be known as the Twelfth-Thirteenth ward, the two wards formerly existing there having been consolidated into one and given the compound name, in honor of both. This was done more as a matter of sentiment than anything else, as the Twelfth and Thirteenth were among the original wards organized in Salt Lake City. Franklin B. Platt is bishop of the newly formed ward, with Samuel M. Taylor and J. G. Midgley, Jr., as counselors.

Thomas A. Williams, who has been bishop of the Twelfth ward, was last night set apart as an alternate member of the high council of the Ensign stake. A vote of thanks was tendered to him and to the retiring counselors Charles W. Hardy and Heber Aldous, of the Twelfth, and August H. Erickson, of the Thirteenth.

CONSOLIDATION EFFECTED.

The meeting at which the consolidation and re-organization were effected was held in the Thirteenth ward meetinghouse last evening, and was largely attended. The services were presided over by the presidency of the Ensign stake, and Elders Heber J. Grant and Rudger Clawson, of the apostles, were present and made addresses.

For next Sunday the following appointments were made: The Sunday schools to meet in the Thirteenth ward meetinghouse at the regular hour; fast meeting in the Twelfth ward chapel, commencing at 1 o'clock; Mutual improvement meetings in both places of worship, until further notice.

PAST WARD OFFICERS.

The Twelfth ward was organized in February, 1849, with Benjamin Covey as bishop. Men who have served in like capacity since are Leonard W. Hardy, Alexander C. Pyper, Hiram L. Clawson and Thomas A. Williams.

About the same time the Thirteenth ward was formed, Edward Hunter being the first bishop. His successors in the order named, were Edwin D. Woolley, Millen Atwood, Nelson A. Empey and Franklin B. Platt.

The list of counselors contains many of the eminent names for instance, in the Twelfth, Eleazer Miller, Eliza Evered, Josiah G. Hardy, Minner G. Atwood, Edward Snegrove, John Bruce Hardy, Wm. S. Gledhill, Frederick A. Mitchell, Fernamor Little, Hamilton C. Park, William Naylor, Nelson A. Empey, Francis Platt, Thomas Aubrey, George E. Woolley, and others.

REASONS FOR UNION.

Of late the combined Twelfth and Thirteenth wards have been scarcely large enough to support a ward organization, as some of the other wards, those of the Twenty-seventh, for instance, there were but 785 members in both. This condition was brought about by the fact that the business district steadily encroached upon the Thirteenth ward, and the further fact that many people there and in the Twelfth ward sold out and moved elsewhere.

The present Thirteenth ward meetinghouse is not in a desirable locality for a church, and the Twelfth ward chapel is small. A centrally located and there built structure, adequate for all purposes of the newly formed Twelfth-Thirteenth ward.

BOYERTOWN DISASTER.

Boyetown, Pa., Jan. 29.—The jury which has been investigating the disastrous fire at Rhoads' soda water house which 16 persons lost their lives, returned a verdict at 1 o'clock this morning. We are of the opinion that Mrs. Monroe and the soda water factory are largely responsible for the disaster on account of negligence. We request the prosecuting attorney of Berks county to return a verdict against Mrs. Monroe, owner of the stereoscopic machine, and Harry McC. Bechtel, the deputy factory inspector, on the charge of criminal negligence.

Prent. Hugh Kelly announced that 12 other institutions had come to the aid of the bank and that he hoped to be able to withstand the drain.

It is not anticipated that the closing of the New Amsterdam and Mechanics & Traders banks will have any effect on the general banking situation in this city, as both of them have been going through a gradual liquidation for the past few months, in which their debts and credits have been gradually reduced. State Sup't. of Banks Williams, who came down from Albany last night, to take charge of the Mechanics & Traders' bank, said today that the general condition of banking institutions in this city is good and that weakness has developed only in special instances.

COOPER MET USUAL SUCCESS IN PITTSBURG

Received Thanks From Hundreds While in The Smoky City.

The following article, taken from the Pittsburgh Press, describes the results of the visit of Dr. Cooper to that city, and the effect of his new preparation as told by people who had become convinced of the soundness of Cooper's theories with regard to the human stomach.

Cooper believes that the human stomach in civilized races has become greatly weakened. He claims that most ill health of the present generation is due to this fact. The article is as follows:

"L. T. Cooper is meeting with the same astonishing success in Pittsburgh as in other cities. The past few days many thousands of Pittsburgh people have called at his headquarters to talk with him.

"Cooper's prophecy, made upon his arrival to the effect that before he left Pittsburgh thousands would realize that his theory is correct and would come and thank him for what his medicine had done, is rapidly being borne out. On Monday afternoon a number of people called to express their gratitude to Mr. Cooper. Judging from what some of these people had to say to a Press reporter, when interviewed,

Cooper's claim that the human stomach is degenerate is distinctly verified. "One of the most unusual statements was made by Mr. C
